

Results from the 2011 AP® French Language Exam Administration

Brian Kennelly, California Polytechnic State University
AP Annual Conference
July 22, 2011
San Francisco, CA

Session Content

- 2011 AP French Language Exam grade distributions
- Statistics and Chief Reader's comments on each section of the 2011 exam
- Changes in scoring and weightings for the 2012 exam (AP French Language and Culture)

2011 AP French Language Exam Grade Distributions

2011 AP French Language Grade Distributions

How are the grades set?

Only the scores of the Standard Group students are used to determine the grade distributions (AP 5/4/3/2/1).

Standard Group students answer “NO” to these questions on their answer sheet:

- Do you hear or speak the target language regularly at home? NO
- Have you lived for more than a month in a country where the target language is spoken? NO

2011 AP French Language Grade Distributions

How are the grades determined?

1. Raw scores on the exam are calculated for Standard Group students.
Maximum possible = 160 pts. (80 MC + 80 FR)
2. Student performance on a subset of MC questions repeated from another year is considered.
The 2011 exam contained 22 MC questions repeated from the 2010 exam. Students performed slightly better this year on those questions.
3. Adjustments to the grade distributions were made considering the 2010 grade distributions and the five-year average.
4. After the grade distributions are set based on Standard Group performance, grades are assigned to students not in the Standard Group based on their raw scores.

2011 AP French Language Grade Distributions

Standard Group (approx. 75% of Total Group)

AP Score	2011	2010	Five-year average (2006-2010)
5	6.9%	5.8%	6.7%
4	13.6%	12.6%	13.8%
3	30.3%	29.3%	29.7%
2	23.7%	24.3%	23.8%
1	25.5%	28.0%	26.0%
5-4-3	50.8%	47.7%	50.2%

2011 AP French Language Grade Distributions

Total Group

AP Score	2011	2010	Five-year average (2006-2010)
5	12.4%	10.9%	11.6%
4	15.8%	14.6%	15.8%
3	29.1%	28.5%	28.8%
2	20.9%	21.6%	21.2%
1	21.8%	24.4%	22.6%
5-4-3	57.3%	54.0%	56.2%

Statistics and Chief Reader's Comments on each Section of the 2011 Exam

2011 AP French Language Student Performance

Section I, Part A: Multiple-Choice Listening

Standard Group performance (14,864 students)

Listening Comprehension (41 questions)

- 92 Standard Group students answered all 41 questions correctly
- Average student performance: 25.4 correct (62%)

2011 AP French Language Student Performance

Section I, Part B: Multiple-Choice Reading

Standard Group performance (14,864 students)

Reading Comprehension (38 questions)

- 4 Standard Group students answered all 38 questions correctly
- Average student performance: 20.8 correct (55%)

2011 AP French Language Student Performance

Section II: Writing, Fill-Ins (Function Words)

Standard Group performance (14,864 students)

Function Words (15 questions)

- 112 Standard Group students answered all 15 questions correctly
- Average student performance: 6.6 (44% of max. possible score)

2011 AP French Language Student Performance

Section II: Writing, Fill-Ins (Verbs)

Standard Group performance (14,864 students)

Verbs (15 questions)

- 153 Standard Group students answered all 15 questions correctly
- Average student performance: 7.8 (52% of max. possible score)

2011 AP French Language Student Performance

Section II: Writing, Essay

Standard Group performance (14,864 students)

Essay (scored on a 0-9 scale)

- 198 Standard Group students earned a score of 9.
- Average student performance: 4.4 (49% of max. possible score)

2011 AP French Language Student Performance

Section II: Writing, Essay

Comments from the Chief Reader:

“The formulation of the essay prompt and the essay topic itself were more accessible to students this year. This year, the essay topic appeared to be within the experience of all students.”

“The essay topic last year required more vocabulary and elicited more examples taken from literature and film.”

“ ‘Classic’ student errors persist: poor organization, incorrect or no use of transition words, using tu instead of on, and of course, illegible handwriting!”

2011 AP French Language Student Performance

Section II: Speaking (Picture Sequence)

Standard Group performance (14,864 students)

Three questions related to a picture sequence
(each scored on a 0-5 scale; max. possible = 15)

- 621 Standard Group students earned a score of 15.
- Average student performance: 9.5
(63% of max. possible score)

2011 AP French Language Student Performance

Section II: Speaking (Picture Sequence)

Comments from the Chief Reader:

“Generally, the picture sequence and the questions based on it were more accessible to students this year, allowing them to produce a greater variety of vocabulary than last year’s picture sequence.”

“The questions based on last year’s picture sequence were thought to be more difficult than this year; the 2010 questions called for a more sophisticated range of grammatical structures.”

“This year the images were labeled (A, B, C etc.); this appears to have helped students organize their spoken responses.”

2011 AP French Language Student Performance

Section II: Speaking (“Split Screen”)

Standard Group performance (14,864 students)

Two questions related to a “split screen” of two images (each scored on a 0-5 scale; max. possible = 10)

- 977 Standard Group students earned a score of 10.
- Average student performance: 6.5 (65% of max. possible score)

2011 AP French Language Student Performance

Section II: Speaking (“Split Screen”)

Comments from the Chief Reader:

“The vocabulary in this year’s ‘split screen’ questions was simpler, as both scenes showed activities related to the same general topic (sports), not different topics.”

“The prompt for the first ‘split screen’ question this year said merely ‘Comparez’, instead of ‘Décrivez et comparez’.”

