CLASS ROOM, GOLF INSTRUCTION METHODS STYLE... finds Jack Gaines of the Ojai on the putting green, Gaines, one of the outstanding amateurs on the coast, is shown at one of the first sessions of the California Polytechnic State College's golf clinic. The clinic was held in session at Cal Poly. Gaines is at present the director of athletics at Glendora high school.

The workshop, which has attracted almost 200 high school and college coaches from throughout the county, will continue until August 27. Every aspect of golf and tennis, including strategies and calculation of points and cal-

Dairy Authorities Gather Today

The quarterly meeting of the California Farm Bureau Federation dairy department will be held to-day in the Cal Poly campus.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be a report by a state farm bureau dairy legislative committee, which has some important findings to impart to the members.

Mr. de Mello, chairman of the committee, said that one of the most interesting of the committee's findings is that there is a shortage of milk in the market. A dairyman may be identified as one who is spending a good deal of time on the farm today.
Reds And History

It has come to my attention, via secret sources, that Miss Elizabeth T. Bentley made a statement to the effect: "I joined the Communist party because I had never been taught U.S. History or American Government in any of the schools I had attended. The American way was apparent to me only as an outsider coming into a country with no background into the subject."

I, Mr. Mason, am a Vassar graduate which I believe is a private girl's school. Being a private school it need teach only such subjects as it desires, such as how to catch a husband, and libraries in the east where any subject can be gone into.

Bentley's statement belittles the intelligence of a whole generation. She seems to have been ignorant of the fact that it was the American system that taught her U.S. History and American Government.

We too have much history and not enough current events. In the East the liberal arts are taught to develop the mind, but in the West we are taught to do nothing but memorize. Is there because it is all alive today who even cares enough to work for the future? We have the Battle of the Bulge, and so what? Art Cram, Robert Ferguson, and all the rest can't do anything about it. They are forever doomed to bow to Bull Run or Gettysburg for a place in history.

Perhaps it is because we lost a beloved forefather in Bull Run while we only won a son in the "Bulge." Did Bentley lose someone in Stalingrad? Can we say we are advancing when the deeds of yesterday take priority over the deeds of today? I believe that it is those of that distant yesterday who desire to keep it alive like that last brown leaf on a tree before winter sets in, still stubbornly clinging and refusing to admit that it is dead.

We stand in our brave forefathers shoes. We once in particular should not be surprised that the propaganda is the only one that is being passed around in this world. The enemy or the Pro-bone office as well as your editor if they desire to keep their column correct in all facts.

Some History

Ed. Note - We were going through some back issues of the El Mustang when we came across this switch list of May 7, 1946. To us it is the best of Will's old columns. We reprint it for his oldタイム.

In the year 1849, a young man by the name of Myron Angel had trudged the ninety-six miles, from Portland, Oregon, to San Diego, California in foot. Four months he had boarded a coastal schooner, and spent his last cent in order to get there. He got there by ship to San Francisco.

Several days later he arrived in San Francisco. The winter weather was mild and the weather was beautiful. The man decided to stay and make his home there. He later married a woman named Mary and together they had a child named Jack.

Myron Angel in later years was president of the California State University at San Francisco. He was later president of the California State University at San Jose. He was also president of the California State University at Los Angeles. He was one of the best institutions in the state. True, his school had equipped him with a vast amount of knowledge, but, when it came to using his hands, he was lost. He was not interested in being able to earn a living. Angel decided then and there that a school should be established to train young people to help themselves, to learn how to do things. This was the only way many people were able to earn a living.

Angel's vision in the winter of 1849 is today's California State University.

Myron Angel in later years was president of the California State University at San Francisco. He was later president of the California State University at San Jose. He was also president of the California State University at Los Angeles. He was one of the best institutions in the state. True, his school had equipped him with a vast amount of knowledge, but, when it came to using his hands, he was lost. He was not interested in being able to earn a living. Angel decided then and there that a school should be established to train young people to help themselves, to learn how to do things. This was the only way many people were able to earn a living.

Myron Angel in later years was president of the California State University at San Francisco. He was later president of the California State University at San Jose. He was also president of the California State University at Los Angeles. He was one of the best institutions in the state. True, his school had equipped him with a vast amount of knowledge, but, when it came to using his hands, he was lost. He was not interested in being able to earn a living. Angel decided then and there that a school should be established to train young people to help themselves, to learn how to do things. This was the only way many people were able to earn a living.

Myron Angel in later years was president of the California State University at San Francisco. He was later president of the California State University at San Jose. He was also president of the California State University at Los Angeles. He was one of the best institutions in the state. True, his school had equipped him with a vast amount of knowledge, but, when it came to using his hands, he was lost. He was not interested in being able to earn a living. Angel decided then and there that a school should be established to train young people to help themselves, to learn how to do things. This was the only way many people were able to earn a living.
High School, Junior College Coaches Show Great Enthusiasm for Workshop

By J. T. Moroney

The San Francisco Chronicle, in its post-season report, has tried to cover as much of the Coaches Workshop—which began at Cal Poly last Monday—from the point of view of the Coaches, and commented favorably toward the end of the report that there were many valuable suggestions and comments given, especially by those with experience who had attended the workshop in previous years.

San Diego State Boosts Capacity of Aztec Bowl

Prior to the start of the season, the Aztec Bowl capacity was increased from 20,000 to 22,000, making it the largest stadium in the state of California.

Squad Organizes

The Cal Poly football squad is organizing and will be on the campus today to practice two weeks prior to registration.

AIN'T IT THE TRUTH

Favorite story of magazine men is getting the rounds; it has to

With the magazine editor who had been his son's best friend, he

"I do what you do," said the son. "I'll blame the printer."

STEPS BEING TAKEN

The campus cafeteria's serving staffs at each evening meal dur

"What will you do with the magazine editor who had been your son's best friend?" "I'll blame the printer."
Applicants Sought For Positions in Elementary Schools

Mrs. Amy Arsenio, elementary school coordinator, stated today that a lack of teacher material for the San Luis Obispo area is handicapping the school system's teacher status. However, the school system's office is not experiencing a lack of applications on file. Many of the applications for the elementary positions are not acceptable because of the lack of qualifications.

In addition to the active members there are over 150 associated members, most of whom are in the process of accumulating the membership fee requirement. The remainder of this group is composed of the "I'll just go along for the ride" type. Eligibility for associated membership is the same as that for an active member. MFA councils are usually stated for the first Tuesday of the month. Meetings for the most part are devoted to comments, criticisms, and votes on the various issues that arise. The remainder of the gathering is generally devoted to "hanger flying."