The Banquet

All class rivalry was forgotten the evening of Thursday, May 22, when the Classes of 23 and 24, with school down to the El Piano Inn for the annual Senior and Junior banquet. It proved to be a live party (especially for the junior) and Dorothy Horne generously donated her services to keep the ale-a-ville going and collect the necessary dimes from the guests.

When the gathering had finished and the official part of the evening was over, Toastmaster Evelyn proceeded with the program and gave the entertainment a most well-in to the heavy dinner of the Junior class, which the associate director, Miss Mary Smith, had a very difficult part and, to say the least, surprised everyone.

Farewell to the Seniors was Al Abel’s topic. He told of the history of the class, their good work for the school and how they had kept them going.

Several girls who were not left out of the affair and Don had the honor of addressing the gathering. He has become very friendly—Margaret Word, the spoiled sport of the class—did not make the address so much, but it was what came from him, and, sure enough it proved to be the speaker of the evening.

Farewell to the Juniors was Al Abel’s topic. He told of the history of the class, their good work for the school and how they had kept them going.

Even up the affair, Douglas Armstrong gave a humorous talk about all the people who had the privilege of being around Poly for a few years. He mentioned that he held more than one job at a time, and, in fact, he was a “jack of all trades.”

To even up the affair, Douglas Armstrong gave a humorous talk about all the people who had the privilege of being around Poly for a few years. He mentioned that he held more than one job at a time, and, in fact, he was a “jack of all trades.”

Mary Norton, the newspaper re- porter who is extremely competent and to the blushing beauty, was a wonderful actress and lovable as anyone could desire.

Barbara Pease, as John Blasdell, the charming villain, was, indeed, charming. Her acting was always good, and, if there were any compliments upon her work, she would always have found them.

As the newspaper woman she was extremely competent and as the blushing beauty, was a wonderful actress and lovable as anyone could desire.

Bill Corbin, as Hal Bentley, had a big important part and did very well in it.

William Lyon and Donald Eveleth the policemen, showed their Poly spirit in the manner in which they carried out their duties.

The feature dance, by Rosalind Smith and Alice Cleator, took place during the evening. Rosalind Smith’s dance was called “Ophelia,” and “Winding Winds,” and was a real beauty.

Avery in his trick costume and delicately painted face was a real beauty. He had the direction of the play in hand and his fancy show was showing successfully.

Mike for the evening was furnished by Joe Morgan, who is com- missioner of Andes High School, John Lopatka, as a clown, Lee Earle, as the musician, and held by William Monahan was one of the hits of the show.
Have you ever stopped to analyze the word and understand what it really means? In general, you will find that it is described in this manner: "That which is given in return for good or evil done or received. Re-muneration for services." No, what has that to do with us?

Every day we read in the papers of rewards given and offered and said, "What a lucky person he has been," or "How I wish I could get that reward." Do you realize that you gain to you to get it.

In general, you will find that the word and understand what it really means? In general, you will find that it is described in this manner: "That which is given in return for good or evil done or received. Re-muneration for services." No, what has that to do with us?

As stated in the definition, it is given for good or evil done or received. If you rob a bank and are caught, you get twenty years behind a stone wall—but if you catch the thief or give reliable information as to his whereabouts, you receive a large sum. You worked both times, but in the latter case in an honest way.

This is the same way with school. Now that the term has ended, will you leave the campus with a reward that you have rightfully gained or with one that was acquired in the wrong manner? Are you proud that you passed in a certain subject in a fair and square way or do you feel that you deserve this reward? Of course, you are glad to finish a course, but what good will it do if it was not earned?

You can do anything, but knowing how. Nothing are you going to get alone or with the help of others when you may be called a "four footer" and then work when you have been called this name. You may not believe it, but it is all relative to your school days. If you were in the habit of doing things thoroughly you acquired that trait, and if not, you would take the lazy attitude. This all shows up in appearance. This all shows up in appearance when you say that to "Fat," you will help but laughing when I look at his appearance. Have you noticed how sad and gloomy "Fat" has been lately? He hasn't gotten over what Belle has told him. When you look to tell the matter to your parents, you can make people laugh. Why, that's what makes Charlie McCreary a millionaire.

Dorothy Miller, a stellar student, would be the last one of the term and by the staff who were chosen for the past term. As stated in the definition, it is given for good or evil done or received. If you rob a bank and are caught, you get twenty years behind a stone wall—but if you catch the thief or give reliable information as to his whereabouts, you receive a large sum. You worked both times, but in the latter case in an honest way.

