Strategic planning continues

Cal Poly is participating in "Access to Excellence," a CSU system-wide strategic planning activity to supersede "Cornerstones," the CSU strategic plan that has guided the university for the past ten years. On Feb. 27 faculty and staff gathered to hear campus representatives offer feedback to CSU representatives. The "Access to Excellence" conversation will be a stepping stone to campus review processes for the renewal of strategic plans within individual colleges and units, as well as the campus-wide strategic plan and the related renewal of the Master Plan for the campus. Faculty and staff are encouraged to learn more about the initiative and provide input throughout the process. Campus specific "Access to Excellence" activities are coordinated by Unny Menon at umenon@calpoly.edu or ext. 6-1180. For more information on system-wide efforts, visit http://www.calstate.edu/acadaff/system_strategic_planning/.

New Horticulture and Crop Science Department Head

College of Agriculture, Food, and Environmental Sciences has named John Peterson to head the Horticulture and Crop Science Department. Peterson taught for many years at Ohio State University at Columbus. He comes to Cal Poly from the San Francisco Botanical Garden and Conservatory of Flowers, where he has served as director. Prior to that, he served as the President and CEO of the Turtle Bay Exploration Park, a botanical garden and arboretum along the Sacramento River in Northern California. Before that he led the Massachusetts Horticultural Society for more than a decade. He will begin his new duties at Cal Poly April 23.

New Dairy Science Department Head Announced

The College of Agriculture, Food, and Environmental Sciences has named Bruce L. Golden to head the Dairy Science Department. Golden comes to Cal Poly from Colorado State University in Ft. Collins, where he served as a professor of animal genetics and breeding for 19 years. He will begin his duties May 28. Golden received bachelor's and master's degrees in animal science from Washington State University and earned his doctorate in animal breeding from Colorado State University. He will join Cal Poly July 1. Golden has more than 15 years of experience operating a genetic prediction enterprise as part of his interest in data management and animal identification in livestock.
