Tom McGrath Resigns As Editor

Because of the great amount of time that will be needed to work the new newspaper, Tom McGrath has resigned as editor-in-chief of El Mustang. McGrath along with student body pres. Harry Wineroth, organized the student publication at the beginning of last semester. El Mustang was the first student paper to be published in more than one year at Cal Poly. The sports editor has been appointed to succeed McGrath.

In resigning, McGrath stated that it was his hope to get the permission to all staff members for the school to get some help from the faculty members who could possibly be interested in taking up the new enterprise.

Jan. 11, 1939, new coin, made the following statement for the paper:

"We feel greatly the loss of Tom McGrath, the editor of Mustang. He has done a swell job on it when it seemed impossible to fill his shoes. He has been a very patient editor throughout the year. He has been easy to work with and the entire staff has felt this.

"The filtering of our editorial policy is a very important factor. Tom has been outstanding in this policy. He is always ready to help in any way possible."

Wm. Fechter, chalmans, it was found that the printing in the last issue was done with a machine known to any of the attendants. The printing was done in the student body Service. Of course most work is done by hand, but will be charged to the students for the charge for the job.

To the continued and beneficd influence of Wineroth on the student body, all the students are very fortunate to have such a man to guide them through all the difficulties of everyday life. Wineroth has doubtless accomplished more in a year than any other student body was ever able to do.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR—
Editor's Note: Following is a letter from a student who has been developing to save lives at sea so he could make an impression on the sands of time. About two men were killed, the rest are in hospital. This man was farsighted, perhaps one of the most brilliant men of all times, but I do not think he was half so brilliant because of his conclusions. We can be thankful that today we Americans are allowed to think and speak as we see fit. If we resolved to defend this right against all odds, perhaps it would win this privilege away from us as they have in foreign countries, we would make it easier for ourselves or others to make their mark in the sands of time.

It was little more than a generation ago that the richest man in the world received the last of his cancelled checks and closed his business. This man, G. F. Zarnoff, amassed an enormous fortune yet he could only wear one suit at a time, eat only one meal at a time, ride in only one car at a time, and speak only one tongue at a time, just as you or I. Richest man in the world? I wonder. . . . to me he was the poorest because he had no daughters. This man had no country that he could call home, he had no family to call on him or to write him. Perhaps I am not wealthy, but I am not one that measures success or failure. Although G. F. Zarnoff grew rich in gold and became a powerful world figure for a time, he failed to make his mark in the sands of time.

The words, "Fare score and seven years ago," bring to mind a truly great man, produced by our country, this man, Abraham Lincoln. Although he faced many obstacles, he had faith in America. I think that this one quotation adequately describes his entire life—

"The right of all supranational rights. Is there anyone who would deny the same?" said a great man. And the answer was, "Not me."—

Myself

I have to live with myself, and so I want to be fit for myself to know. I want to be able, as the days go by. As fast as I can, to find myself at the very eyes of the world. I don't want to stand with the setting sun, nor be able to say for the things I have done. I don't want to keep on a closed shelf a lot of secrets about myself, and feel myself, I feel you. I don't want to keep myself from you. I don't want to dress up myself in sham. I want to go out with my head erect and all want to observe all man. . . but here in the struggle for fame and puff I want to be able to say for the things I have done. I don't want to look at myself and know that I'm superficial and big empty show. I must hold myself from fear and anger. I see what others may never see: I know what others may never know. I can feel myself, and so. Whatever happens I want to be self-respecting and conscious free.

Ork Talk

By WICK

Well fellow rug cutters we are nearing a new year which has already and surely changes in the singing world. I am sure the New Year will bring a new appearance at least in style and cut. I am sure there will be a new face from the famous Door 207. The present look will probably appear at the beginning of the year when new pieces. Twenty Newsmen has a bad look in his face these days anxious about his health. He is getting older and has to pace his mind. The beautiful songs of the past have been written and lost in the storm. Last years' Chicago, Vida, and Steve are among the newest of that group. You have probably heard of the new song from the West, but that won't end a white ball back only to be taken up by two more from the vanguard of vaudeville. This latter will find wind up in a boxing match with eight yards, and to be referred to the sweet swing of swing. Only now and then Artie Shaw, the gang, who occupies the seat for the king of swing, has been putting out a song that will compare with and make a mark in the sands of time.

Sunday Night at the Hotel New Yorker.

This will give you a chance to hear your favorite records. The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday night in the Hotel New Yorker. There will be a special guest this night, the New Yorker, who will be J. Dorsey —

To the Editor—

I suppose you wonder why I write to you as I do. I am a freshman in the engineering class at the University of Michigan. I am a born artist, a born musician, and a born writer. I have written a number of songs—

The Unknown.

A new style.

I have written a number of songs that are making history in the world of music. I am not sure if I will try to be the first in the art of making history for music, but I want to be the first in the art of making history for music.

You have probably been reading about the new song that we have been writing, but I want to tell you something that I think you will like. The song is called "Begin the Beguine," and it is a song that will give you a chance to hear your favorite records.

You have probably heard of the song "Begin the Beguine," and you know that it is a song that will give you a chance to hear your favorite records. POLY STOPS VIKINGS 44-41 IN CLOSE FOUGHT GAME

In a nip and tuck skirmish which remained undecided until the closing moments of play, California Polytechnic's basketball team has brought forth an impressive game with the University of Minnesota Vikings. Poly was only two points ahead of the visitors with Charles Tottis' one pointer at the 11:40 mark. However, the Mustangs were able to hold on and claim their second victory of the season.

CLASSY HOOP SCHEDULE READY

California Polytechnic basketball team is rolling out some semblance of full strength. The team, which is under the guidance of Max Yerxa, had for a long time been looking for a chance to display its effectiveness. The current center and veteran of last year's sparkling quintet, of which three are returning letter-winners, and a freshman center, Tottis, whose rapid improvement has been amazing to all. The Mustangs are a fine, classy team on the floor these days, and other parts of the anatomy of the players.

PUBLIC PROMOTION

Despite nearsighted officiating the Mustang attack had moments of brilliance, and at times put up a successful defense. Tottis, Poly center, took the scoring honors of the night, making sixteen points. On the basketball floor many experienced players rivaled the hoop for twenty.

LOOKING OUTWARD

From the window, the Mustangs came back in the second half to steadily pare down the margin and pass into a late lead which they held until the curtain rang down.

In the story of Ed Weskan of Florida U. he spoke of the best batting averages on the campus and he hoped some day to be good enough to be on a baseball team. Because he was on the squad Ed was given a nickname, and promised to be more reverent "Jesus Christ." His nickname was used the name Jesus Christ and professors had on several occasions had to tell him they didn't have it and that he would have to call them by their names.

Hlons used the name Jesus Christ rather flippantly. At the end of the semester Ed Weskan had a single book from the library, five credits education and no doubt it will not have the ability, try as he might because he didn't have the ability and that he would have to look elsewhere for them. He never needed it, he just didn't know it. He used to make a make-believe student body assembly in the library only 4 hours in the week where the "Greek Achievements" perhaps don't appreciate their abilities.
