MINUTES OF
the Academic Senate
Tuesday, June 2, 1998
UU220, 3:00-5:00pm

[This is a continuation meeting from the May 19/May 26, 1998 agenda. Another meeting is scheduled for June 9 to conclude the Resolution on General Education 2000, Resolution on Cal Poly Diversity Statement, and Resolution on the Academic Value of Diversity.]

Preparatory: the meeting was opened at 3:10pm.

I. Minutes: none.

II. Communications and Announcements:
Next year’s senators were introduced by the college/unit caucus chairs.

The following remarks were given by the Chair to the Senate body: “I want to remind you that our agenda for the next meetings will deal with resolutions related to issues that are, for some, controversial and uncomfortable. Last week one of our colleagues, Professor Don Ryujin, presented the result of one of our own task forces in the form of two resolutions for consideration by this body. Professor Ryujin was subsequently met with comments from some senators that can only be described as gratuitous, uncivil, belittling, and disrespectful; filled with polarized rhetoric and the trivialization of arguments that distract attention from the advancement of learned discourse and the common good.

I have drafted a letter of apology to Professor Ryujin on behalf the institution of the Academic Senate for the behavior of some of its members. You will all receive a copy of that letter. I remind you that the effectiveness, relevance, and legacy of the Academic Senate is very much determined by the language and behavior we use to communicate with our colleagues and our students. I will not hesitate to call out of order any member (or guest) who does not exhibit the courtesy and respect that their standing as senators demands and that all our colleagues deserve.”

III. Reports:
A. Academic Senate Chair:
B. President’s Office:
C. Provost’s Office:
D. Statewide Senators:
E. CFA Campus President:
F. Staff Council Representative:
G. ASI Representative:
H. Other:

IV. Consent Agenda:

V. Business Items:
E. Resolution on Faculty Dispute Process: second reading. The resolution was M/S/P (27-11-1).

F. Resolution on Program Efficiency and Flexibility: second reading. The following motion was accepted as a friendly amendment to the penultimate Resolved clause: “RESOLVED: That the self-review consider whether the elimination of recent changes in mode-and-level regulations now make it possible to offer certain upper-division courses at the lower-division level; and be it further..."

The main resolution as modified above was M/S/P (26-14-0).

G. Resolution on Experimental Courses: second reading. (May 28, 1998 version.) The resolution was M/S/P (34-5-1).

H. Resolution on Departure from University Grading Policy: second reading. The resolution was M/S/F (16-19-2).

VI. Discussion Item(s):

VII. Adjournment: The meeting was adjourned at 5:00pm.

SOME COURSE DEFINITIONS
(to accompany the Resolutions on Experimental Courses)

Experimental courses provide an opportunity for experimentation in education without delays that are necessary before new courses and programs can be reviewed for inclusion in the university catalog.

Experimental courses are submitted to the department chair and college dean for their recommendations, and to the Vice President for Academic Affairs for approval. Approval is for a maximum of two years.

Experimental courses are designated with an “X” and appear first under a department’s offerings in the class schedule. The particular subtitle for each X course appears in the schedule and on the student’s transcript. X courses do not appear in the catalog.

********************************************************************************

Selected Advanced Topics courses (470s or 570s) are generic courses available in all academic programs. The course descriptions and prerequisite (consent of instructor) for most departments are identical, regardless of ENGL or ENGR. Because the 470/570 courses are so vague and open-ended, a specific and complete course proposal needs to be developed and approved for each subtopic (same paperwork as for a new course).

Selected advanced topics courses need approval from the department curriculum committee, the department chair, the college curriculum committee, the college dean, and the Vice President for Academic Affairs. Approval is for one quarter only.

The particular subtopic of each selected advanced topic course appears in the class schedule and on the student’s transcript. The generic course description appears in the catalog.

Variable Content/Focused Subtopic Courses are different from 470/570s because they have a more focused subtopic than the generic, open-ended courses. For example, ENGL 439 Significant British Writers could focus on Milton one quarter, and on Virginia Woolf the next quarter.

