Thoroughbred horse project to be dedicated

Six outstanding mares given; ceremony Sunday at stable

The fourth of the six Thoroughbred mares which have been acquired by the California Polytechnic students arrived at the university yesterday in time to take part in the dedication ceremony Sunday afternoon, it was announced by Lyman Brinkley, head of the animal husbandry department.

The mares were presented by the American Society of Agricultural Engineers—Calif. Section, and are being housed at the Isalis Ranch. The ceremonies were sponsored by the student division of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers and the National Agriculture Club. The mares will be displayed throughout the year, and are expected to be of value as an educational tool and for increasing the prestige of the university.

Harpo' Bizarre

When I was home over Thanksgiving, I bought myself a pair of shoes. I met some friends at a shoe store where I had an appointment with the salesgirl, and she went ahead and bought me a pair of shoes. She said, "Would you like me to try them on?" And I said, "No, I think I'll try them on myself." She said, "Well, okay." And I tried them on and they didn't fit. She said, "Oh, I'm sorry." And I said, "No, it wasn't my fault. It's the shoes' fault." She said, "Well, that's okay." And I said, "Yes, definitely." The shoes look very nice. I like them and I plan to wear them. I think they will be very fashionable.

One night over Christmas, I was out on the town and I ran into a friend of mine. We started talking and I said, "How are you?" And he said, "I'm doing well, thank you." And I said, "I'm doing well, too." And he said, "Well, I'm just glad to see you." And I said, "Me too." And we both went our separate ways.
