Background Statement: Cal Poly has recently redoubled its efforts to attract increasing numbers of ethnic minority and female students, and it is in many respects succeeding in such efforts. However, additional innovative methods must be developed to also attract applications from ethnic minorities and females for employment in all categories at Cal Poly.

Such efforts at recruitment in the recent past, while sincere, have met unfortunately with only limited success. For example, in responding to Cal Poly's statement on Affirmative Action in its Self-Study Accreditation Report, the 1989-1990 WASC Visiting Accrediting Team said, "Cal Poly seems stifled in its efforts to achieve success in recruitment and retention of minority and female faculty members. For example, in 1974, Cal Poly had at least six black, female faculty members. Today, it has none" (SI-17). It also appears that the number of Chicano professors will drop from ten in 1989 to perhaps as low as six in Fall, 1991. Similar considerations of the need to attract and retain women of any ethnic or racial background are paramount to provide for an educational environment conducive to academic success for both male and female students and students of a variety of ethnic and racial backgrounds.

Subject: Academic Senate Resolution AS-360-91 -- Job Announcements

This will constitute my acceptance of Academic Senate Resolution AS-360-91 regarding job announcements for faculty and administrative positions. I agree that additional language should be included for the purpose of encouraging applications from persons belonging to underrepresented groups.

By way of a copy of this memorandum to Anna McDonald, Director of Affirmative Action, I am asking her to work with the Personnel Department to develop several options for appropriate language that is intended to attract candidates -- for both faculty and administrative positions -- who would add to the diversity of Cal Poly's cultural environment.

I would like to re-emphasize my commitment to the principles illustrated by the Academic Senate resolution. I am pleased that a majority of the Senate has voted to encourage applications from members of underrepresented groups. I will continue to work with consultative committees in their efforts to recruit ethnic minorities and women for faculty and administrative positions.
This will acknowledge your memo of May 14 with which you forwarded the resolutions adopted by the Academic Senate at its May 14 meeting. Resolutions AS-357-91/IC, dealing with the Academic Calendar Processing, and AS-358-91/C&BC, dealing with the Distinguished Teaching Awards Committee, are resolutions dealing with the manner in which the Academic Senate operates and need no further action on my part.

Resolutions AS-359-91/IC, dealing with Academic Probation and Disqualification; AS-361-91, dealing with U.S. Ethnic Pluralism Program; and AS-362, dealing with a Proposal to Establish an Agricultural Safety Institute, have been forwarded to Vice President for Academic Affairs Robert Koob for his assessment and recommendation.

AS-360-91, regarding a Resolution on Job Announcement Recommendation, has been forwarded to Vice President Koob, Affirmative Action Director Anna McDonald and Director of Personnel and Employee Relations Jan Pieper for review and recommendation.

We will respond to the Academic Senate regarding these resolutions as soon as the review has been completed.
