Senior Class: An announcement was made that the Senior Class was planning to hold a Christmas party that evening.

Miss Ruth Smith was given a delightful party in honor of her birthday at her home on Chorro Street on the evening of November 22. A delicious dinner was served to the young folk who gathered. The color scheme of pink and green was carried out throughout the whole affair. The girls were presented with dainty corsages in these colors while the boys received button-hole bouquets. Amusing favors and cards made the affair a merry one. Theater tickets were presented to each guest and after a short time spent in music and dancing the party attended the second show in a body.

Covered were laid for Misses Belle Tomsalin, Lucille Sterling, Alene Mayhail, Ike Mayhail, Ruth Smith, and Messrs. Albert Call, Albert Hankerson, Roy Bradley, Alfred Young and Jack Babcock.

"The party made me feel as though I were something in the making," said Miss Ruth Smith, who was given a doll for her birthday. Senior Class: "We have been looking forward to this party for weeks."

Dear Santa: "I want a renewed lease on my life."

POLY CHATTER

Ellen Margaret is a sadly disillusoned girl. Among other things, she has found out since coming to Poly that there isn't any Santa Clause.

Nala Jepperson has fallen into love with a football chap and is also going to the dogs. Heavy staggered home from his evening visit at three A.M. but Jep doesn't get in at all some times. Jep is also looking for a new job for some unknown reason.

"Custard" Davis had an amazing set of scars yesterday on the golf course.
One of them set three grass trees, one lightning a blowtorch on the green to-day and tried to break a section of pipe by jumping on it. Bumping becoming constantly in the way, he didn't bother to do anything other than smile.

Speaking of Heavy, we wonder how come the sudden change in his attitude of voice since Thanksgiving vacation? . . . .

One of the boys is no longer driving a car. Thanks to his unfortunate experiences we have found out that forty-five miles an hour on Monterey Street is too fast when the motor coup is in the pool hall.

While crossing the track Wednesday night, Keno had a painful accident.

Another campus mystery is the sudden illness of one of the boys in the Chicago house. It is said that he was nothing on his way back from Piero, and had to be assisted to bed when he arrived.

We marvel at Grand Sterling's sudden defection for the rubbish can on the porch of the Science Hall.

Pfeiffer, although a post-graduate, acts just as much like a freshman as ever. His favorite pastimes are smoking a cheap pipe and getting laid-out in study hall.

Target Practice

Target practice is being held on the ranges about every Saturday. In the future it is to be held every Saturday without fail. There are some good scores being made and the boys are-doing better all the time. Two weeks ago at 500 yards Ray Bradley, Van Buren, high man and Lowren赢 was high man at 500 yards.

Right after the first of the year the interclass shoot for points towards the trophy will begin. Twelve men will be chosen from each class for the team. There will be both slow and rapid fire.

Miss Hanska: Do you have any scrap paper?

Harriet W.: Yes, this is it. I only get 65 percent on it.

One matter if they do not get any personal reception has preserved us from calamity beyond our anticipations. * *

They copy our walk, our slang, our house.

They kiss you on the forehead to have a man hanging around? Isn't it a crime to hang a man?

Dropped a penny into it. A timid little Freshie. Mr. Rathbone: What division come to the United States and hung around? Marvin: What would you do if I knew you on the forehead? Yves Bickford: I'd call you down. Gracie: Where do you do your dancing? Grace: I think you're horrid. Miss Knox: You did? What did he say? Mr. McFarland: I'm king in my fraternity. The wy "Um)& b"s 40 or fight, but... You're not able to answer any of my questions? Miss Knox: Jack, how is it that you never answered any of my questions? Jack Rollins: 'Cause, if I knew the things you asked me I wouldn't have to come here. Jack Babcock (at 12 o'clock): Well, I must be off. It's too young to smoke.

San Jose vs. Poly

Poly went down to defeat at the hands of the San Jose Teacher's College to the tune of 20-9. This was the last game of the season. Poly put up a good game. Both teams, however, were not in their usual stride and played a pretty loose game in all respects.

Poly kicked off and San Jose carried the ball to the 60 yard line on bikes and end runs. Poly got the ball on the 60 yard line and finished the game down on lines and field lines for a touchdown.

San Jose rallied and went over for two touchdowns in the second and third quarters. Poly scored a safety in the fourth quarter, but San Jose rallied and were forced to kick from behind their own goal line. The kick went to the side back of the goal line and San Jose went over for another touchdown but failed to convert.

In the last half both teams made good yards on passes. Poly would have scored many more but were called offside after completing a long pass. There were a great many critical moments on both sides after the game. Both teams played hard and clean.

An interesting stunt was pulled off during the half when the girls of the Teacher's College put on a real football game. The girls representing Poly, won by 8 to 0.

Mrs. Fuller (Glee Club): Don't slide between "tree-top."
