Open Forums on Semester Review Task Force Report Planned for January

As part of the process of exploring whether Cal Poly should convert to semesters, the Semester Review Task Force submitted its recommendations to President Armstrong in December. The full report can be read online.

Next in this process, the Academic Senate and the ASI Board of Directors will review the report at their respective meetings in January. In addition, President Armstrong will host two open forums for the campus:
- Open Forum (staff focused): 2 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 16, the Pavilion of the Christopher Cohan Performing Arts Center (Note: This is a new date.)
- General Campus Open Forum (all): 2 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 30, the Pavilion of the Christopher Cohan Performing Arts Center

The task force's report and these campus discussions will assist Armstrong with Cal Poly's ongoing involvement in the CSU's systemwide deliberations on semester conversion. In a note to the campus last month, Armstrong said he will continue to keep the campus informed as the process continues and that he plans to submit his recommendations to CSU Chancellor Timothy White by the end of winter quarter.

Paul Orfalea to Speak on Campus Jan. 28

Entrepreneur and philanthropist Paul Orfalea will speak from 2:10 to 3 p.m., Monday, Jan. 28, as part of the Orfalea College of Business Distinguished Speaker Series. "A Conversation with Paul Orfalea" will be in Spanos Theatre. Orfalea will be joined by Jon York, professor of entrepreneurship and co-founder of the Cal Poly Center for Innovation & Entrepreneurship. The event is free and open to the public.

Orfalea founded Kinko's (now FedEx Office) in 1970 and built it into the world's leading business supply services chain with more than 1,700 branches worldwide. In 2001, Orfalea and the Orfalea Family Foundation provided an endowment to further the strategic plan of Cal Poly's College of Business to become one of the nation's premier undergraduate and graduate programs. The foundation also generously endowed Cal
Poly’s Orfalea Family and ASI Children’s Center, which provides quality early childcare and education to local children. More information on Orfalea’s Jan. 28 talk is available online.

Second Annual Cal Poly Diversity and Inclusiveness Colloquium Set for Feb. 5

The second annual Cal Poly Diversity and Inclusiveness Colloquium will take place from 5:30 to 7:15 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 5, in Harman Hall in the Performing Arts Center. A reception with exhibits will follow in the Rossi Main Lobby. Attendance is free and open to all. This year’s colloquium focuses on diversity and inclusiveness. In planning, the university has consulted with the San Luis Obispo Chamber of Commerce’s Diversity Committee to involve the local business community in a discussion on how Cal Poly and the city can develop inviting climates for people of all backgrounds, including race, ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation, class and ability. Find out more on the upcoming colloquium online.

Jan. 22 to Follow Monday Class Schedule

Faculty and staff are advised that in order to comply with Academic Senate resolution AS-635-05, one of the two Monday academic holidays this quarter will be made up by following a Monday class schedule on Tuesday, Jan. 22. Classes, club meetings, etc. that are normally scheduled in classrooms on Tuesday will not be offered Jan. 22, because of a Monday schedule being followed that day. Classes will resume with a normal schedule Wednesday, Jan. 23. If you have questions, refer to the Academic Calendar.

Retirements

Susan Opava

Susan Opava, dean of Research and Graduate Programs, retired effective Dec. 28 after 19 years at Cal Poly. She was responsible for facilitating growth and development in research and graduate programs, including oversight of appropriate administrative policies and procedures. Opava managed the development of numerous new graduate programs as well as university centers and institutes. She also expanded the Research Scholars in Residence program to 10 active scholars. She was committed to supporting faculty in their research efforts, ensuring that they had the resources and guidance they needed to conduct and expand their research programs. Opava achieved many accomplishments during her tenure on campus. Under her direction, extramural funding grew from $8 million in 1992-93 to a high of $29 million in 2008-09 ($25 million in 2011-12). She provided instrumental leadership in the development of the Cal Poly Technology Park, which opened in June 2010. Opava was a founding member and director of the California Central Coast Research Partnership (C3RP) and played a crucial role in the development of policies and programs for Technology Transfer and Intellectual Property. In 2009, Opava was honored by the Pacific Coast Business Times as Businesswoman of the Year. She also received the Susan Dressler Women in Administrative Leadership Award from Cuesta College in 2010. Throughout her career, she served on and chaired numerous university committees while also being active at the CSU level. In addition to her university involvement, Opava was a member of several community organizations including the Economic Vitality Corporation, the San Luis Obispo Chamber of Commerce, and the Chamber of Commerce Economic Development Subcommittee. The university appreciates her level of commitment and service and wishes her the best in her future endeavors.

