"Kind Lady" To Star Polytique

By Mrs. Bill Leary

Heard is an atonement to those who think that there is no attraction in female characters.

The San Luis Obispo Little Theatres, an organization of students devoted to the production of plays, announced today that a three-act drama, to be presented at the school's auditorium, will feature Mrs. James McGrath, Poly instructor, as part of their program.

Many students have criticized the "labor" of a young, hard-working director, while the little company has been selected as the "lucky" one to be directed from the beginning of the season.

"I am not interested in politics, but I don't seem to be suffering too much."

The main plot deals with a group of characters as it evolves the bonds. Nothingliness about the thing, it's all about a man's natural heart.

Mills Adams, wife of Poly's wrestling team, plays the part of a character in the show. Shelly Winkler, wife of the new student, plays the lead. Dennis Johnson, a student of Poly, took the part of the impressario. His final play started on the stage in the corner of the room.

State Teacher's Council Elects Men To Office

By Robert H. Stewert, Dean of the Science and Humanities division at Cal Poly, the Teachers Council on Teacher Education, will meet on Friday and Saturday at Yosemite College.

GATORS TUMBLED 40-0; POLY ON COMEBACK TRAIL

By Lee Hays

The old nag became rejuvenated last Friday night and turned into a galloping Mustang which overshadowed the San Jose State Poly and its 17-16 lead at the beginning of the last quarter. The Fiday steeplechase, after a kick-off fumble, saw the Mustangs charge to the Poly goal line with a 40-0 win over the visitors. The Poly half was intercepted by Gator half back Bill Hume, and sent the score to 10-0. During the first quarter, the Mustangs outscored the Poly, 10-0. In the second period, the Mustangs turned up the heat, and scored four touchdowns, 20 points. The Mustangs scored two more touchdowns in the third quarter, and took the lead over Poly, 40-0. The Mustangs' defense was solid, holding the Poly offense to just 16 points. The Mustangs' defense was led by the outstanding performances of Lee Culver and Bill Hume. Culver intercepted two passes, and scored two touchdowns, while Hume intercepted two passes and scored a touchdown. The Mustangs' offense was led by the running of Bill Hume, who scored two touchdowns, and the passing of Lee Culver, who threw two touchdown passes. The Mustangs' win over Poly was a great start to their season, and they will look to continue their momentum in their upcoming games.
Idle Chatter

From Idaho this week comes this story of a woman angler. It seems she had just caught a small trout from a jewelry store pond, when three Pacific Coast fishermen had just bought a 1,000 dollar trout from a dawn frog as a trout lure.

Vera must be an Optimist of all ages that every 10th little bit is good, a lot will be much better, she is now after the rainbow with a lure no less than $300. It is made with kitten gold and five hundred diamonds.

If I was a fish, I think I'd be very much flattered. As a matter of fact, a gal who is worth that much, wouldn't have much trouble living a lot of things.

I wonder if she is good looking, too.

The law of averages has started to make it up to Mary S. B. for the dirty trick she played on him last week.

Educational Week

El Mustang is the Student newspaper of California State Polytechnic College. The themes "Strengthening the Foundation of Freedom" used in conjunction with American Education Week, Nov. 7-13, 1948, is a year-long project to help students understand the value of repetition in educational matters. The significance of the theme is to promote the idea that education is not just the imparting of knowledge, but also the development of character and moral values.
