RESOLUTION REGARDING CATALOG CLARIFICATION

WHEREAS, The 1978-79 catalog, under the General Education and Breadth Requirement section, Natural Sciences subheading, currently reads in part . . . "Up to six units of "broadly-based" course work in the Schools of Agriculture and Natural Resources, Architecture and Environmental Design, or Engineering and Technology may be counted in this category, provided that these units are taken outside the school in which the student is enrolled.", and

WHEREAS, The intent of this statement was to permit students to take specific courses in these schools which introduce them to the overall scientific aspects applied in these disciplines have been developed to meet this need (Ag 201, Arch 312, and Engr 301), and

WHEREAS, It is the intent of the General Education and Breadth Committee to clarify these requirements for students, advisors, and staff, therefore be it

RESOLVED: That the following wording be included in the 1979-81 catalog: "Up to six units selected from Ag 201, Arch 312, and Engr 301 may be counted in this category provided that these units are taken outside the school in which the student is enrolled." (Changes are underlined).