Particular subtopics for focused subtopic courses need approval from the department chair, the college dean, and the Vice President for Academic Affairs. The particular subtopic is valid for the catalog life of the course.

The particular subtopic of each focused subtopic course appears in the class schedule and on the student’s transcript. A more general—but still somewhat specific—course description appears in the catalog. For example, ENGL 439 Significant British Writers:
Selected British writers, as individual writers or in groups.
REVISED RESOLUTION ON PROGRAM EFFICIENCY AND FLEXIBILITY

WHEREAS, Programs have the responsibility to ensure that all units required for the degree are a necessary part of the degree; and

WHEREAS, Programs should increase flexibility within the major where this can be done without compromising the quality of the program; and

WHEREAS, Programs should facilitate articulation for community-college transfer students where this can be done without compromising the quality of the program; and

WHEREAS, The move to 4-unit courses and the implementation of a new General Education program make this an opportune time for programs to review their curricula; and

WHEREAS, Programs that can demonstrate to the Chancellor, the CSU Trustees, and the California legislature that they have engaged in “good housekeeping” will thereby have a stronger justification for requiring the unit totals and particular courses they do require; be it therefore

RESOLVED, That all programs undertake a self-review to determine if the units they require are a necessary part of the degree; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the self-review include an examination of the possibility of increasing the number of free electives allowed within the program; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the self-review consider whether recent changes in mode-and-level regulations now make it possible to offer certain upper-division courses at the lower-division level; and be it further RESOLVED, That each program’s self-review be submitted as a report to the Curriculum Committee and the Program Review and Improvement Committee. The role of this committee is to be advisory only, working with programs to help them achieve efficiency and flexibility in ways that best suit the individual program. Any program that has already done a recent self-review (for example, for an accrediting body) could submit a summary of that review focused on the issues of program efficiency and flexibility.

Proposed by the Academic Senate
Curriculum Committee
May 19, 1998
Background: Faculty members have agreed to be civil in their interaction with other faculty as noted in the Cal Poly Faculty Handbook based on the Association of University Professors Code of Ethics. At the present time there is no faculty process to mediate such disputes of civility. Civility matters have adversely affected departmental functioning, personnel decisions, improper labeling of colleagues, email dialog, the copying of remarks, grant application awards, etc. Some actions stemming from a lack of civility in faculty matters include: improper labeling of colleagues, improper personal attacks, personal attacks via email with several faculty copied, grant application awards jeopardized by personal attacks, portions of a department's faculty not talking with other portions of the department's faculty, dysfunctional departments, and others.

WHEREAS, University faculty have agreed to act in a collegial manner to one another; and

WHEREAS, There have been a number of faculty disputes where a process has been perceived as absent, or has been viewed by faculty as unfair; unacceptable, or ineffective; therefore, be it

RESOLVED: That a faculty dispute process be established consistent with the attached document utilizing informal solutions first and then formal solutions; and, be it further

RESOLVED: That the a Faculty Ethics Committee be established consistent with the attached document; and, be it further

RESOLVED: That the Faculty Ethics Committee be charged with creating procedures to implement a faculty dispute process consistent with the attached document.

Proposed by: Faculty Affairs Committee and the Ethics Task Force
Date: April 21, 1998
Please note that this document was updated from the copy in your May 19th agenda to add a more recent AAUP Statement and adding a section on informal/formal processes.

FACULTY DISPUTE PROCESS

Faculty Conduct
California Polytechnic State University at San Luis Obispo maintains high ethical standards for all faculty. In particular, the university endorses the principles set forth in the following Statement on Professional Ethics by the American Association of University Professors (June, 1987):

Statement on Professional Ethics

Introduction
From its inception, the American Association of University Professors has recognized that membership in the academic profession carries with it special responsibilities. The Association has consistently affirmed these responsibilities in major policy statements, providing guidance to the professor in his utterances as a citizen, in the exercise of his responsibilities to students, and his conduct when undertaking research. The Statement on Professional Ethics that follows, necessarily presented in terms of the ideal, sets forth those general standards that serve as a reminder of the variety of obligations assumed by all members of the profession.

