DON'T MISS
THIS MISS

"Miss Cherryblossom," of course.
Join us tomorrow evening (Friday, April 13) at the Elmo Theatre at 8:15.
We assure you that you will be delightfully entertained by this musical comedy which is to be given by our own students.

When the curtain rises and the play begins, your emotions will carry you away in dreams, as you gaze upon the beautiful Oriental tea garden, where fluttering about you will be the brilliantly costumed Geisha Girls and hear the wonderful voice of Miss Cherryblossom, combined with the soft and flickering light of the Japanese lanterns.
The story of the play gives something like this:

Miss Cherryblossom, a beautiful young girl, is brought up as a Japanese maiden by her own father.

As soon as the weather permits, the Freshmen will be asked to help get the track in shape and the upper classes will have to do the work in the field. The day of the meet every one is going to do something, such as have charge of the apparatus lined up, etc.

The eighth period class in occupational education visited the various businesses in town last Tuesday afternoon in order to levy an assessment. The purpose of this meeting shall lie to elect officers for the coming year.

COME OUT FOR TEAMS

Poly's baseball and track season is on—but where are the teams that are to bring victory to our school? Six or eight man for track do not make a fair representation for Poly, and fifteen men trying out for baseball will not make a team as there was in 1922; that team won every game played. Where are last year's baseball boys?

After running through a good season in football and basketball, some of the college opponents argued what would be thought of the school if a high school should win even a game in baseball, or run a lead on us in the track meet on May 14—especially when the material is here. Any number of men could be named that would be good for two or three points in any county track meet, and it is up to these students to see that they are out every night, and to build up a track spirit in the Polytechnic School.

The track men will get greater kick this year than ever before as there are four track meets in sight. (1) Intra-class to be held April 7th; (2) A meet at Santa Barbara, April 30th; (3) a county track meet on the Polytechnic field on May 14; (4) the big college meet in Modesto the end of April.

Then why not be a loyal supporter of the school and appear on the field in a green and orange track suit, tomorrow? When Wisdom Speaks

When a wise man speaks it's wise people listen. In an article entitled "America's duty in the Near East" Mr. Eliot tells "how the United States could and should lead in the critical problem that has convulsed Europe for centuries, and could benefit the world by assuming a mandate for the troubled lands that border on the Bosphorus". He says in concluding "The assumption of this mandate will cost the United States a considerable sum of money, but nothing like the post postpone of the pacification and stabilisation of Europe and the Near East will cost from year to year, and nothing like what another war, either in Europe or the Near East, will cost the United States." And finally he concludes, "Abstention from going to the help of Europe during the past four years has cost the United States something much more precious than money; goods, namely, a serious impairment of self-respect, a relapse into selfishness, after a glowing outburst of unselfishness, and a relapse for liberty and justice among men, and a miserable period of unprecedented distructions with itself, mankind and the world."

The article may be found in the World's Work for February. It will interest you.

The success of the operetta not only depends on the cleverness and cleanliness of the character but largely on the amount of seats sold. It should be the spirit of every student to sell at least five tickets. Every student should and could do his share, you owe it to the student in the operetta, to the director and to the school. Nothing better could show the spirit of the student body than a full House. Many students who are interested in the Polytechnic School Saturday night to see Miss Cherryblosom. Your co-operation is needed, lend a helping hand—everyone.

ON THE RIFLE RANGE

The students are missing a good sport and also an opportunity to learn to handle a large rifle when they do not go out for target practice on Saturday. The freshmen students are the only students who seem to take an interest in rifle shooting and at present a freshman holds the high point score. Why is not an upper class man in the lead? Nearly every boy in Poly intends to get a deer this year, and if he can learn to shoot more accurately, at the government expense, it may mean coming home with the meet instead of without it.

Captain Dustel is trying to build up the sport and would be sorry to see more upper classroom out as well as freshman. It is a sport worthy of your time, and it fits its physical development and is part of military training. In accordance with this, the six 22 caliber target rifles have arrived for use of the student who will take the proper care of the gun he borrows. As a suggestion for the years to come why couldn't a rifle team be organized in each class, then have a meet at the end of the year, and a prize be given by the rest, to the best, to the winner of the meet?

