Search for Student Affairs Vice President to Begin Soon

A national search for a vice president for Student Affairs will begin in the next few weeks. A draft job description is being circulated to campus stakeholders for input, and a search firm will be identified shortly to assist. Preston Allen will continue to serve as interim vice president until a successor is in place. "I am very grateful for Preston's efforts," President Jeffrey D. Armstrong said. "He is doing double duty as executive director of campus housing and as interim vice president, and he has been thoughtful and diligent during this period. I especially appreciate his patience with us in getting this search under way. We are nearing the end of the process in searching for two new deans and a university police chief, so now we can turn our attention to this important post."

CSU Chancellor Charles B. Reed Announces Retirement

CSU Chancellor Charles B. Reed announced Thursday that he will retire once a successor is named, bringing to a close his nearly five-decade career in higher education. Reed has spent the last 14 years as chief executive officer of the 23-campus CSU system, which includes Cal Poly. As chancellor, Reed oversees a more than $5 billion annual budget that supports the education of 427,000 students systemwide and employs 44,000 faculty and staff members. "I have long known of Chancellor Reed's leadership in higher education nationally," Cal Poly President Jeffrey D. Armstrong said. "I have great respect for his unwavering advocacy on behalf of the CSU's mission. There is no advocate more passionate about the need for broad access to an affordable, high-quality college education than Chancellor Reed."

Reception Set for June 5 for College of Liberal Arts' Dean Linda H. Halisky

President Jeffrey D. Armstrong, Provost Kathleen Enz Finken and the College of Liberal Arts cordially invite the campus community to a reception honoring Linda H. Halisky. Since 2004, Halisky has served as the dean of the College of Liberal Arts; she will retire in June, returning to teach English classes in the fall. Her 28 years of service have included receiving the 1990-91 Cal Poly Distinguished Teaching Award, serving as chair of the English Department from 1994 to 2000 and directing Cal Poly's International Education and Programs from 2002-04. The reception is set for 3-5 p.m. Tuesday, June 5, in the Rossi Grand Lobby in the Performing Arts Center. For more information, contact Terry J. San Filippo at tsanfili@calpoly.edu. To RSVP, email mvaline@calpoly.edu by May 28.

Orientation Programs Refined Through Campuswide Collaboration

Student Affairs has announced refinements to its Orientation Programs for new students, developed through a collaborative effort involving 70 faculty members, staff members and students from around campus. The changes are aimed at creating an orientation process that better promotes success for new students, utilizes parents as partners, and addresses transitional issues that new Mustangs face. New students are urged to participate fully and follow all recommended steps as they acclimate to the university and community. Throughout the summer, students and families will get a taste of campus life and resources through a live video podcast, Poly Live. They will then visit the campus in July and August for a two-day Soar program and discover university expectations and traditions, learn about academic tools and advising, explore the San Luis Obispo community, and stay overnight in Poly Canyon Village. A special session for transfer students and families takes place in August (with a similar session for out-of-state and international students in September). An online course through Poly Learn is available to assist with questions related to block registration. During Week of Welcome in September, students meet their new living communities, learn about their major and academic advising, get involved in clubs and organizations, and discuss social issues and tips for a successful transition. More information about the refined Orientation Programs – including dates and reservation information – is available at <http://orientation.calpoly.edu>.

Faculty and Staff

Cal Poly Graphic Communication Professors to Teach, Speak in China

Two Cal Poly Graphic Communication professors have been selected to speak and to teach about digital printing in China in the coming months. Xiaoying Rong, associate professor of graphic communication, has been selected to deliver the keynote address at CIFEX|RemaxAsia 2012 and iPrint Expo in Zhuhai, China, a major conference and exposition in October. The event, sponsored by Recycling Times Magazine, is expected to draw approximately 10,000 people. Rong will speak on the transition from offset to digital printing taking place at printing and publishing facilities throughout the U.S. and China. Her presentation will be published in the print and online version of Recycling Times Magazine soon after the October event. And Penny Bennett, professor, associate dean of Cal Poly's College of Liberal Arts and recognized authority on digital printing, was selected to teach at Shanghai Printing and Publishing College in Shanghai for three weeks this summer. She will teach two courses: Introduction to Graphic Arts and Digital Preparation to approximately 160 students. This will be Bennett's second teaching stint in China. Read more here.