In the enforcement of ethical standards, the academic profession differs from those of law and medicine, whose associations act to assure the integrity of members engaged in private practice. In the academic profession the individual institution of higher learning provide this assurance and so should normally handle question concerning propriety of conduct within its own framework by reference to a faculty group.

Civility between faculty members is a matter of faculty responsibility.

Statement on Professional Ethics

1. Professors, guided by a deep conviction of the worth and dignity of the advancement of knowledge, recognize the special responsibilities placed upon them. Their primary responsibility to their subject is to seek and to state the truth as they see it. To this end professors devote their energies to developing and improving their scholarly competence. They accept the obligation to exercise critical self-discipline and judgment in using, extending, and transmitting knowledge. They practice intellectual honesty. Although professors may follow subsidiary interests, these interests must never seriously hamper or compromise their freedom of inquiry.

2. As teachers, professors encourage the free pursuit of learning in their students. They hold before them the best scholarly and ethical standards of their discipline. Professors demonstrate respect for the student as an individual and adhere to their proper roles as intellectual guide and counselor. Professors make every reasonable effort to foster honest academic conduct and to assure that their evaluations of students reflects each student’s true merit. They respect the confidential nature of the relationship between professor and student. They avoid any exploitation, harassment, or discriminatory treatment.
of students. They acknowledge significant academic or scholarly assistance from them. They protect their academic freedom.

3. As colleagues, professors have obligations that derive from common membership in the community of scholars. Professors do not discriminate against or harass colleagues. They respect and defend the free inquiry of associates. In the exchange of criticism and ideas professors show due respect for the opinions of others. Professors accept their share of faculty responsibilities for the governance of their institution.

4. As members of an academic institution, professors seek above all to be effective teachers and scholars. Although professors observe the stated regulations of the institution, provided the regulations do not contravene academic freedom, they maintain their right to criticize and seek revision.
Professors give due regard to their paramount responsibilities within their institution in determining the amount and character of work done outside it.
When considering the interruption or termination of their service, professors recognize the effect of their decision upon the program of the institution and give due notice of their intentions.

5. As members of their community, professors have the rights and obligations of other citizens. Professors measure the urgency of these obligations in the light of their responsibilities to their subject, to their students, to their profession, and to their institution. When they speak or act as a private persons they avoid creating the impression that they speak or act for their college or university. As citizens engaged in a profession that depends upon freedom for its health and integrity, professors have a particular obligation to promote conditions of free inquiry and to further public understanding of academic freedom.

Examples of lack of faculty civility may include the following: faculty deliberately ignoring other faculty; a faculty member interrupting office conversations; personal attacks in singular, group, or E-mail settings; allegations of hidden agendas or implications that a person is out to get them; an unwillingness to work with another faculty member for no specified reasons.

Informal Solution
Informal efforts to resolve a lack of faculty civility are encouraged. Faculty talking with faculty is the most direct method. Expert staff in the Employee Assistance Program are ready and willing to negotiate, mediate, or utilize other dispute resolution techniques to assist in civility issues. A third party may be a necessary catalyst for resolution. These services are available and without charge to faculty members.

Formal Solution
Informal efforts may not solve civility issues, and the use of more formal means may be felt necessary by one or more faculty members. In order that the faculty of California Polytechnic State University at San Luis Obispo be responsible for faculty civility, it is recommended that the Academic Senate create a Faculty Ethics Committee. The purpose of this committee is to investigate and resolve disputes brought by members of the university faculty against colleagues. The Ethics Committee shall consist of 7 tenured faculty members appointed by the Executive Committee of the Academic Senate for a two-year term and representing each of the colleges and Professional Consultative Services. The Faculty Ethics Committee chair shall be elected by members of the committee. The committee shall develop procedures appropriate to its functions and shall make periodic reports of its activities to the Academic Senate and to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs.

