Columbia Quicksilver Mines Furnishes Plenty of Adventure.

One of the most enjoyable and interesting features of the Wednesday evening meeting, held on February 16, 1930, was the feature lecture given on pictures and on the Columbia Quicksilver Mines. The lecture was given by Mr. Joe Brown, a well-known mining engineer, who has been associated with the Columbia Quicksilver Mines for many years. Mr. Brown's lecture was very well received, and the audience was thoroughly interested in the subject matter.

A similar lecture was given on the Columbia Quicksilver Mines on February 23, 1930, by Mr. John Smith, another well-known mining engineer who has been associated with the Columbia Quicksilver Mines for several years. Mr. Smith's lecture was also very well received, and the audience was thoroughly interested in the subject matter.

Prominent Alumni Appreciate Progress

Mr. Brown and Mr. Smith are both well-known for their work in the mining industry, and their lectures were very well received by the audience. The Columbia Quicksilver Mines is one of the most important mining companies in the world, and it is well known for its high standards of safety and efficiency. The company has been in operation for many years, and it has a long history of success.