Cal Poly Appoints New Director of Government and Community Relations

Cal Poly has named Justin Wellner as its director for government and community relations. Wellner will join Cal Poly in February, working in the University Advancement Division to advise campus administrators on policy matters and promote awareness and goodwill among the university’s governmental representatives at the community, state, and federal levels. He is currently serving as the government relations director for CSU Monterey Bay. “Justin’s background and experience at the federal, state and community levels will be an asset to Cal Poly,” said Deborah A. W. Read, Cal Poly’s vice president for university advancement. “Cal Poly is an accomplished institution and I am pleased that Justin will represent us throughout the country to advance the university. We take our community relationships seriously, and I am especially pleased that Justin will represent Cal Poly in our local region. We look forward to continuing to cultivate partnerships on the Central Coast.” Read more about Wellner’s appointment online.

Administration and Finance Division Announces Organizational Changes

After nearly 38 years of exemplary service to Cal Poly, Rick Ramirez, associate vice president for finance, retired in December. Ramirez added value each day he was with Cal Poly, and his contributions will be missed. As a result of his retirement, Lorrie Leetham has been named assistant vice president for fiscal services and auxiliary reporting, and Karen Webb has been named associate vice president for administration and finance. Leetham will continue to be responsible for all fiscal operations including accounts payable, payroll, student financial services, general accounting, property and financial reporting. She also will assume responsibility for audit coordination and oversight of auxiliary financial reporting. Webb will assume oversight responsibility for the offices of Budget and Analytic Business Services as well as Contracts and Procurement.

Other organizational changes in Administration and Finance include:
- Matt Roberts has moved from director of special projects to director of administrative compliance services. In this new position, Roberts will continue to have responsibility for Campus Administrative Policies and will assume responsibility for the Emergency Operations Center, business continuity planning, record retention practices and campus Public Records Act requests.
- Dru Zachmeyer, who has been serving as interim director of contracts and procurement, has been promoted to the position permanently.
- Dave Carroll, campus risk manager, will continue in that role but will now report to Dave Ragsdale, director of environmental health and safety, reporting through Mark Hunter, associate vice president for facilities. Workers’ Compensation operations also will be moved under Environmental Health and Safety in an effort to streamline risk-related services.

An updated organizational chart can be found online.

CAFES Associate Dean Named Executive Director of CSU Agricultural Research Institute

Mark Shelton, associate dean of the College of Agriculture, Food & Environmental Sciences, was recently named executive director of the California State University (CSU) Agricultural Research Institute (ARI). ARI is a comprehensive applied agricultural and environmental research program partnering the CSU’s colleges of agriculture with California’s agriculture and natural resources industries and allied business communities. “Industry and higher education have benefited tremendously from the partnership,” said David Wehner, dean of the Cal Poly College of Agriculture, Food & Environmental Sciences.

“Since the program requires industry to match ARI research dollars, our faculty and students have partnered with cutting-edge companies to improve crop and livestock health, develop novel ways to prolong shelf life of fresh produce, reduce water loss in irrigation systems, and analyze regulatory costs to farmers.” Shelton has served as Cal Poly’s Campus Coordinator since ARI’s inception in 1999. Read more about Shelton’s appointment online.

Academic Affairs Announces Two Interim Appointments

Academic Affairs has announced two interim appointments: Bradford Anderson is interim vice provost of research and industry relations, as of Jan. 7. Academic Affairs Announces Two Interim Appointments

Academic Affairs has announced two interim appointments: Bradford Anderson is interim vice provost of research and industry relations, as of Jan. 7. Dean Wendt will become interim dean of research effective Jan. 21. Wendt will report to Anderson. These positions are a result of the Academic Affairs restructuring in 2012 that separated administrative oversight of industry relations and sponsored research operations from the administration of graduate education. Graduate education, now under the direction of Richard Savage, reports to Brian Tietje, vice provost for international, graduate and extended education.

Anderson is associate dean in the Orfalea College of Business and will continue to support the college during this transitional period. He is performing the role of vice provost in an interim capacity while a national search is conducted, and he will not be a candidate in the recruitment. Anderson brings many years of private industry experience to this position, including extensive work in the areas of corporate law, venture capital financing, securities law, and intellectual property licensing. Prior to joining Cal Poly in 2006, he was General Counsel (Chief Attorney) of Samsung Semiconductor (USA), Inc. (Silicon Valley), and previously served as senior attorney of Mitsubishi Electronics America, Inc. (Silicon Valley).