Authority of Faculty Ethics Committee
1. Investigation and Resolution of Disputes:
For all disputes that fall within its jurisdiction, the Faculty Ethics Committee shall have the authority to conduct an investigation of the dispute and to make recommendations to the Provost. The Faculty Ethics Committee shall have the authority to determine whether the dispute should be resolved by a formal hearing. The committee may, at its discretion, mediate disputes in cases where the mediation appears likely to provide a resolution or to refer to appropriate dispute resolution resources available by the university (e.g. Employee Assistance Program).

2. Jurisdiction:
   A. Matters Within the Faculty Ethics Committee's Jurisdiction
      (1) Violations of AAUP Code of Conduct,
      (2) Enforcement by the university of regulations or statutes governing the conduct of faculty members not overseen by other jurisdictions,
      (3) Other disputes that may arise between faculty members that seriously impairs their ability to function effectively as a member(s) of the university.

   B. Matters Excluded from the Faculty Ethics Committee's Jurisdiction
      (1) Disputes in which the relief requested is beyond the power of the university to grant
      (2) Disputes being considered by another dispute resolution entity or under another procedure within the university (e.g. sexual harassment, amorous relationships, etc.)
      (3) Disputes being heard or litigated before agencies or courts outside the university.

The university shall provide training appropriate to the authority of the Faculty Ethics Committee.

Conduction of Faculty Ethics Committee Investigations

1. Request for Investigation:
   Disputes between faculty members are encouraged to be resolved between the parties wherever possible. Assistance to mediate the dispute is encouraged. Where personal resolution is found to be unsuccessful and consultation with the department chair has not resolved the matter, a request for investigation may proceed. There is no requirement that a complainant utilize this informal process before filing a formal complaint.

   Investigations by the Faculty Ethics Committee shall be initiated by the submission of a written complaint to the chair of the committee. The complaint must contain:
   (i) a concise statement of the conduct complained of;
   (ii) the person or persons involved;
   (iii) the relief requested;
   (iv) the efforts already made by the complainant to resolve the dispute; and
   (v) an affirmation that the dispute is not pending in some other forum in or outside the university.

   Complaints may contain more than one claim of wrongful action and seek more than one form of relief. Claims should be preferably be presented the quarter after occurrence. The claim must be raised within 12 months of the perceived wrongful action. The complaint may not exceed 5 pages.

   Along with the complaint, the complainant may submit supporting or clarifying documentation. These may include written argument by, or on behalf of, the complainant and may mention earlier events alleged to be related to the claim(s). Such argument may not exceed 20 pages. The committee also may request the complainant to submit further documentation where doing so might be vital to the committee's decision.

   A quorum shall consist of 5 members of the Faculty Ethics Committee.

   The Faculty Ethics Committee may reject complaints that do not meet its criteria without prejudice to the complainant’s ability to correct the defects and submit a new complaint. The committee also may reject complaints that are excessive or too vague or disorganized to provide the basis for effective inquiry.

Should the committee decide the complaint does not fall within its jurisdiction, the committee shall dismiss the complaint. If the complaint falls within the committee's jurisdiction, the committee shall notify the complainant who then shall be required to send to the person or persons whose alleged conduct is the basis for the complaint (hereafter, the other side) a copy of all materials submitted earlier to the committee.

2. Authority to Reject Insubstantial Complaints:
After considering the complaint and accompanying materials, the committee may reject the complaint if, in its judgment, the complaint is insubstantial or the dispute is not sufficiently related to the concerns of the academic community to justify further investigation. In making this determination, the committee may take into account whether the complaining party has made baseless or insubstantial complaints in the past. The committee also may reject complaints if, as evidenced by the complaint and accompanying documentation, the complainant has not made adequate efforts to resolve the dispute prior to invoking these procedures.