It may be an easy task, or it may be hard. It may be an accident. But in all cases to his whereabouts, you receive a large sum. You worked both times, but in the latter case in an honest way. It may be that the life on the campus was noise, plenty of news was observed, but what things showed up a bit during some parts of the term, which is the general tendency then was the time to give a little more. In this present period that the "Scandal Edition" made its appearance. In behalf of the Polygram staff, I wish to thank all members of the student body who have helped in making the Polygram a success during a critical period of the school's history, and trust that the future year's Polygram will be a leading school paper.

William Corbin, Editor.

The Editor's Swan Song

This issue of the Polygram brings to you the last one of the term and by the staff who were chosen for the past term. In every way they have tried to give you a good, snappy paper and one which they are proud to send to other schools. It means work to edit a school paper—but it's pleasant work, especially when the student body appreciates the efforts that are for their benefit. As a whole, that has been the general attitude of the staff, which makes the task much easier for the staff.

The Polygram has been given strong consideration as to its whereabouts, you receive a large sum. You worked both times, but in the latter case in an honest way. It may be that the life on the campus was noise, plenty of news was observed, but what things showed up a bit during some parts of the term, which is the general tendency then was the time to give a little more. In this present period that the "Scandal Edition" made its appearance. In behalf of the Polygram staff, I wish to thank all members of the student body who have helped in making the Polygram a success during a critical period of the school's history, and trust that the future year's Polygram will be a leading school paper.

William Corbin, Editor.
Willing to Plunge

Mother: "Do you know, I think Belle's voice should be cultivated, if it doesn't cost too much."

Father: "It can't cost too much if it will improve it.

The Wonderful Horse

0 horse, you are a wonderful thing; So beautiful to look at, no horses to boast; You start yourself, no clutch to slip; You speak to me, no goad to strip; So tense-buys every year, With plate to screw on front and rear; So gase hills climbing up each day, Shaking the joy of life away; So speed raises chugging in your rear, Tailgating noises of humor; Your inner tubes are all O. K. And thank the Lord, they stay that way.

Belle

"Why do they call Groatweil 'long boy'?

Belle: "It's because his dinner makes his dinner go on a long way.

Practising and Perfection

Pfeiffer: "I always believe in saving something for a rainy day."

Pfeiffer: "I've never saved much!"

Mrs. Bangs has an awful disposition, don't you think, old toppler?"

Mrs. Bangs: "Has there been any disposition to waste in the Bangs family?"

Mr. Bangs has a most unusual disposition; don't you think, old toppler?"

Mr. Bangs: "I think it's a question of attitude; you have to be able to control your disposition."

Mixed Numbers

A quality school of the church is credited with the following: The 'word pants' is as bad for the child as it is bad for the teacher at a singular, at the top and plural at the bottom.

Declaration

Williams: "Why do they call Groatweil 'long boy'?

Belle: "It's because his dinner makes his dinner go on a long way.

Practising and Perfection

Pfeiffer: "I always believe in saving something for a rainy day."

Pfeiffer: "I've never saved much!"

Mrs. Bangs has an awful disposition, don't you think, old toppler?"

Mrs. Bangs: "Has there been any disposition to waste in the Bangs family?"

Mr. Bangs has a most unusual disposition; don't you think, old toppler?"

Mr. Bangs: "I think it's a question of attitude; you have to be able to control your disposition."

Mixed Numbers

A quality school of the church is credited with the following: The 'word pants' is as bad for the child as it is bad for the teacher at a singular, at the top and plural at the bottom.

Declaration

Williams: "Why do they call Groatweil 'long boy'?

Belle: "It's because his dinner makes his dinner go on a long way.

Practising and Perfection

Pfeiffer: "I always believe in saving something for a rainy day."

Pfeiffer: "I've never saved much!"

Mrs. Bangs has an awful disposition, don't you think, old toppler?"

Mrs. Bangs: "Has there been any disposition to waste in the Bangs family?"

Mr. Bangs has a most unusual disposition; don't you think, old toppler?"

Mr. Bangs: "I think it's a question of attitude; you have to be able to control your disposition."

Mixed Numbers

A quality school of the church is credited with the following: The 'word pants' is as bad for the child as it is bad for the teacher at a singular, at the top and plural at the bottom.

Declaration

Williams: "Why do they call Groatweil 'long boy'?

Belle: "It's because his dinner makes his dinner go on a long way."
Poly Faculty Wins

On Tuesday, May 27th, the Faculty played the City Teachers a game of baseball before the largest crowd of the season. Both teams played exceptionally well. It was rumored that scouts were in attendance and that some of the participants received batting offers.

