Maxwell Hopes To Top 1950 Turnout

Local Post Office

Now Big Business;
Over $10,000 Per Year

"Service is our business," says Phil McMillan, postmaster of the Cal Poly post office. When asked how much he makes, he says he makes an average of 1,800 items of first class mail a day, plus 800 items of special delivery. The total is 2,600 items, or 100,000 items a year.

"We operate a big business," says McMillan, and he points to a pull-up sign "Who knows Jana Duke?" and the list of Jana Duke. Phil, someone has a sister of one of the candidates addressed to Jana Duke. Phil, winner of the election, won a free trip to Corral Graduate Manager's Meeting.

As Phil McMillan turns to the office of secretary, there are, Joe Garvey, a sophomore majoring in agriculture, and Bob Hunger, a junior majoring in education.

"Letters come into this office every day," says Phil, "and the biggest percentage of those letters are those that are addressed to Jana Duke." Phil adds that the group is split into two branches, an average of 1,800 items of first class mail a day, plus 800 items of special delivery.

The last summer session a large change was made in the office. The summer mail was handled by both Phil and another full-time employee. However, the biggest percentage of the mail handled by Phil is that which is addressed to Jana Duke.

How you can make a profit of $27,295,971 and go in the hole!

1. According to our accountants, Union Oil made a net profit during 1961 of $87,684,000. If this bookkeeping profit represented the company's actual "take" our 88.847 common share owners would be overjoyed. But after paying dividends of $11,444,269, we actually ended up with the "cheeking account" a business keeps on hand for day-to-day expenses.

2. Briefly it is this: The sums the tax collector allows you to set aside for depreciation and depletion are based on what things cost when you acquired them—not what it costs to replace them today. Since these depreciable assets aren't adequate to replace equipment and oil properties at today's prices, we have to make up the difference somehow—or go out of business.

Since these depreciable assets aren't adequate to replace equipment and oil properties at today's prices, we have to make up the difference somehow—or go out of business.

4. We obviously can't keep dipping into our working capital indefinitely and stay in business. For if we do we'll eventually run out of money to carry our receivables, inventories, etc., and pay our daily operating expenses. That's why something has to be done about a situation that affects not only us but every U. S. corporation.

5. On top of this, extremely heavy taxes on corporate earnings make it almost impossible to retain enough profit to make up the difference. So we have to take it out of working capital. That's why we must have a tax policy that will permit corporations to keep enough for the replacement and expansion necessary to maintain the productivity and economic growth of the nation.

Dave Tidwell, Cal Poly husbandry student, is responsible for saving thousands of acres of virgin timber in the High Sierras. Dave, by using his head and being thorough about his work, helped to control a fire in the high mountains near the Kings Canyon Park two summers ago.

Dave, a 21 year old senior here at Poly Uvea with his folks on a pack station at 18,500 p.m. Aug. 84, the man who radioed in that the fire was starting to burn. Dave left the Cedar Grove camp. At Dino mentioned, "The ground was rocky and rough, and there were 1,000 and 8,000 feet elevations. The peak is between the middle and north forks of the Kings river. The fire was 14 miles from the pack station at Cedar Grove on the south fork of the Kings river. The fire was reported by the lookout on the morning of Aug. 84.

Two men, Dave and a Charlie Holde, were assigned to stop the fire. Dave, said to Holde, go and get a team of horses at least 8 miles from the fire. Dave led the pack, and Holde had to walk a team of horses to stop the fire.

The two men left the Cedar Grove pack station at 8:00 a.m. Aug. 14 in a horseback and pulled for fighting a fire, bleeding and food. They arrived at the fire at 8:00 a.m. Aug. 14. Dave mentioned, "The two men were assigned to stop the fire. Dave led the pack and Holde had to walk a team of horses to stop the fire.

As hadn't we of a calmness become it in the area it was wanted over the much of the fire. The men have been thousands of miles of timber along the Kings Canyon. In case of fire, Dave radius to it and returned to his station. Dave a horse-waddled and satisfied with his work.

Classrooms Switched

Students are to use Old Main Classroom, instead of the new, for all husbandry classes of December 1952. This is a result of Dean Chandler's decision.