3. Response to Request for Investigation:
If the complaint is suitable for investigation, the committee shall request and expect a written response from the other side. The response must meet the same standards specified for complaints: its position stated concisely in no more that 5 pages with a limit of up to 20 pages of supporting or clarifying documentation. The committee also may request the other side to submit further documentation where this might be vital to the committee’s endeavors. The committee may set reasonable time requirements for the submission of materials in response to a complaint. If no response is made, the committee may take such inaction into consideration in its resolution of the dispute.

4. Scope and Conduct of the Investigation:
Upon determining that a particular complaint is substantial and within its jurisdiction, the committee shall investigate the complaint. The nature and means employed in pursuing the investigation, including the interviewing of relevant parties and gathering of relevant information, shall be at the discretion of the committee but the investigation shall be as extensive as necessary to resolve the dispute fairly. The committee may conduct its own interviews, request additional evidence from the parties, consult with individuals it considers potentially helpful, and review the written materials already before it. At any stage of the investigation, the committee may exercise its ability and discretion to resolve the dispute through mediation and reconciliation between the parties or refer the matter to an appropriate dispute resolution resource available within the university.

5. Concluding the Investigation:
The investigation shall be concluded when any of the following occur:
(a) the dispute is resolved with the consent of the parties;
(b) the committee rejects the complaint for reasons;
(c) the committee issues its report and recommendation to the Provost;
(d) the committee determines that a formal hearing should be held.

In its report to the Provost, the committee shall indicate in writing the results of its investigation, including its view of the merits of the claims(s) made in the complaint, the resolution of any factual disputes essential to the committee’s conclusion, and the committee’s judgment about what actions, if any, should be taken by the university. The report need be no more detailed than necessary to summarize the committee’s findings.

Within 30 days after receipt of a report from the committee, the Provost shall, in writing, either affirm or modify the report or refer it back to the committee with objections. The Provost’s response shall be delivered to the chair of the committee and to the parties involved. Failure to act within the 30-day time period shall constitute an affirmation of the committee’s decision.
If the report is referred back, the committee shall reconsider the case and, taking into account the objections or suggestions of the Provost, the committee shall resubmit the report, with any modifications, to the Provost, who may affirm, modify, or reject it. The Provost’s decision shall be final and conclusive, and the matter in question shall be deemed closed, unless either party requests an appeal to the President within 30 days after receipt of a written copy of the provost’s decision.

If at any point in its investigation the committee determines that a formal hearing must be held, the dispute may proceed directly to the formal hearing. In such instances, the committee shall prepare a brief report setting forth the reason(s) for moving directly to a formal hearing.

Formal Hearings

1. Disputes for which a Formal Hearing is Appropriate:
   - Formal hearings shall be held in the following categories of disputes: (a) disputes in which formal hearings are mandated by law, and (b) disputes in which the committee determines that a hearing is appropriate because the issues are so serious and the facts so unclear that live testimony and quasi-judicial procedures are appropriate to resolve the dispute fairly. Formal hearings should be the exception, not the rule, in faculty dispute resolution. No formal hearing shall be held if the complainant expresses the desire, in writing, not to have such a hearing.

2. Preliminary Procedures:
   - A. Hearing Panel
     - There shall be a Hearing Panel consisting of members from the Faculty Ethics Committee. The panel members shall have no conflict of interest with the dispute in question. Members will disqualify themselves from participation in any case in which they are a principal or if they feel they cannot be impartial. The Hearing Panel shall decide all cases properly brought before it under the procedures specified in this document.
   - B. Statement of Charges:
     - After submission to the committee, the complainant shall, within 30 days, send a Statement of Charges to: the other side and the chair of the committee. The Statement of Charges shall contain the following: (a) a statement, not to exceed 5 pages, of the charge or charges and the relief requested (b) a copy of any supporting or clarifying documentation, not to exceed 20 pages (c) a copy of any further documentation that might be requested by the Hearing Panel, and (d) an initial list of witnesses to be called, accompanied by a brief description of why their testimony would be relevant to the panel (the names of additional witnesses to be communicated when they become known) (e) a copy of any pertinent university policies or procedures, state statutes, contractual agreements, or other documents upon which the complainant relies, and (f) a formal invitation to the other side to attend the hearing. Both parties may be accompanied by counsel of their choice. If the complainant does not submit materials previously listed within the 30-day time limit, the Hearing Panel may take such inaction into consideration in its resolution of the dispute.
   - C. Answer:
     - Within 30 days of receipt of the Statement of Charges, the other side shall send an Answer to: the complainant and the chair of the Faculty Ethics Committee. The Answer shall respond to the claims made in the Statement of Charges. It may not exceed 5 pages in length, and any accompanying or clarifying documentation may not exceed 20 pages. The Answer also shall include an initial list of witnesses to be called, accompanied by a brief description of why their testimony would be relevant to the Panel (the names of other witnesses to be communicated when they become known). The Hearing Panel may request the submission of further documentation from an answering party where the panel believes this may be of assistance to it.

