BULLETIN

The Weyerhill Bill, providing for support of Cali- fornia Polytechnic school, was unanimously passed the Assembly yesterday afternoon. It was introduced here by vote last night; the bill now goes to the Senate for action.

Cal Poly Won't Close; Assembly Unanimously Votes Emergency Funds

"Affirmative funds are being made available to carry on the normal pro- gram of California Polytechnic school," President Julian A. McMillan said when he signed the bill into law, which will provide more than half of the necessary funds for the school. The remaining funds, as previously stated, will come from the State of California and other sources which were dependent upon the House for name funds for the school.

The news report goes on to state that the school would be closed, but that only the legislature that would be in session some time later, following the present one, would be able to pass the necessary funds. The school would continue to operate during the interval.

More Guns Than Boys At Next Dance

For New Short Courses

California Polytechnic welcomed from 200 boys this week as a special dance program, in plans for 15 special courses designed to fit mid-year high school graduates for defense jobs or skilled positions in the armed forces; and subsequent meetings of the schools which were dependent upon the House for name funds for the school.

The news report goes on to state that the school would be closed, but that only the legislature that would be in session some time later, following the present one, would be able to pass the necessary funds. The school would continue to operate during the interval.
Crops Club Plans

The Crops club has been discussing plans for its participation in the forthcoming Poly Royal. The main feature of its program will probably include a plant identification contest, a sack sewing contest, and a series of competitive dives showing the club in action. Plans were also discussed for other activities.

salesmen are rather young men with at least average mechanical ability. I know there are lots of them just like myself. I have studied more along the lines of selling than say, machine shop work, even though I have gone to technical schools ever since high school. In times like these, however, we will have to use our abilities elsewhere. The Chrysler Company alone needs over 38,000 additional men for the manufacture of tanks and anti-aircraft guns. Many of these men will have families to be near them. The shipyards need men, welders are needed, and there are many more occupations where these men are needed.

Farm labor is needed and California Poly is putting out that type of man. In addition to this, many of these "former" salesmen could qualify for the air force and other branches of the service. Electrical and mechanical engineering men are needed badly. That is why I joined the Naval Reserve last week as an engineering officer. I want to serve my country in the best possible way. Yes, there is no doubt that there is work for all of us. Let's get behind it and get this war over with.—Roy Carter.
The Poly Jivvees took their first defeat in their last four games Wednesday. This came at the hands of the Jayvees, who won the game 30 to 29.

The Poly Jivvees had a tough battle against the Jayvees, who were determined to win. The game was filled with excitement and action, as both teams fought hard to come out on top.

In the end, the Jayvees managed to secure the victory with a score of 30 to 29, despite thePoly Jivvees' best efforts to overcome them.

The Poly Jivvees will continue to practice and prepare for their next game, as they aim to bounce back from this defeat and come out stronger.

The game took place on the Poly Jivvees' home court, and was attended by a large crowd of fans who came to cheer on their team.

The Poly Jivvees' coach, Mr. Smith, congratulated the Jayvees on their victory and expressed his disappointment at his team's performance. He stated that the Poly Jivvees need to work on improving their defense and offense to be able to compete at a higher level.

The Poly Jivvees' next game is scheduled for this Saturday, where they will face off against their rival team, the Poly Jivvees.
