Music Tour Includes 18 Shows and 5 Dances

The music tour was Marred, as we played an evening in Pajaro, we began to think and everyone was feeling a lot better. I don’t know how we received anything but a very warm welcome we had an excellent applause which we felt the after we had closed the curtain at the end of every show and we got much better as we accomplished our last number really made us feel good. Everyone who we played we played nothing but good, com- ments about Cal Poly and requests for the Collegians at junior-senior proms.

The hotel accommodations that night were much better, and we expected we were ready to go again. We started north and under our coach's guidance we left the school and got to Moderno for an afternoon performance.

We had our largest and latest data in this school for 1500 students. They also managed to include the other schools in the volume of their performance.

After this excellent reception we backed towards the west coast and eventually got to the high school. Here one of last year’s Poly grads really shined. We found ourselves attending a 4-day swing through the southland, ending at the Turlock school, many of you students were there. Appreciate results thelocal atendance was the band, we were also there.

We bedded down in Turlock and the next morning we took the first bus so we could get into the Oaktown, and finally an excellent performance in San Francisco, way up into the north.

Friday found us doing shows in Manteo, Lodi, and Geisell. The last complete program was an evening in a local dance hall there. The Collegians stayed on to present a program for the next night.

We can’t forget how well we were received at each and every place we went. We bought all my tickets and it was worth it because of the way we were treated.

This & That

This bouncing back and forth from four to six pages is very difficult on the whole staff. We this week we have El Rodeo to thank for the short-change of you customers. It seems that so many men can do only so much work in a definite period of time. Editor John Shea pulled his rank on the weekly news-sheet and declared that the print shop facilities were too much. This week isn't isn't a complaint. We are suffering from a grand case of spring fever, and can use the rest and relaxation. We are suffering from a grand case of spring fever, and can use the rest and relaxation. We got into another vat of hot water last week by failing to mention anything about the Music department's tour. We assure you that all you have to do to win a handsome prize is to find the mistakes in that big cartoon we ran last week. Dig up that webpage, we will only have a little trouble.

Advice Checking of Money Or Valuables

By Carter C. Camp

Checking of valuables is of the utmost importance, due to recent cases on the campus.

If you are lucky enough to have a lot of money, it is a wise idea to either deposit most of it in one of the local banks, check it at the business office, or carry it with the dormitory superintendent.

Money and valuables may be checked in the athletic office.