The Answer also may contain a challenge to the complainant’s entitlement to a formal hearing, in which case the Hearing Panel will consider the decision to grant a formal hearing. In such a case the Hearing Panel shall indicate in writing its reasons for concluding that a hearing is not warranted. Reasons may include the insufficient importance of the dispute or the degree to which the dispute can be resolved fairly based on the paper submissions of the parties.
D. Procedure Where No Answer or Hearing Waived:
The committee shall expect an Answer from the other side. If no Answer is filed or the other side states that no hearing is desired, the Hearing Panel shall resolve the dispute as it deems fair, based on the information submitted by the complainant and independent investigation the Hearing Panel chooses to conduct. In such a case the Hearing Panel shall prepare a written report of its findings. This report shall be submitted to the parties and to the Provost.

E. Time and Place of Hearing:
Upon receipt of the Statement of Charges and the Answer, if the Hearing Panel concludes that a formal hearing should take place, the Hearing Panel shall set a time and place for the hearing. The time ordinarily should be at least 30 days after submission of the Answer, but there should be no unreasonable delay beyond that point.

3. Procedures for Formal Hearings
A. The hearing is to be conducted in private.

B. The responsibility for producing evidence, and the ultimate burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence that the complainant’s allegations are true and a remedy is warranted, rest on the complainant. The Hearing Panel may prescribe the order in which evidence is presented, and the way in which arguments are made in order to facilitate resolving the dispute. Both sides shall be permitted to introduce evidence and make arguments to the Hearing Panel but the Hearing Panel may place reasonable restrictions on the time allotted for questioning, or argument, or on the number of witnesses in order to facilitate a fair and efficient resolution of the dispute. The Hearing Panel also may determine whether any evidence or argument offered is relevant to the dispute, and may exclude irrelevant evidence. The rules of evidence which guide courts of law shall not be binding at the hearing, but may be consulted by the Hearing Panel in its discretion.

C. The Hearing Panel may, if it so desires, proceed independently to secure the presentation of evidence at the hearing, and it may request the parties to produce evidence on specific issues the panel deems significant. The Hearing Panel also may call its own witnesses, if it chooses, and may question witnesses called by the parties.

D. Parties on either side may elect to have their positions and evidence presented in whole or in part by the legal counsel or they may elect to have legal counsel available to them only for consultation. The Hearing Panel shall facilitate full examination of the evidence, including the cross-examination of witnesses where appropriate.

E. A verbatim record of the proceedings shall be kept and a full transcript shall be made available to the Hearing Panel at its option. The cost of the reporter and the transcript shall be paid by the university. The complainant has a right to review the transcript.

F. The Hearing Panel, may, at its discretion, adjourn the hearing to permit the parties to obtain further evidence, or for other legitimate reasons.

G. The Hearing Panel may request written briefs from the parties, either before the hearing or upon its completion.

4. Decision of the Hearing Panel:
After the conclusion of the hearing, the Hearing Panel shall consider the evidence and the written submissions of the parties. The Hearing Panel then shall prepare findings of fact and a decision regarding the merits of the dispute, and a recommendation of the action, if any, that should be taken by the Provost.

