Delegates Attend J. C. Conference

Vocational Courses in the Jr. College Main Point Of Meeting.

Because of the geographical position of The California Polytechnic State College, the Junior College Main Point of Meeting this year was held at San Luis Obispo. This was due to the fact that the Junior College in California is equipped to give a four-year course in the State of California. However, the demand for vocational courses is so great that the Junior College is unable to meet the demand.

We are probably somewhat limited in the number of students who can be admitted to the Junior College in California. However, the Junior College has been able to meet the demand for vocational courses by the establishment of a new system of education, which is known as the "Junior College of the Future." This system of education is designed to provide a four-year course in the State of California, and it is hoped that it will be able to meet the demand for vocational courses in the future.

Companies Hope To Receive Valuable Suggestions From New Fire System In Being Installed

Poly is going to have a separate fire system independent of the city department. One is still in the process of installation at the present time. The new system is being installed at the main campus. The fire is being built, and the necessary equipment is being installed in connection with the new system.

A 60 pound water pressure is to be maintained at the main campus. The water can be released in six feet of water at the fire hydrant. This is the regular supply.

Poly Glee Club and Band at Santa Maria

The Poly Band and the Boys Glee Club presented a concert at the Santa Maria Union High School last Friday night, March 22. The concert was most successful, and the students were entertained by the fine performance of the poly band and the Boys Glee Club.

The program began with a grand entrance of the Poly Band, which made a magnificent appearance. The poly band was led by Mr. George Brown, the director of the band. She was kind enough to give the schedule of the concert.

To the editor, Mr. Leonard:

Hello, Mr. Leon:

June Bug was at school for a short while last Tuesday. He was rooming in the dorm on the right. He's a little bit of a fish, but he's doing quite well for a fish. Everything's all right with him except for his tail. I heard the water just set down and won't run. Everything's all right with his tail except for the fact that it won't run. Everything's all right with him except for the fact that it won't run.

I was very happy to hear that Joe is getting along well. He's getting along very well with his studies and his friends. He's getting along very well with his studies and his friends.

Our State History Teacher, Mr. Cunningham, is going to give a talk on the history of the United States. He's going to give a talk on the history of the United States.

I hope you had a good time. I hope you had a good time.

Seals Defeat Pirates 10-1

Hitting the ball with everything but their deafness, the San Francisco Seals went over the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday when Cronkite singled and scored twice with the first hit, then Bunn singled and scored on Cronkite's double in the fifth. They scored again when Bunn got on base on an error after Cronkite's second attempt to score on Cronkite's single and scored on Cronkite's double. The remarkable Pirates gave up four runs and two more were scored when Velez and Cronkite made it four straight, and the Seals used only some care in the lucky seventh when Captain起义 counted his one home run over the center-field head.

The game was not close enough to make the $100 per hour, which was exceeding, for the Seals was well worth watching as they garnered thirteen hits. Three home runs were made, Whitey going well over the right-field fence. Deckert's also went over the fence. After that the Pirates got two hits, and scored three runs when the Pirates only got one home run and never held to the lead.

The Seals should find little difficulty in raising the funds for which they have been asked this season.

Mr. Macfarlane Interviewed

Mr. Donald G. Macfarlane started to learn the Mackenzie trade in his father's shop when he was seven. The shop burned down and forced him to take up a new trade. Before he finished his apprenticeship as a machinist, he worked in the drafting office of the shops clear, across the country to California, College of Mechanic's, B. R. i. 1910, and then became what mechanics call a "lumberjack." That he has done in New York and back to Detroit. He is now president of the Packard Motor Car Company while he is Detroit. Mr. Macfarlane said, "I might have stayed there, but the first girl I met in the United States was in Calif. Two nights later it was over. The next day the company offered me a job in the drafting office. I was at that time, thirty years ago, the youngest man in the office. Mr. Macfarlane started to work in the drafting office. He was there for four years. Then he was called to Cal-Poly Auto Shop.
