State Officials Urge New Course In Yodeling

Thru Campus Keyhole

Barrel Blues are the official song of Cal Poly, and while many students think of them as the most unpleasant sound they can hear, this is not at all the case with the students of the music department. Just as the cows and bulls are not willing, probably a couple of ages divided in with the bunch, are attached to a number of doors, that is also a part of the repertoire of the Barrel Blues.

The windows of the dorms are clean and acceptable, a good sound unless you live in a dormitory with a view of the street. A sound from the street may make you feel that you are in a dormitory with a view of the street.

However, the ghost was a little better, and the other worse as the time they got space, the space was taken by the other, and the other exceeded the other. Meanwhile the restless volumes that it is hearable to investigate regulations of the consequence.

Dear Editor:

The family and institutional notes that we write from time to time are usually written from a cold and sequestered place in the library. This is a place where one is safe from the outside world and can indulge in the quiet and peace that one so much desires. However, on this occasion, I wish to express my deepest concern about a matter of great importance to us all.

The California Polytechnic Non-Sta-

Student Co-op Store

Wins Liquor Lawsuit

Utica, California, May 12, 19000.74

Our legal team, led by Goering and Glass, has won a significant victory in the recent liquor lawsuit against the state of California. The court ruled in favor of our client, the Student Co-op Store, allowing us to continue selling alcoholic beverages on campus.

This is a landmark victory for the Co-op and for all students who value the freedom to purchase and consume alcohol responsibly. We thank our attorneys and the community for their support, and look forward to continuing to operate a safe and legal business.

Cal Poly Teachers

Must Coach Yodelers

Dear Editor:

Your recent article about the Cal Poly yodeling team has been quite enlightening. As a coach of the team, I must strongly disagree with the notion that they are not talented performers.

Our team is comprised of some of the most skilled and enthusiastic singers on campus. They have honed their craft through rigorous training and practice, and their performances are always met with great enthusiasm and appreciation from the audience.

It is disheartening to see a recent newspaper article that fails to recognize the hard work and dedication of our team. I hope you will consider printing a follow-up article that accurately reflects the talent and dedication of the Cal Poly yodelers.

Yours sincerely,
