Convention.

(Bar Floyd Jordan.)
The J. C. Division of the California Normal School to make its next year's plans when it meets for the annual conference held on the northern coast this month. Two of the best features of the conference were the speech by President Floyd Jordan of the J. C. Division of the California Polytechnic, and the visit by Miss E. M. Jordan, president of the J. C. Division of the University of California. President Jordan told the J. C. Division that it was not necessary for them to be in agreement with President Jordan and his executive committee of the University of California, but that they should be in agreement with the University of California, and that the J. C. Division of the University of California should be in agreement with the University of California. President Jordan also said that the J. C. Division of the University of California should be in agreement with the University of California.

Frosh Produce Goods Assembly Gets Laughs

The Freshman class of the Junior College Division gave an amusing and colorful assembly Friday afternoon in the Poly auditorium. It was a little doubtful of the success of the assembly, but it was an attempt to make one of the few surviving traditions of college life. It was quite a success, and the audience enjoyed it greatly.
