BLOCK "P" CIRCUS

Everyone knows that the Block "P" Circus last year was an unequaled success in that the crowd surpassed all expectations. Last year the performance lasted only one night. With the approach of this year's plans are being made to hold the performance two days. As the proceeds from the Circus go to benefit athletics, it is all the more important that everything should be in readiness and staged for a bigger and better Circus. If in any way you are connected with the details of this production, we feel that you can make the Circus a success that will deserve widespread compliments.

It is hoped that every Drama Club and other clubs will see Mr. Ray MeCart or any member of the Block "P" Club about obtaining floor space for a booth or side show of some sort. The more side shows or novelty acts the more entertaining and successful the Circus will be.

The financial end will be bigger too, if something interesting and unusual will be set before the public. It will demand attention and the curiosity of the attending public. Also the clubs can keep half of the net results, and in this manner an opportunity is presented to the Clubs to make some money for club activities.

The reason for a two day performance this year is the demand. Last year people were surprised to learn that the Circus would last for only one day, and were disappointed but must look forward to this year's Circus with real interest.

The Block "P" Club is the backbone in this affair and is taking the lead and as the success of the Circus will reflect in the entire student body everyone should do their bit.

IS IT WORTH IT?

For the past month or two we have been trying to stay in the gym. Students left their clothes in open lockers, never thinking that a thief was among them and confident that the contents left in their lockers would be there when they came back after a period of gymnastics.

It is with regret that measures have to be taken so that the property of the students may be protected and kept safe. The usual few, who, with sneaky and mean acts steal from another who has confidence in his honor.

Anyone who would steal from one who believes in his fellow students and in the thief himself cannot have much moral character. Sooner or later some will catch the parasite, and the guilty one will be humiliated. People will lose confidence and faith in the school, in the student body and in the student body's ability to handle its own affairs.

In the eyes of the world he is an outcast, if he persists in a life of crime. If he seeks his gains from others he will be met with the same treatment that he meted out to others. "A guilty one will be humiliated. People will lose confidence and faith in the school." Sooner or later some will catch the parasite, and the guilty one will be humiliated. People will lose confidence and faith in the school, in the student body and in the student body's ability to handle its own affairs.

Mr. Cain has worked diligently and patiently until now his efforts and his time have been rewarded. He reports that his work is being appreciated by the students.

SUCCESS IN AUTHORSHIP

Considering the success of the "P" Circus with the Glee Club, we all have to admit that it is an organization that any school can have and that it can be proud to number among the organizations. Every time a trip is taken by the Glee Club, more and more people are coming to the concert and relating to the success of their program. Approximately a half a hundred are active in this vocal department and some exceptional talent has come to the surface.

Mr. Cain has worked diligently and patiently until now his program is in demand by the outside public. The success of his program is the result of his personal visits to the Glee Club and that everyone is really interested in making the programs successful.

Most of the students on the Polygram seem to be of the opinion that the basketball season was a success. This is not so far as the Mustangs are concerned, since they have not made any showing in the basketball conference. They have had a very fine season in the weights, and they seem to think that they have made some progress.