A WORD FOR POLY DESK WHITTLERS

H. E. F. E. O. R. T. L. F.

These are some of the carvings on the study hall desks. Some people do get a thrill out of seeing their names in print, on the blackboard, or even on a school desk. If the same appears in the daily news, it is soon forgotten; written on the board, it is easily erased; so the student who would be famous (or infamous) nearly carries his "John Henry" in the most conspicuous part of his desk at school so that all who follow will know that he has been there.

Now, why should not Poly have a poet, or better, a tabloid, placed in the hallway where all students would have fame may leave their names so that all who follow may know these persons have passed before?
A LETTER
Polytechnic, April 15, 1923.
Mr. C. L. Slusher—
Dear Sir: Owing to the fact that you are living in the Dorm and have not as yet paid your Dorm dues, we will cancel the dues if you will be kind enough to see that the supply agent, or in other words, the man that is supposed to do the buying for the Dining Hall, would be so kind as to purchase some glasses.
I would like to state that any person entering the Dining Hall would think that we were all babies. The reason for this is that we are all drinking milk from bottles.
I should like to warn you that any action on this matter at once.
I remain,
yours till the Sekimos wear B.V.D.'s,
TILLIE THE TOILER.

EXCELSIOR—A POEM OF DORM LIFE
When to my bed last night,
The mattress looked so neat and nice;
Twas filled with that strange device—

EXCELSIOR
After tossing long and fighting fierce,
I got down on my bed knees,
And gave thanks unto the Lord
That I was through with that accursed feast.

EXCELSIOR
Next morning I to my breakfast went,
My knees were weak, my purse was bent,
The waiter brought me on my tray,
A bowl containing a bale of hay—

EXCELSIOR
I took a stroll out on the street,
A banana peel lay at my fasts.
The fall I got sure was no myth,
I wish I had been padded with a haycoat—

EXCELSIOR
A bakery shop next door did take,
With coconut cakes and lemon pie—
I ordered cake and bacon raw—
The cake was sprinkled with broken straw—

EXCELSIOR —Exchange.

By These Marks Know He Is a Senior
If he breaks raw eggs,
If he lets it lie.
If he wins a beauty contest.
If he shaves every morning.
If he sleeps.
If he doesn't eat his dinner.
If his eyes look dreamy.
If he is getting bald-headed.
If he won't eat onions.
If he drinks milk out of a bottle.

Rathia's eyes are brighter, her smile wider, and her stride longer.
With the band please play—"Warren Is Coming!"
The chicken that represented the Seniors in a recent assembly was his tail feathers. Junior contact we suppose.

The End of a Lend
The favor to extend;
He lent it to another,
His Sister or Miss Bates.
And one of these days, maybe,
My book will be lent to me!

In a Los Angeles paper I see they have a woman Bluebeard. Hurrah for Dorothy Lebo!

Dorm DOINGS
We have all survived our week's vacation in fine shape, although some were delayed by an extended tour of the great southwest.

Morrison and Clements are the lucky parties. They left here in the motorcyce (the motor that held all dorm records) which they rode as far as Las Vegas, where it went out for the first time. They then boarded a side-door Pullman and finally arrived at Летис, Nevada. Morrison had several mishaps and one last chuck hole, the machine broke down. This was in the desert. After two days of hunger and thirst, they were rescued by a tow wagon that pulled them to Las Vegas again where they again boarded the Pullman, the machine repaired, and they started home back to school. After several mishaps and one last chuck hole, the machine broke down. They were delayed by an extended tour of the Pullman on the special design. They finally arrived in Los Angeles where they got Clements' Ford and drove back to school a week late. On the whole they had a good time and lots of experience.

One of our members is "doing camp," for some unknown reason. Getting into jail in the 40 Camp was one of our most popular hobbies on the last week-end.

Pfeiffer seemed to be on hand every night at the 40 Camp. We cannot imagine his being so bold as to try a hold-up on a Klondike dealer. He wasn't.

Farmers—"Hey, there, young feller, what are you doing in my harem?"
Bank—"Oh, one of the boys fell off the roof and I'm just trying to pull it back on, that's all."