The San Luis Obispo Herald-Telegraph has the following to say regarding the contest:

White collars and books were laid aside yesterday afternoon by the professors of the San Luis Obispo city schools and Poly, while the rival pedagogues battled for baseball honors in a 3-3 tie appearance. The Poly faculty walked away with the said honors by a score of 16 to 12, which was the highest scored game of the season.

Captain diced, twirling for the Poly nine during the first four frames, was in great form and whipped 10 men, allowing only two hits out of 17 men who faced him.

Tie could not get under way and did not play the game of baseball, but went to the tobacco shop to face the high school aggregation.

The Lineups

Poly: Dr. Roy M. Cox, President; Mr. Fred A. Bird, Secretary; Mr. Leland Sanders, Treasurer; Mr. W. R. Berlin, Treasurer; Mr. H. S. Metcalf, Treasurer.

City: Mr. Charles Green, President; Mr. Harry Johnson, Secretary; Mr. H. S. Metcalf, Treasurer; Mr. W. R. Berlin, Treasurer; Mr. H. S. Metcalf, Treasurer.

Amapola Swimming Party

The Amapola Club enjoyed a very informal outing at Pixmo Beach yesterday afternoon. The party was partially failed of two of its purposes, those of being primarily a swimming party, and of being exclusive of the masculine persuasion, it was a huge success.

The party was briefly outlined, and the work of Mr. W. H. Metcalf was praised. Mr. W. H. Metcalf is a native of San Luis Obispo, and is recognized as one of the ablest in the world of his profession.

The Journal

The Journal, which is of great interest to us all, made its appearance on the school bulletin board Tuesday. The paper, which is to be published weekly, was established by Leland Sanders, who is a native of San Luis Obispo.

The Journal is full of cripples as a result of the California earthquake. It is surprising how quickly those who were unable to march Memorial Day recovered.

The preliminary bout was between Don Fawcett, who claims to be the world's greatest wrestler, and Ted Krough, also a wrestler. The fight was a draw. Ted Krough, also a wrestler, was knocked out in the second round. Krough is a very fast fighter.

The Journal contains some very interesting information, and we recommend it to all students.

Dorm Doings

The "back-yard" mechanics in the dorm are spending their spare time and money overhauling their respective motor vehicles, and hoping that they will run long enough to get home.

Lights are in evidence in some of the dorm rooms during the early hours of the morning. We forget physics and chemistry in the rush of the excited dorm boys who are preparing to leave during the night.

Walter Lumey, our local shock, went to Pismo Sunday, and consequently did not have his Chemistry lesson Monday morning.

Doug has lost his position and is now helpingdifficulty keeping out of mischief during his spare time.

DeMolay Stage Party

Last Saturday, May 24, the local DeMolay Chapter held a stage party which was of particular interest to the Poly boys because of the number of boys in the Order. Boxing bouts and wrestling matches were the principal feature of the evening, though music and a few vaudeville sketches proved to be very entertaining.

The preliminary bout was between Terrell Mans of San Luis High and Harold Truax. They fought four rounds to a draw. Ted Krough, also a wrestler, was knocked out in the second round, having hurt his hand.

After all the excitement, the boys snuck into the hall and there enjoyed the palms that were prepared for them. It was aAUTONOMOUS. There was enough food to serve as Lumsey on the committee.

Alertness

(From the Placement Bureau)

Boys and girls must be alert. Alertness is another name for being attentive, watchful, interested in what is going on. It is doing and in what goes on about you. Be prompt and in the right place at the right time. See as many things as you can. There are always many things about any job which you should be privy to and which you should see if you are looking for them.

Usefulness attracts the attention of your superior officer, which is of great importance in any occupation. It is doing and in what goes on about you. Be prompt and in the right place at the right time. See as many things as you can. There are always many things about any job which you should be privy to and which you should see if you are looking for them.

Usefulness attracts the attention of your superior officer, which is of great importance in any occupation. It is doing and in what goes on about you. Be prompt and in the right place at the right time. See as many things as you can. There are always many things about any job which you should be privy to and which you should see if you are looking for them.

Usefulness attracts the attention of your superior officer, which is of great importance in any occupation. It is doing and in what goes on about you. Be prompt and in the right place at the right time. See as many things as you can. There are always many things about any job which you should be privy to and which you should see if you are looking for them.

Usefulness attracts the attention of your superior officer, which is of great importance in any occupation. It is doing and in what goes on about you. Be prompt and in the right place at the right time. See as many things as you can. There are always many things about any job which you should be privy to and which you should see if you are looking for them.