At the same time, a copy of the final report from the committee shall be provided to each of the parties.
5. Decision of the Provost:
   Within 30 business days after receipt of the report, the Provost shall, in writing, either affirm or modify the report or refer it back to the committee with objections. The Provost's response shall be provided to each of the parties and the chair of the committee. Failure to act within the 30-day time period shall constitute an affirmation of the committee's decision. If the report is referred back, the committee shall reconsider the case and, taking into account the objections or suggestions of the Provost, the committee then shall resubmit the report, with any modifications, to the Provost, who may affirm, modify, or reject it.

6. Decision of the President:
The President will be the final appeal body. The President's decision shall be final and conclusive. A copy of the President's decision will be given to the parties and to the chair of the Faculty Ethics Committee.
REVISED RESOLUTION ON EXPERIMENTAL COURSES

WHEREAS, Experimental or X courses circumvent the peer-review process in that they are not often reviewed by department, college, or university curriculum committees; and

WHEREAS, Experimental courses, because they are not listed in the catalog, lead to many serious problems with communication of course content to students, transfer credit calculation, automated degree audit, graduate-school or employer evaluation of transcripts, etc.; and

WHEREAS, The established definition of experimental courses is that they “provide an opportunity for experimentation in education without delays that are necessary before new courses and programs can be reviewed for inclusion in the University Catalog” (CAM 490.4); be it therefore

RESOLVED, That faculty be encouraged, but not required, to offer specialized courses under variable-content/focused subtopic course rubrics, or as selected advanced topics courses (470s or 570s); such courses do get listed in the catalog, and the particular subtitle for the course does appear on the student’s transcript; and be it further

RESOLVED, That faculty propose a course as experimental only in compelling circumstances when lack of time prevents the course from being proposed as a regular new course that would receive peer review and be listed in the catalog; such compelling circumstances might include the pressing need to offer a course in a newly important subject area, or the sudden availability of a visiting faculty member from another university to teach a new course in his/her specialty; and be it further

RESOLVED, That experimental courses receive as many different levels of peer review as time permits, with the minimum being that they are at least reviewed by the Senate Curriculum Committee in order to avoid potential curriculum disputes between colleges.

Recommended effective date: Fall 2000.

Resolution on University Grading Policy

WHEREAS, Cal Poly has a standard grading policy published in the catalog, which serves as a contract with the students that should not be broken; and

WHEREAS, The grading system, which follows CSU and Title V regulations, states that a grade of D is a passing grade, but shows poor attainment of course objectives; and

WHEREAS, A student taking a course on a Credit/No Credit basis will receive a Credit only if that student is given a grade of C- or better; and

WHEREAS, Some academic programs have established the attainment of a minimum grade of C- in one course as a requirement for enrollment in a subsequent course; be it therefore

RESOLVED, That the Cal Poly Catalog include that the following language in a footnote on the D grade: Receiving a grade of D+, D or D- may not be sufficient for the student to continue on to any course for which the current course is a prerequisite; and be it further

RESOLVED, That any academic program requiring a grade of C- or better for continuation on to subsequent courses include this information in the catalog description of the course.

Proposed by Myron Hood, 6/2/98.
The Resolution on the Academic Value of Diversity is flawed in two respects:

1. It is poorly written.

2. It attempts to define a commonly understood concept, diversity, in a way that is contrary to what is commonly understood.

I find these flaws so serious as to make the statement irreparable. Thus I intend to propose the following statement as a substitute.

Diversity Statement

At the heart of a university is the hope of providing its students with an education that will foster intellectual, emotional and social growth. Education is expansive and liberating. Thus it is in the compelling interest of the institution to provide its students with an education rich in diverse experiences and perspectives.

Moreover the promotion of diversity goes beyond the educational interests of the university; it is in the interest of fairness and equity and hence in the interest of the state and nation as well. Thus the university strives to have its community mirror the great diversity of the population of California and to have these goals inform its policies and decision-making processes at all levels.