Developing social student skills and mental health is the prime topic discussed at a recent meeting of the American College Personnel Association held at Los Angeles.

Little Children, Hands Off

Dear Editor:

May I use this letter as an appeal to just one man? Actually it might be construed as an appeal to all students.

The newly installed bulletin boards in the basement have already suffered their first loss. No sooner had the Penguin board been laid out than an emblem and a picture were stolen.

The emblem is of particular concern to me as it was one of the small type of which there are just a few in existence. Will you please run a portion of this as an appeal to the person who took it to return it to Box 18887. It can be of no earthly use to anyone...

They would do well to drop into Chandler's office and have a talk with the principal. That should be the end of the matter. If there is any future damage, the police will be notified.

Yours for better order,
Harry Keeler

We offer this letter as an editorial. We can’t answer its contents but we do feel that our students are taking a certain amount of interest in the new bulletin boards that our older students....

High School Days Are Past

As so often happens, it appears that once again a few are losing things up for the many. We are speaking of the resumption of loitering on the high school grounds during school hours by a few Polytites. There is hardly a quicker way for a Polytite to get himself in real trouble with John Law. Students caught loitering may be picked up by the police and held for as long as 80 days on a vagrancy charge. This would certainly look great for Polyt as well as the student.

Trouble of this nature was first brought to the attention of the principal. In my capacity as a member of the student body, I went out of his way to explain to one and all the need for cooperation in this matter. At first results were encouraging. Later, alas, Chancellors and principal were getting the impression that many of the students in question were not left alone and we fear that they will degenerate into clusters of dull, unattractive people...

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR
Resounding Echoes of El Geling

Dear Editor:

In regard to your reply to El Geling in the April 4th issue of your paper, the article is a fraud. There are too few items in the article to be verified and the article should have been signed by those concerned, each one, in his own name. If El Geling is to become the entire editorial staff of El Mustang in your articles, your stand at the mistake made at the polls last year was a good, easy way out, but I am happy with my job as vice-president of the student body. I think it would be a great help to you if you would lose interest in your job, Mr. Editor?

Never mind the small victory, at least the staff of El Mustang, that the student body decided and elected were given a chance to be published in El Mustang, where all major student, body activities are submitted. The cut at El Mustang quoted by me in

Veteran's Corner

By Ernest Metley

Veterans who sell their homes and let the purchasers assume 4 percent GI loans must personally remain responsible for the payment of the loan, VA today said. VA said World War II veterans should not do this without making certain that the 4 percent GI loans have been assumed by the buyers. VA stated, "We cannot do that, VA stated, to have the purchaser pay all or part of the debt resulting from the sale of the property. Veterans must give the notices required by law to the buyer of the property and the government to the amount of that payment. In many areas throughout the country, foreclosures and sales caused by VA were given a chance that they cannot lose their real estate.

For this reason, the veteran is urged to keep the list of the sale and to be notified of any change of address. He should also send off a copy of the list to him in his note of new owner default.

Poly Health Center Your First Stop

"Students in need of medical attention should go first to the health center here instead of to doctors downtown," says Leonard J. Lovett, the student health director. "Any students needing a doctor who is capable of attending to most student medical problems, Doctor E. Douglas Gerard is available in case of emergency. The health center telephone number is 846."

It is no longer possible to get service from doctors downtown without having to pay the regular fee, unless the student first has a permit from Doctor Lovett or from a nurse at the health center. For further information contact the health center.

The campaign assembly served as the kick-off for active campaigning. From then on until 8 a.m. of the opening day of voting, candidates may display advertising materials and employ approved devices to get votes. Handshaking and backslapping will be the order of the day.

The polling place will be the El Mustang Smoke Shop on April 12-13 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Student Body officers must be present at the polling place.

The campaign assembly, known as the New Type Ballot, will be a chance for students to vote for candidates of their choice. A "X" on one opposite the name of the candidate of the voter's choice will indicate that the candidate has a majority vote, and will be counted. If the voter has marked an "X" on more than one column, the voter must be present at the polling place to make sure the votes are counted first. As a majority vote is necessary for election, a process of eliminating the candidate with the lowest count of votes for second choice will be continued until one candidate has a majority of counted votes.
