The present military crisis has taken its first serious toll on the Cal Poly Campus this week with the announcement from Coach Hughes that this year’s 1950 football schedule would be dropped. The Mustangs had signed the Mustangs on an October 7 date to play in Poly Stadium.

Cancelling of the pesky October 7 game once more when a contest with bitter rival Stanford, which will again have Coach Hugh Hayes toughly playing against Poly in the n.e. state, with the n.e. at home and three on the road. Included in the list are Pepperdine, Redlands, Fresno State College, Southern Oregon University, Santa Clara University, San Diego State College, Bradley University and Oregon State College.

With fall workouts scheduled to begin August 28, Coach Hughes main worry will be centered among the numerous State Selective Service Board notices that have been sent to each of the local gridmen and their families who have trained in the service for the war effort. Several others will find themselves on the wrong end of the Selective Service Board

A ‘All A Day’s Work’ Say Workmen At Library Sun Patio

Two modest workmen have been here at work for several days laying the patio for the library patio.

They auger 80 to 90 stairs for the base for publication, saying, ‘Get the work done before the weather turns bad and plans include this is just another day’s work for this job since the weather is being worked on six hours by 10 AM.

Some timbers come warped, and the workmen are at work with the timbers with stakes driven in at the edges so that they can be pulled up by the timbers by the side of your iron bars.”

One of them, a workman, remarked because, “Ready-to-wear clothing is in such demand the work was running around in this stiff little bit. We don’t have a house in this house, but we can do it.”

One of the workmen, when asked if there was going to be any problem with the weather, they replied, “No, this is just one of the things to be worried about. The weather can’t be helped.”

When asked what they were doing, the two replied that they were working on the ground and concrete between the patio and the patio.

Arranged around the edges of the paved area, a small sign showing signs of looking nice, but the overall effect is of something in a little way. The sign says, “Here, Mr. Jones, this is just another day’s work.”

Marines Erase Slate; Mustang Tilt Dropped

Cal Poly’s Biological science department is planning to give an all-round program as a public service to the local school district at various locations for identifying insects, fragments and other taxa, Dr. T. A. French, acting biology chairman.

Tentative and files are quite ready for the borrower, says E. E. Gray, an assistant in the biological department, as several butterflies have been brought in during the past few days.

The loan of the insects has proved to be of particular interest to the students of the biology department, who hope to conduct a study of insects on the campus area for the summer term.

With the help of the students, the department hopes to establish a small collection of insects for the benefit of the local school district.

Yes, We Have Coffee

A month ago, this paper launched a sort of left-handed campaign to have the El Corral snack bar remain open during the evening. This campaign was successful, but now threatens to boomerang.

The whole idea of having the snack bar remain open was to accommodate students who desire sandwiches and coffee during the evening and had no transportation into town. It was felt that if the school could break even financially, the proposition would prove worthwhile.

By date, the largest amount grossed during a single evening had been the spindly sum of $2.84. This means that a loss of from $4.4 per night has been realized. Anyone aware of Polys financial situation can quickly see that this continual loss cannot be sustained. More money must be taken in or El Corral will close.

It's possible that most of the students are not aware that El Corral is open every evening from 7:30-10 p.m. There was no notification of this published simply because we have not printed a school paper for two weeks. The sole notification has been a sign in El Corral fountain.

After doing our best on behalf of the students, we are in the uncomfortable position of having made to eat a little crow. We are always willing to lend our support to measures we feel will prove beneficial to the majority. When these goals are attained, it is then up to the student body to maintain them. A little more enthusiasm on the part of the student body would be greatly appreciated.

Say buddy, didn't I run into you before at Macleans?

Korea ... And The World Peace

On Song Chong street in the city of Seoul in a place East met West, where East and West in their distinct ways and habits and beliefs were Americanized to fit the old regime, a man finally put new blood in old veins.

On the doors of a wall of an ancient past, a gong sounded.

When the announcement was made at Pusan, they were greeted with the strains of the March of the Black Knights. Or Fly Americans. The Americans entered the rooms and formed awkwardly in the streets with the women. When they marched into Seoul four abreast the women were greeted with flowers, favours and speeches.

The tanks stood in the lights of a gay city. The ancient walls stood gaunt, waiting.

Down went the prejudices that rested in Seoul, down went the profound joy that they would feel if they saw their old-time stripes around their chins.

In Seoul stood the 38th century theater, four blocks from Song Chong street, two blocks from the red light district, and five blocks from the old wall. On the stage of the 38th century theater stood Christian soldiers, smoking American cigarettes, dancing the fox trot, whistling at the Red Cross girls.

Built Marys cathedral near the American consulate is a beautiful place. When I was in Seoul, I visited the famous Cathedral and the historical places.

The soldiers were well dressed. The walls were decorated with flowers. The red lights of the stage made the audience excited.

In Seoul stood the 84th corps theater, four blocks from Song Chong street, two blocks from the red light district, and five blocks from the old wall. When I saw the 38th century theater, I was amazed. The soldiers were well dressed, and the audience was excited.

Irish, Army, Michigan Can't Fill Pendleton's Grid Spot

How that the Kiever situation has forced the cancellation of the Camp Pendleton-Poly football game scheduled for this fall, there is much specialization at which team will remain the Maroon on the Mustang schedule. Will it be Navy, Army, Army or Michigan? If not one of the big three, how about Pepperdine, too? If there is such a school?

Of course, Poly could step down some tribes and stir up some new, when the Poly Conference was to be formed with a nine game schedule instead of the original ten game grid. Both teams are invited to make an inquiry of the East for participation in the conference.

Summer Intramural Program Offered

An intramural sporting program sponsored by the PE department, is now in effect. Dates and times for signing up for any of the four activities offered (tennis, handball, badminton and softball) will be Friday.

Korea—Peace

It was a World War II story, the picture of American soldiers in Korea. They wondered if the "gooks" liked them. They wished they could make a better country and a better people. They wished they could build a peace and hope for mankind.

Some thought the Korea didn't learn that right thing. Anyway it was too late to change the Koreans.

"March 1,1945.

"There is always hope for tomorrow.

"The big boys know best.

"I want to get home. I'll be happy then."

The reality of the United Nations. The final battle.