Changes in scoring and weightings
for the 2012 exam
(AP French Language and Culture)

AP French Language and Culture (2012 exam)

“Breaking scale”

- A great advantage of the new AP French Language and Culture exam in 2012 is the ability to “break scale” with the old exam.
- This means that a new statistical norm with new grade distributions will be established for the 2012 exam. No questions from previous years of the AP French Language exam will be repeated on the 2012 exam forms.

AP French Language and Culture (2012 exam)

Multiple-Choice Section

Standard Group student performance on the MC section will continue to be an important factor in the grade-setting process in 2012:

- All MC questions used in the 2012 exam forms have been pre-tested over the past 18 months. We have statistics on how current AP French students are handling the new question types, and thus we know which of the pre-tested questions are appropriate to carry forward to the 2012 exam forms.
- The 2012 exam forms (operational, alternate, exception) will have a certain degree of overlap of MC questions, so that we may establish a basis for comparing all the students who take the new exam in 2012.

AP French Language and Culture (2012 exam)

Multiple-Choice Section Weighting

2011: AP French Language		2012: AP French Language and Culture
Listening Comprehension	25%	50%	Interpretive Communication: Print Texts
			Interpretive Communication: Print and Audio Texts
Reading Comprehension	25%		Interpretive Communication: Audio Texts

AP French Language and Culture (2012 exam)

Free-Response Section Weighting

2011: AP French Language			2012: AP French Language and Culture
Writing: Fill-Ins (Function Words)	5%	25%	25%	12.5%	Interpersonal Writing: E-Mail Reply
Writing: Fill-Ins (Verbs)	5%			12.5%	Presentational Writing: Persuasive Essay
Writing: Essay	15%
Speaking: Picture Sequence	15%	25%	25%	12.5%	Interpersonal Speaking: Conversation
Speaking: "Split Screen"	10%			12.5%	Presentational Speaking: Cultural Comparison

AP French Language and Culture (2012 exam)

On the AP French Language exam (2011), each of the fill-ins was either right (1 pt.) or wrong (0 pts.), the essay was scored on a scale of 0-9 pts., and each of the five spoken responses was scored on a scale of 0-5 pts.

On the new AP French Language and Culture exam (2012), each of the 4 free-response tasks will be scored on a scale of 0-5 pts. Please see the AP French Language and Culture Course and Exam Description for the preliminary scoring guidelines (rubrics).

Become an AP Exam Reader!

If you have at least 3 years of experience teaching AP French, please consider applying to become an AP Exam Reader!

On AP Central, click on the link “Become an AP Reader”.

AP Central

The screenshot shows the AP Central website page for becoming an AP Exam Reader. At the top right, there is a green bar with a "PRINT PAGE" button. Below this, the breadcrumb "Home > Become an AP Exam Reader" is visible. The main heading is "Become an AP Exam Reader". On the left side, there is a vertical navigation menu with buttons for "HOME", "AP COURSES AND EXAMS", "AP COURSE AUDIT", "PRE-AP", "INSTITUTES AND WORKSHOPS", "DISCUSSION GROUPS", and "BECOME AN AP READER". Below the menu, there is a box for "Convenient online scoring from your home or office" and another for "Now Available Online AP Scores for Schools and Districts". A blue button says "Be an AP Exam Reader. APPLY TODAY!". Below that is the "SIEMENS Awards for Advanced Placement" logo. At the bottom left, there is a "Rigorous Program" box listing "English Language Arts", "Mathematics", and "Grades 6-12". The main content area features a quote from Mary Trachsel, Associate Professor at the University of Iowa, about her experience as an AP Reader. To the right of the quote is an "Apply Today!" box with links to "ETS: Online Reader Application", "ETS: Information for Prospective AP Readers", and "2011 AP Reading Calendar". Below the quote and links are three video thumbnails with play buttons, each with a short description: "A unique professional development opportunity", "How to apply", and "Join us...it's a great experience!".

PRINT PAGE

Home > Become an AP Exam Reader

Become an AP Exam Reader

Apply Today!

- ETS: Online Reader Application
- ETS: Information for Prospective AP Readers
- 2011 AP Reading Calendar

"The AP Reading is the single best professional development experience I have. I personally value the experience because it helps me refine my pedagogical skills and strategies and because it's a communal, morale-boosting experience for teachers. I teach entry-level Rhetoric classes at a large public university. The students in our classes represent a wide range of abilities and levels of preparedness for college reading, writing, speaking and thinking, all of which are skills we try to cultivate. I find a similar range of mastery and preparation in the AP composition exams I encounter at the Reading. Collaborating with high school and college teachers at the Reading to understand and describe this range helps me think about how to recognize and respond to my own diverse range of student writers."

Mary Trachsel
Associate Professor, Department of Rhetoric
University of Iowa, Iowa City

A unique professional development opportunity

Meet colleagues, exchange ideas, discover new teaching approaches and make new friends.

How to apply

Learn about the application process and the tremendous support that's provided.

Join us...it's a great experience!

See what AP Readers say about their participation in the annual AP Reading.

Questions and Answers

Irène d'Almeida, Chief Reader for AP French

University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ

dalmeida@email.arizona.edu (idalmeida@yahoo.com)

Brian Kennelly, Co-Chair, AP French Language and Culture Development Committee

California Polytechnic State University, San Obispo, CA

bkennell@calpoly.edu

James Monk

Director, Curriculum and Content Development, World Languages and Cultures

Advanced Placement Program

jmonk@collegeboard.org