Registration records were abnormally high this year when old students enrolled in the fall. A new record was set, for the number of new students who enrolled. The highest attendance of all colleges in the Cal Poly system was reported, and the San Luis Obispo branch of the school in-,

Last year at this time only 621 students were registered at the San Luis Obispo campus and an additional 1337 enrollees were enrolled in the off-campus schools. This year, enrollments have reached around 821 students, or less than the enrollment figure for the last Fall. Outstanding figures of this year. Exempted from the enrollment average this year, but the November enrollment total is, however, far from sensational. This year's enrollment average is 2.94, the smallest enrollment since the school's opening.

One hundred and twenty-NYU Students To Enroll at Poly By Winter Quarter

One hundred and twenty-NYU students from all parts of the state are expected here during the winter quarter. The first class of students from the New York University campus on the west coast will arrive at Poly on the 12th of November. The NYU students will be housed in the old storeroom and kitchen and dining hall. Building plans for the construction of a new dining hall are being completed by October 1st according to President McPhee, and will be available for the next winter quarter.

October 22nd and 23rd, 1940, is the date selected by the administration as the opening day of the new academic year. The selection of these dates is made in view of the fact that these dates are the most suitable type of day for the start of the academic year. It has been planned that workshops will be available for the students to use in their work and that classes will begin immediately. The dates selected will consist mostly of school work, reducing students' time for other activities.

NYU students who will arrive will be registered each day of the week and for the period of the week, and the classroom will be operated the same as on the Poly campus.

WHAT HAPPENING?

Yes, just what about this form of mental and physical anguish that every freshman goes through when he enters our college—or any college for that matter—should he be prepared or should he be carried away by it?

That question seems to be in the minds of many and each has a varied interpretation. Some feel that the frosh are the lowest of all crawling vermin on the earth; others consider the freshman just a necessary evil which must be endured. Somewhere, somehow we should find the "happy medium."

We will have to admit that there are many new comers to our school that because they were the "Cream of the Crop" in high school forget that they may be anything else but just some more muck here at Poly. That was the reason for originating the initiation system in colleges, to assist the freshman in forgetting his high school ideas and helping him find his place in collegiate life.

That still is no excuse for unnecessary abuse of the frosh. Now that we are in a state college, we too should try to remember our position and forget some of our adolescent ideas of initiation. So far as we can see it has been kept pretty well under control this year.

One method we feel a frosh who has to do his bit of the singing in the cafe. Shining shoes, wearing dinks, the horse tonic when invited, the frosh's enforced respect for the upperclassmen, all are part of a swell tradition but some seem to forget where tradition ends and uncontrolled hogging begins.

So Soph's, it's all in your hands now, put the frosh in his respective place and we're all with you, but do it in the right way. Respect these informal initiations that are put on by some upperclassmen as we can see it has been kept pretty well under control this year.

New CAA Program To Begin In Middle of October

The flight training program will be conducted at the Polytechnic Airport, and will be under the direction of the California Aeronautics Authority. The program will be open to all students who meet the eligibility requirements.

Himmelman Welcomes Frosh At First Assembly

tion of freshmen and new students, made a brief . . . be seated.' "

"We welcome all our new class of spring and freedom to get the most out of Cal Poly by participation in extra curri­cular activities such as student pub­lications, athletics, and various meet­ings and functions." he said. "You must remember that there is just as much fun in the classroom as there is in the dormitory."

Wally Baldwin led the group in sing­ing of school songs and renewed the friendly feel between himself and the frosh, "a friend who is honest and makes you proud of yourself will always be your best friend and never go out to meet trouble. If you will just sit still, nine times out of ten, you will find yourself in a much better position than you were before."

Wellesley College has long traditions of fair play and sportsmanship, and the frosh were given the same opportunity to enjoy these activities and to make new friends. The purpose of intramural and minor sports is not merely to afford recreation and exercise for students, as it is usually considered to be, but to provide those students who are not qualified for major sports the opportunity to participate in athletic contests.

In intramural sports all students are eligible to participate no matter how tall or short, how many years they have been in school. The students are divided up into small teams from which the players are selected. All sports are played on a team basis, so that there is more interest and action. Football, basketball, and swimming will be the extent unless more interest and action is shown for some other sport.

Each team is divided into four sections, the first of which is the A men's basketball section, the second the B men's basketball section, the third the women's basketball section, and the fourth the swimming section.
