The British Ministry of Agriculture is urging Britons to eat plenty of carrots to overcome the prevalent "blackout blindness," an unpleasant form of night blindness, believed to be due to a deficiency of vitamin A.

A New York Times correspondent last week visited P. G. Wodehouse, the 70-year-old British novelist residing in a Persian palace, and found him well and happy. Getting well on with his captures for testing special housing privileges, Wodehouse was given a private room in which he lived. The room was designed to be an isolated asylum and the room had been published entirely. His memory was in writing a book about American sports.

THE CALIFORNIA POLYTECHNIC EL MUSTANG

THE PHANTOM

Come Homeing

By John Christensen

Friday, the twenty-first day of December, 1941, in the presence of witnesses, the 1942 El Mustang was gazumped as the new official organ of the California Polytechnic State College. This is the last step in the consolidation of the administration and building of the new El Mustang. As a result, the Phantom no longer exists as a separate entity. The new El Mustang will be published under the title of The California Polytechnic El Mustang. All subscriptions for the new El Mustang will be handled by the new circulation manager, Mike Janigan. The Phantom will cease publication immediately.

New NYA to be built on Cal Poly campus of modern design

NYA will be built on Cal Poly campus of modern design. Students will work on the project, and it will be completed in 60 days. The project involves the construction of a new facility that will serve as the nucleus of the new National Youth Administration. The building will be designed to accommodate the needs of the NYA, and it will be constructed using modern materials and techniques. The completed NYA facility will provide the necessary space for the NYA staff to carry out their duties, and it will provide a modern and efficient environment for the students who will work on the project. The project will be managed by a team of experts, and it will be completed in a timely manner to ensure the success of the NYA and its mission.