Retirements

Tom May

Tom May is retiring May 30 from Cal Poly after 33 years of service. He graduated from Cal Poly Ornamental Horticulture in 1977 and began working in Facility Services as a lead grounds worker in 1979. In 1995, he moved to the construction side of Facility Services and has served as a project manager for the past 17 years. He has enjoyed working with the campus community on many construction and renovation projects. Please join May to celebrate his retirement with cake and lemonade from 2-3:30 p.m. May 30 in the Kennedy Library Atrium.

Donna Davis

Donna Davis, academic advisor/Connections for Academic Success Program coordinator with Student Academic Services, is retiring after almost 30 years at Cal Poly. Davis began her Cal Poly career in 1979, working until 1981 as the recruiting coordinator for the Placement Center (now Career Services). She returned to campus in 1984 as a career advisor with Career Services. In 1998, she accepted a position as the coordinator of the Outreach and Retention Center. In collaboration with the Office of Admissions, she helped create Cal Poly's Partners Program. In 2000, the Outreach and Retention Center (now Connections for Academic Success) moved under Student Academic Services. Davis is also an EOP academic advisor and has advised several student clubs, served on numerous universitywide committees and served as co-chair of the Black Faculty and Staff Association. She earned her bachelor's degree in history and a master's in education with an emphasis in counseling and guidance at Cal Poly. Student Academic Services will host a retirement celebration honoring her from 1-3 p.m., Thursday, May 31, at the Albert B. Smith Alumni and Conference Center. The campus community is invited to attend.

Events

Cal Poly Arab Music Ensemble to Perform June 1

The Cal Poly Arab Music Ensemble will perform traditional and contemporary music and dance from the Eastern Mediterranean and larger Middle East region at 8 p.m. Friday, June 1, in the Spanos Theatre on campus. The ensemble and special guest artists will present definitive vocal and instrumental selections by some of the most celebrated composers and performers of Arab art and popular music, including Egyptian songs by Karim Mahmoud and Mohamed Abdelwahab and Lebanese songs by Nancy Ajram and the team of Fairouz and the Rahbani Brothers. A special feature will be the recitation of classic Arabic and Persian poems by Khalil Gibran and Jalal ad-Din Rumi, which will be incorporated into a musical suite displaying the interconnection of music and poetry. This diverse program will include a variety of selections rooted in traditional melodic modes with neutral tones as well as metric modes of 10 and 14 beats and performances by a chamber ensemble playing Turkish art music, a percussion dance piece, and a rock ballad with electric guitar. Guest artist Bahram Osqueezadeh will conduct Iranian music and play the santur. San Luis Obispo dance instructors Sandra Sarrouf and Jenna Mitchell will lead their troupe in several folkdances, and local percussionist Keeth CrowHawk Hershman will lead the drum section. For more information, visit the Music Department Web calendar.

Cal Poly Spring Band Concert on June 2 to Feature Music of the 21st Century

Cal Poly's Spring Band Concert, "Winds of Change: Music of the 21st Century," is set for 8 p.m. Saturday, June 2, in Harman Hall of the Performing Arts Center's Christopher Cohan Center. The annual spring event features the university's 55-member Wind Ensemble and 65-member Wind Orchestra performing a range of new works for wind band. The Wind Ensemble will perform Michael Daugherty's "Red Cape Tango," the final movement of his "Metropolis" symphony depicting the climactic battle between Superman and Bizarro. The Wind Orchestra will perform Julie Giroux's "Culloden," a three-movement piece about Scotland's Jacobite Rebellion. Other works on the program include Nathan Daughtrey's "Imagining World," Yosuke Fukuda's "Symphonic Dances," Frank Ticheli's "Rest," and James Syler's "Tattoo." Andy McMahan and Christopher Woodruff will conduct the wind bands, and the concert will introduce to the stage student conductor and music major Lauren Wasynczuk. She will lead the Wind Orchestra in two selections from Sergei Rachmaninov's choral masterwork "Vespers," arranged for wind band by William Johnson, emeritus director of Cal Poly bands. For more information, visit the Music Department Web calendar.
