A Letter To Sons,

Dear Hoys:

I've found, in reviewing my own experiences, that I am worried about the same ideas and for the same reasons that you are.

The world seems to be moving so fast that the older people can hardly keep up. I am not sure whether that is a desirable thing or not.

I was very impressed by the work of the World Student Christian Federation, which I heard about through your father.

I think that the American Student Union or the Student Christian Movement are worthwhile organizations.

But what is all this about? Is it to dictate our thinking and actions? And far be it for me to allow my life to be dictated by the thinking of others.

Too much freedom and leisure and vacation . . . without having to work is fun at least. There is satisfaction only when truly earned.

Maybe (and it is most plausible) life has been too easy for all of us. We are forgetting how and why it was founded.

All around us forces are changing the thinking and the maps of the world. What do they want to see in the world and what is the value of their action? I don't know.

If you have been told, for distance and among other things, that:

I. That you should do nothing to control the changes being made around you.

III. That you should not participate in political education for fear of being labeled as a "warmonger.

IV. That you should not participate in national activities.

What are you going to believe? Is this the real problem of youth? What is the thing that most worries the fathers of the sons? I don't know. That is the whole problem of this new world you have created. I know that you have not tried to dictate anything to either of us, but I see you are going to believe in something.

You have been told that 1938 was the most important year in history. You have been told that the World Student Christian Federation was founded. You have been told that the American Student Union was founded.

I have no idea whether any of this is true or not. But I do know that there is a crisis in youth.

You have been told that the responsibilities of youth to the whole problem of world youth. What is the one thing that most worries the fathers of fine sons? I'd say it is the Indifference of Youth to the whole problem of world youth. What is the one thing that most worries the fathers of fine sons? I don't know.

NEW EL MUSTANG
All set! It's here!

This new paper we promised, bragged about, over-wrote, and awaited over at last is out and ready to be sworn over and reOMATIC

But as you read that last piece remember that many months of hard work and planning is represented by that piece of wood.

This year we have endeavored to accomplish several things by this new edition of the student paper of the California State Polytechnic. First we have tried to bring this paper up to a size and standard that could justify the college. In the past we have not had the space to adequately cover all of the news from the various organizations on the campus. In addition to this we have sought to be more concrete in the columns such as personalities, music, campus activities from other colleges, and last but not least the "Snap" world.

The old form of clipped type has been done away with completely in preference to this new face type we are now seeing. The Polytechnic Californian has gone the same way and in place the familiar El Mustang.

MANY COOPERATE
This work was not done over night by any one person, it was the work of many.

The staff itself which is composed entirely of students of the Polytechnic have really come through this year in making El Mustang a success. David Carlfin, managing editor, and Bruce Divetsker, news editor, have done a great deal in reeling, assigning, and making up the pages of this paper. The financial manager of the staff and business manager, Joe Sheu, clenched things the manner in which the money was collected and recorded the ast year. Joe Yamasaki, sports editor, has covered the sports front faithfully and fully each week. We could go on and on enumerating the many writers that have contriuted so much to the paper—the many reporters that their names appear only in the most lead still provide the backbone of any paper and are indispensable.

Too much credit cannot be given to the advisers Robert Kennedy and Ben Press. Mr. Kennedy spent much time in advising and working with the staff in the writing and makeup of the paper this year and yet saw that it remained solely a student newspaper. In the past Mr. Press did "out of the line duty" to help overcome the mechanical difficulties that were encountered.

IN NEED OF MORE COOPERATION
While it seems that nearly every student of "Col. Cooper" we must mimic that same cull in adding that the student body, in our opinion, has been the least cooperative of the two groups: one from the students but from the faculty as well.

We can always use copy! We never have yet turned down any ad. Everyone is invited to give us this ease and work.
The new columns "This and That" has been added, and can be used for any opinion, thought, or experience that our American readers can contribute.

The result is that every student of the Polytechnic is invited to contribute to El Mustang. The Polytechnic Californian has gone the same way, and in place the familiar El Mustang.

THE PHANTOM
By Walter Dougherty

At the head of the Thursday column, The Phantom, posted at the Bunker, is a charming and dramatic picture. The Bunker, as you all know, is the student newspaper of the Polytechnic College where the student newspaper is to be found.

At this point in The Phantom a thought occurs to me. It is that the Polytechnic Californian is not the same as The Phantom, and yet they both have the same function. The Polytechnic Californian is a weekly newspaper, and The Phantom is a monthly magazine. The Polytechnic Californian is written by students, and The Phantom is written by faculty. The Polytechnic Californian is distributed to all students, and The Phantom is distributed to all faculty.

But there is one thing that The Phantom and The Polytechnic Californian have in common. They both are part of the Polytechnic College. They both serve the Polytechnic College. They both are important to the Polytechnic College.

90 Project Animals
Aquired By Meat Animals Division

Cal Poly's next major development is to acquire 90 Project Meat Animals. The animals will be used to study the effects of various feeds and feeding methods on meat quality. The animals will be housed in a new facility on the campus and will be fed a variety of different rations.

The project is funded by a grant from the National Institute of Health and is expected to provide valuable information on meat quality and feeding practices.

Once the project is underway, the animals will be monitored closely for changes in meat quality. The data collected will be used to improve feeding practices and to develop new methods for improving meat quality.

This project is just one of the many research activities being conducted at Cal Poly. The university is committed to advancing the field of meat science and to improving the quality of life for all Americans.

Letters To The Editor

We, the students of the California Polytechnic, have a right to be proud of our beautiful campus. The housing conditions and general care of the campus is managed by the capable hands of Fred Bradly & Co., Inc. There is no need to be in the way of many and a better system has been introduced. The new housing complex will have full-time janitorial service, emergency heating, and constant supervision.

The students are being heard. The housing conditions are being improved. The students are being heard. The housing conditions are being improved. The students are being heard. The housing conditions are being improved.