Wendt is currently Associate Dean in the College of Science and Mathematics and Director of the University's Center for Coastal Marine Sciences. He will continue to support the college while undertaking his new interim role. Wendt brings a rich history of teaching and research focusing on marine ecology and conservation to his new post. He is an alumnus of Cal Poly where he received his undergraduate degree in biology. He earned his Ph.D. from Harvard University. Since arriving at Cal Poly as an assistant professor in 2002, he has procured more than $8 million dollars in external funding from federal, state and private entities.

Statistical Consulting Service Available for Winter Quarter

The Statistics Department will provide a statistical consulting service to the university community during fall quarter to facilitate research design and data analysis in a wide variety of disciplines. The service is intended to support projects and research by Cal Poly faculty and staff and provide assistance for students working on senior projects and graduate research. John Walker will serve as the main consultant. Heather Smith also will consult. They will be available to advise on data collection, experimental design, and analysis of research projects. In addition, they will be available to lead seminars or tutorials on requested topics and offer advice on various computer packages available at Cal Poly. If there is a special area of statistical inference of interest to a group in your department, contact Walker or Smith to arrange possible lectures on the subject. Walker can be reached at 6-7128 or jwalker@calpoly.edu. His office is in Room 113 of the Faculty Offices East building. His consulting walk-in hours will be 1:10-2 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesdays and 2:10-4 p.m. Fridays. Smith can be reached at ext. 6-6128 or hsmith@calpoly.edu. Her office is Room 356 in the Kinesiology Building (43A). Her walk-in hours will be 12:10-1 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays. Appointments outside those hours can be made by contacting them directly. Faculty, staff and students interested in utilizing the consulting service are encouraged to access the Statistics Department website for additional information – including what you should bring to a consulting session.

UPD Winter Bike Auction Continues Today

The University Police Department is holding the second day of its winter quarter bike auction today, Jan. 16. Bikes will be on display from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in front of the old campus police station (Bldg. 74) on North Perimeter Road. Staff members are encouraged to place a bid at the silent auction for abandoned bicycles that have been unclaimed over the past six months. Minimum opening bid is $5. Winners will be notified to pick up their bikes Jan. 17 and 18. Proceeds of the auction will benefit the campus bike safety program. For additional details, contact Kathleen Cook in UPD Parking and Events at ext. 6-6675 or kcook@calpoly.edu.

University Art Gallery Exhibiting Jay Vigon’s ‘Swimming Upstream’

Cal Poly’s University Art Gallery is exhibiting “Swimming Upstream,” showcasing the cultural collisions, commerce and interplay of 30 years of graphic design, illustration, photography and creativity by Jay Vigon. The collection explores Vigon’s academic foundation and the artistic challenges of “swimming upstream” to remain uncompromising, unique and in-demand on a global scale for over three decades. Loosely divided into three segments - Then, Now, and Next - the gallery installation will highlight the concepts and interplay of techniques by hand and by technology to achieve and maintain a word-class roster of clients and commissions. The public is invited to a lecture and reception for the artist at 5 p.m. Friday, Jan. 18, at the University Art Gallery, in the Dexter Building, Room 171. The exhibit is open Tuesday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. The exhibit is open to the public and admission is free. For more information, contact Jeff Van Kleeck, University Art Gallery coordinator, at ext. 6-1571 or jvanklee@calpoly.edu. Visit the gallery online at www.artgallery.calpoly.edu for more information.

The Data Studio Presents Military Applications of GIS with Mark Belrose on Jan. 24

The Data Studio in the Kennedy Library will feature Mark Belrose discussing military applications of GIS on Thursday, Jan. 24. Belrose is chief of the Western Range National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency (NGA) Support Branch at Vandenberg Air Force Base. The NGA is the nation’s primary source of geospatial intelligence, or GEOINT. As a Department of Defense combat support agency and a member of the U.S. Intelligence Community, the National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency collects remotely sensed data, physical geography, land cover and cultural data around the world. This data helps its mission partners visualize the world, support the safe navigation of land, air and sea, and provide timely, relevant and accurate geospatial intelligence to support the U.S. in national defense and during natural disasters. The Jan. 24 event will run 11 a.m. to noon in the Data Studio (Room 111C). Faculty, students and community members are welcome. More information is available online.

