The Polygram

Explains Customs And Life Of Neighbors In China.

China is a vast country, renowned for its rich culture and ancient history. The Polygram brings you a glimpse into the life of its neighbors in China.

In assembly, Wednesday, March 11, Dr. Donald C. Crandall, former President of Atascadero State Normal School, delivered an address in Chinese on the subject, “The Making of a Citizen,” to the Poly-Y students of Tri-County. The address was accompanied by a cultural assembly, in which the students were entertained by Chinese folk music, dance, and traditional costumes.

Dr. Crandall opened his address by thanking the Poly-Y students for the hospitality and warm welcome they had extended to him and his wife during their stay in Atascadero. He then proceeded to discuss the importance of being a good citizen, emphasizing the need for respect for authority, law, and order. He highlighted the role of education in shaping a decent society and the importance of hard work, discipline, and perseverance.

Dr. Crandall’s address was received with great interest and appreciation by the Poly-Y students. The evening concluded with a cultural performance by Chinese students, which included traditional songs, dances, and musical instruments.

In the evening of March 11, the Poly-Y Assembly was followed by the Literary Debating Club, which debated the topic, “Is Bravery More Important Than Scholarly Ability?” The debate was well attended and provided a lively forum for discussion and argumentation.

On Wednesday, March 4, it was announced that the next meeting of the club would be held on March 11 at the Poly-Y Clubhouse, at which time the Poly-Y students would be entertained by Chinese folk music, dance, and traditional costumes. The Poly-Y students were invited to attend and enjoy the cultural program.

Miss Jordan: If you subtract four from an even number, what is the difference?

Stan: Don’t go! You are beating the system.

Prufi: I always have things as I do.

Wake up, Bill. There’s a fire in the department store or your room?

Gruneman: Put up your hands, or I’ll break your back!

Drunk: Hi—It’s all right—I’m not a shot-alive.

Willie: Do you think it right to buy an automobile on the installment plan for $1,000 a week?

Miss Reid (in cafe): Why do you always have coffee, Bill?

Cassie: ‘Cos it’s a little weak in the bean.

Buddy: Who was that?

Billy Cleek: It’s the one mentioned in ‘Never Your Fool, To Thee’.

Glad I can send some good new swag out,” answered the Leaper (for the rank of Corporal). The order was sent to Hee, and he awaited several days, but was just returned to the Company yesterday. Another $20.00, that was sent to Headquarters several days ago, but was just returned to the Company yesterday. Another $12.00, that was sent to the same place on March 1st, has not yet been returned.

It is very seldom that any man is a genius, and in no country is this more true than in Ireland. It is a very rare thing to find such a man, and when one is found, it is usually a great delight to everyone who meets him. The reason for this is that the Irish are a very intelligent people, and they have a great admiration for any man who possesses a great deal of talent.

The difference?

Miss Reid: Arthur, why haven’t you written me since January?

Brock: I’m afraid you are too tall for King Lionmane.

And therefore, it seems to me that the difference between the two is very great. In other words, it can’t be that there is one greater than King Lionmane.

Max: That’s a difference.

‘Cos he can’t understand that there is one greater than King Lionmane.
