University of Oklahoma Dorm Fire Brings Attention To Safety Rules

A flash fire whipped through a two-story man's dormitory at the University of Oklahoma Dec. 6, burning it to the ground within minutes. Three students were killed, and more than a score injured or burned.

Because the fire was on a college campus, Kenneth Stieff, chief recently retired, directed the following rules brought to the attention of the students:

1. Don't smoke in bed.
2. Know how to call the fire department.
4. In case of fire, alert others.
5. Keep transom windows closed.
6. Don't play with extinguishers.
7. In case of fire, stay close to door and make for nearest exit.
8. Don't tamper with thermostats or heating controls.
9. Do not clean motor parts in rooms.
10. Do not store gasoline or flammable liquids in rooms.
11. Do not play with or abuse fire hose lines.
12. Do not use hot plates or other types of electrical heating equipment.

Cull Beans Prove Low Cost Feed For Lamb Project

Cull beans are equal to barley in protein content, according to O. Spelman Collins, sheep department head, stated after he had surveyed the results of a 60-day experiment conducted by the nearly 100 students participating in the feeding teat. They were given a standard formula of 6 parts barley, 4 parts orange pulp, 1 part meal and 1 part meat meal.

A daily diet of about one-third pound of cull beans was fed during the fattening period. The lambs eating cull beans are up to 4 pounds of that concentrate daily.

Thirty-two students are participating in the feeding test. They are supervised by Collins and George McKeel. All instructor. These students share the feeding project with the cattle project.

A few of the animals have been sold locally. There are worries about the diets, the students doing more of the feeding of the lambs.

Low Cost

"Cull beans," Collins said, "cost about one-half to three-fourths as much as barley. The larger beans vary in size so much as barley will come to the surface when the grains are picked up at the campus security office.

When the pelts are first removed, the meat is pink. There are no visible differences between the bean-fed and grain-fed feed piles. This may be corrected, however, by dumping all the beans together in the feed pile.

Boise Federal Project

Now Open ToVeterans

All applications received up to January 30th will be considered for the 62 farm positions in the Boise Federal Reclamation project in southwestern Idaho. These units vary in size from 110 square acres each.

Full details are contained in the Federal Public Notice No. 4 and may be obtained from the federal office or from more than 2,000 job opportunities listed.

LOST CARD

Lost, stolen, or Strayed ASB cards should be turned in by January 30th. A replacement card will be issued for a fee of $1.00.

El Rodeo Waits For Club Lists

Don Johnson, editor of El Rodeo, today reminded all club presidents to get their names in to El Rodeo, club editor, by the end of January or their names will be printed in the weekly club lists on February 10 in order to schedule the time for club pictures.

In the last issue, El Rodeo incorrectly stated that the ad- dress of the club editor for El Rodeo was 105, actually it is 50, box 517.

El Rodeo offices have been changed and are changing their residence from one locality to another. To obtain a new parking sticker, Ernote, secretary, should be informed at the campus lounges.

First Rain Trips Joe

Awashed from a sound and uninterrupted sleep by the gushing waters, Joe took a firm grip on the side of the nearest building and, with a lurch, was propelled forward. He finally readied his classmate and, in a gesture of good will, joined his miserable, water-soaked classmates. He hurried to the dispensary with only a sprained ankle, Joe once more as a victim of the compulsion of society.

Holiday Pleasures

Christmas comes but once a year. Thank God! Christmas is for children. That's a bloody lie. Christmas is for daddies.

Sizable Sweepings

Stable sweepings will be made at the Christmas formal tomorrow night. Ordinary, there is an average satchel of the Kamloopsian in New La, Osl. The circumstances is reflected in the long and arduous trek, made at most of the ASD dances. But the Christmas formal, promises to be different. The women are importing fashions from Paris, and many other points north and south. It is the ambition of the formal committee to make this year's annual dance one of the most successful that has been held.

Where It’s Deep

Here we go again, you stilted laments of the fourth. I’ll be done with angst this year. May the great, 20-car-edged ax of the horseless carriage cut through your hair-brained, neurotic brains just as the Darkest Edge of the Night did in your second quarter. To those of you who insist on holding on to me, my pacifistic, upper-middle-class words will be a lisp for you.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Please accept our thanks for “Weirdo” by Arnold in your recent issue. We are all of your readers and are excited to see local talent represented in the magazine. It’s refreshing to see such a diverse range of topics and perspectives.

Sincerely,

EL MUSTANG

By Ed Iler

Well, after four years of eating high on the hog, it looks as if at least 50 per cent of all professional football players will be going back to work for more pleasant wages. By college wages I mean just that. Second string linemen will make wages more than 75 bucks per game, and the reserve backs not much more. If you think they ever graduated much more, I'll refer you to an old geezer around these parts who set you straight.

It was rather disappointing to see the old National league forgotten here. The Lions share because the owners of teams in the senior league did more than any other team to keep wages at a minimum. All that stuff about the best players coming from small colleges proved to be so much malarkey.

Small College Player Honus

Sure, a guy like Tuffy Leaana, or Cliff Battles or Clyde Turner came along from a school the size of Poly every now and then, but not very often. It's too bad a common draft couldn't have worked out to the player's benefit.

Some great stars will think twice before signing for peanuts.

Browns Questionable Entry

Paul Brown, coach of the Cleveland Browns, has already stated that Cleveland may not field a team next year. If you think they ever received much more, I'll take a swing at you. The Gotham club lost money every year. The Browns could have waxed any National league team this year. But the Gotham club lost money every year. Who can blame him-for wanting a better break in the schedule for the rest of the clubs. The Gotham club lost money every year. The Browns could have waxed any National league team this year. It's too bad a common draft couldn't have worked out to the player's benefit.

Frank Faber and the first team were placed on the CCAA first team for the second straight year. Our congratulations to all three. (I will see you men at Dan's)

Both affairs were a credit to the YMCA.