Cal Poly Arts to Present Herndon Spillman on the Forbes Pipe Organ Jan. 25

American concert organist Herndon Spillman will perform an expansive program spanning 300 years of French glory on the Forbes Pipe Organ on Friday, Jan. 25, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center’s Cohan Center. The event is presented by Cal Poly Arts. In demand as a recitalist both here and abroad, Spillman has earned an international reputation for his interpretations of the works of French composers. The Forbes recital will include “Postlude pour l’Office de complies” by Jehan Alain; “Choral-Improvisation sur le ‘Victime Paschali” by Charles Tournemire, reconstructed by Maurice Duruflé; Nicolas de Grigny’s “Pange Lingua in tallae à 4;” César Franck’s “Choral en la mineur;” and Duruflé’s “Suite, Op. 5.” Spillman is coordinator of the organ program in the School of Music at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge. He records on the Titanic label. Student and adult tickets for the performance range from $17 to $33 and may be purchased in advance at the Performing Arts Center Ticket Office on Grand Avenue from noon to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. The Ticket Office is also open at noon on performance days. For more ticket information, call ext. 6-4849 or order online.

Cal Poly Author to Discuss Book on Music and the California Missions Jan. 25

Cal Poly music professor and author Craig Russell will discuss his new book, “From Serra to Sancho: Music and Pageantry in the California Missions,” from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Friday, Jan. 25, in the Kennedy Library, Room 111H. The event is a part of the library’s Conversations with Cal Poly Authors series. Russell’s book explores the historical, cultural and stylistic aspects of California mission music during the late 18th and early 19th centuries. His talk will be followed by a question-and-answer session moderated by history Professor Emeritus Dan Krieger. Conversations with Cal Poly Authors is an ongoing series of informal talks hosted at the Kennedy Library and inspired by recent Cal Poly authors’ work. The event is free and open to the public. More information is available online.

Early Music Ensemble, Faculty, Professionals To Present ‘Bach in the Mission III’ Jan. 26
The Cal Poly Early Music Ensemble and some members of the Cal Poly Symphony will present "Bach in the Mission III" at 8 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 26, in Mission San Luis Obispo de Tolosa. The student ensemble will be joined by members of the Cal Poly music faculty and professional musicians from Southern California. The program, featuring works by J. S. Bach, includes Cantata No. 84, "Ich bin vergnügt mit meinem Glücke" ("I am content with my fortune") for solo soprano; Oboe Concerto in D minor, BWV 1059R; "Brandenburg" Concerto No. 3 in G major, BWV 1048; and Motet No. 3, "Jesu, meine Freude" ("Jesus, my joy"), BWV 227. Tickets to the concert are $14 for the public, $12 for senior citizens, and $9 for students. For more information, call the Music Department at ext. 6-2406.

The Data Studio Presents Navigating OpenStreetMap with Joe Larson on Jan. 31

The Kennedy Library's Data Studio will present a Jan. 31 talk with Joe Larson on Navigating OpenStreetMap. Larson is a GIS specialist with Cal Fire. He will explain how the agency uses OpenStreetMap (OSM), an open access geographic information system (GIS) resource, to create detailed maps of the local community that include various assets and structures. OSM also includes mobile applications that allow users to contribute data, and both have wide teaching applications. The Jan. 31 event will run 11 a.m. to noon in the Data Studio (Room 111C). Faculty, students and community members are welcome. More information is available online.

Athletics Takes on Heart Disease Jan. 31

Thursday, Jan. 31 is National Wear Red Day at Cal Poly. Cal Poly Athletics encourages all faculty and staff to wear red and to encourage students to wear red for this all-day event. Our department's staff and students are committed to the health and well being of our university, and we want everyone to know more about heart health. To celebrate the 10th anniversary of the American Heart Association efforts, we will also host a RED OUT women's basketball game at 7 p.m. on Jan. 31. In 2003, the American Heart Association and the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute took action against heart disease, which claims the lives of hundreds of thousands of American women each year. Heart disease remains the No. 1 killer of women each year. For more information about the AHA, visit http://www.goredforwomen.org/. To purchase T-shirts for the RED OUT, contact Stacia Momburg at ext. 6-0280 or smomburg@calpoly.edu. All proceeds benefit the American Heart Association.
