Work Progressing On New Athletic Field

Work on the new Cal Poly athletic field began last Thursday when the Tyson and Waters Construction Co., Sacramento, began clearing the area of trees and other obstructions prior to leveling the field, which will include a football practice field, softball diamond, track, and room for the installation of other athletic equipment.

Poly to Show Stock at S.F.

Cal Poly will have a large representation of dairy stock and fat animals at the Grand National Livestock Exposition to be held in the Palace of Fine Arts on Monday, November 15 to 18.

Dr. Philip Harg, county health officer, announced that the school will be represented by a string of dairy and beef cattle, and the dairy extension department will show a variety of dairy products. There will be 88 exhibitors in the dairy section and 106 in the beef section. The drivers will be selected from the senior classes.

The fat stock exhibition will be the less impressive. Only those from the finest farms, horses and hams in the state, will be shown.

A showman who insists on getting his rights usually gets his way. Poly will not be seen in the fair grounds as a visitor in the showrooms.

Lecture Series On Child Care Started

The first of a series of five lectures on child care will be given tonight at the Fuller high school at 7:30 p.m.

The lecture was "Care of the child from birth to eighteen," by Dr. William F. Files. The next three lectures will be given by John C. H. Alder, who will lecture on Margaret" and the Beck ranch where fallow land and covered with grass. The field will be used for the fall farm tour and for Fall and Covered School

The show, to be held in the Victorville area, with a portion of a nearby cattle ranch, will be held on Saturday, November 18.

The farm has been one of the best in the country, and this will be the last chance to see it before it is sold.

A visit to the farmland in the Victorville area will be the only one of its kind. The tour is expected to last three days and will be conducted by the Victoria Valley Farm Improvement Association.

Crops Men Study Wheat Culture at Corraine Plains

Twenty-three members of the Field crops 101 class, accompanied by Paul E. Dougherty, participated in a tour of the Corraine Plains, by the Beck ranch east of Atascadero where the emphasis was on the study of the wheat belt near Shandon hill country.

Touring by bus the Cal Poly group visited the Red Rock Ranch at Atascadero where they were shown a good field of wheat. They also visited the Shandon Hill country where a field of wheat was shown.

Does Poly Want a Funeral?

The traffic situation on the campus is still bad. In spite of numerous warnings many drivers and pedestrians still seem to believe that the roads about the campus are for the exclusive use of the big "T".

We suggest that the Student-Court start a system of enforcement as their first activity. The law of averages is going to catch up with someone very quickly if immediate steps aren't taken to insure the following of other laws.

The only group of students that has shown any improvement are those who drive motorcycles. Most of these men have done a good job of obeying traffic regulations and of observing highway courtesy in the last few days. We congratulate them.

It isn't fair to say that the rest of the drivers and pedestrians on the college grounds are not obeying the traffic laws. The fact remains that every violation is emphasized and aggravated by the overcrowding of our roads.

What do the residents of this college need to make them realize the seriousness of the situation? Perhaps a funeral would wake them up.

Guarantee Free Speech

This editorial is directed to all members of the school who are connected with Poly's picafls efforts. For the last week we have heard nothing but complaints from these games. We haven't made our answer.

In nearly every college in the country the Fall term is highlighted by each school's team of football players. Many college papers seem to believe that it is the duty of the paper to print nothing but praise about its team.

We can't quite see it that way. A newspaper should print facts as it sees them. We don't censor his material, but he will have to have the necessary qualifications to present his views about football, and other sports. That man is entitled to present his views on the sports' page. We do not censor his material. But who is the man who isn't entitled to present his views on the sports' page?

One of the reasons many of the 'four aim' the two local alumni groups are being over-subscribed is certainly adept at showing these impressive fraudulent meanings. Whatever Amber can be taken in several interesting ways, nice.

The football game with Whittier was the nicest occasion. The reserve players were to be congratulated on their efficient work.

The Kick of The Mustang

By Berries

To print nothing but praise about its team is the way that Whitlaller, Bob Puleston, would like to see the Mustang do. This week, however, he shows the sports editor that he is much more balance.

Dear John...

Dear John:

After the game with Whittier, LeRoy George, the playful young man who seems to be brought to every game with a number of his friends. They're together often, and I expect to see them again.

Bob is a fine football player, and I hope to see him in action next year. He is a good leader on the field, and I wish him success in all his endeavors.

I have been trying to pick apart the efforts of everyone who has been involved in this game. It is not easy, but I think I have found something worth writing about.

The Mustangs were victorious this week. They did a fine job of blocking and tackling, and I am sure they will continue to do so in the future.

I hope to see you again next week. I wish you all the best of luck in your future endeavors.

Record to Date
Won 12 Tied 2 Pet. 721

Cal Poly's Mustangs added another win to their record last Saturday afternoon when they powered through and over the San Diego Naval Training Center eleven 8-0 to the southern end of the field with ease. Reserves again saw considerable play and turned in performances that will have the first stringers on their toes to rest their startling quickness position skills.

It was only in their serial game that the permanent enlistment in the making of giving the colleges a semblance of competition. Mean while Coach Howie O'Daniels early functioned on gypsy. Poly's starters mixed in with their hundreds of touchdowns and four conversions in the course of the afternoon's romp.

But Meddaugh and Byron Culver, halfback and fullback, shared scoring laurels as they tallied 12 and 10 points respectively. Halfback Cecil Carter packed up the old and last touchdown by being on the receiving end of a 9 yard pass from quarterback Vem Boner. One of Meddaugh's six pickings was also via a 60 yard pass of his own. The local defense functioned squally well on ground. The mystic Mustangs added another to their record last Saturday on the Sentinel field turf in Inglewood.
Students' Wives

On Thursday evening, November 7 at 8 p.m. in the classroom, the Students' Wives club will hold its regular monthly business meeting.

The main items of the evening will be the election of three members to the nominating committee.

Glamour Bunting

On Friday night, November 8, the Students' Wives club held a monthly business meeting with a special affair. It was a dance in the Recreation Room. The dance was the idea of Mrs. Wiseman and her committee consisting of Mrs. Glendora Smith, Mrs. Mabel Taylor, Mrs. Florence Shields, and Miss Dorothy Tolbert. Eight couples entered the court of a three-act play. An introduction was made of the group led by a community king. The doors were won by Mrs. Wayne Kent and Ralph Henry. Mannerly Bakermans

The Drama club is rehearsing several lines weekly to be used in plays. Mrs. Richard Brantley, director, is doing an excellent job. All students are invited to attend either one of the evening performances. The first evening will be on Thursday, November 8.

Crop Club Holds Halloween Party

Some 40 members of the Crop club and their guests enjoyed a Halloween party last Friday evening in the EL Corral student store. Refreshments of cakes, cookies, punch, and pop were served as a way of entertainment. Bingo, darts, and pool games were participated in by the groups.

HALLOWEEN RAIDERS

The cry of "Trick or Treats" rerun through the EL Corral student store on Halloween. Those who failed to heed the call for tribute found that a good deal of the first had to be devoted to tracking down and replacing essential items of decoration and equipment. The raiders were the children of the village. They ranged from two and one-half to seven years of age.
