Hydraulics Lab Demonstration Prepared For Poly Royal

A demonstration of the equipment in the hydraulics lab this week followed months of work by Keith Mikesell and John B. Collette.

With most of the mechanical work completed, Mikesell and Collette are starting preparations for a demonstration at Poly Royal. This will be the first chance for the public to see and Collette are starting preparations for a demonstration at Poly Royal. In addition to the lab there will be models and cutaways of pumps and other equipment set up.

Humble Beginning
Mikesell and Collette, ME students, standing out with an idea and a surplus Army chlorinator, have designed and built the lab for the San Luis Obispo campus of California State Polytechnic College.

A pipe test rack was built from sections of a radio antenna and various sizes of pipes and fittings were welded and a welding system was put up. The walls and floor were laid out of a transformer vault and a concrete floor, trough and ump. A valuable project was the building of a small storage building near the lab.

Equipment Installed includes the following: an electronic detector which is able to test faults in clothing. This type of machine is used in the manufacture of yarndge, and any faults in the yarns are automatically indicated. This year's Poly Royal exhibit will show a variety of electronic machines used in industry. In fact, a portable application of electronic equipment was mailed free of charge by the American Society for Testing and Materials.

A high voltage machine will be shown, a high voltage machine that will be shown that will test the equipment. The display is the result of a number of reports will be laid out for inspection. These reports indicate the knowledge a student has gained after running tests on a certain piece of equipment.

Other types of machines, such as a high frequency generator, Rexon, and the voltage regulator used in conjunction with a generator, will be shown.

Nurseriesmen Report Slackened Sales

Spring sales of nursery stock are 50 per cent below last years levels, stated Howard C. Brown, instructor of ornamental horticulture, in a recent interview. Brown further stated that this is especially true of field grown stock and pot plants due to unusual cold weather conditions. "The shrub sales were above those of last year, being used to replace foundation plantings which were done last fall. The outlook for the rest of the year is exceedingly good," Brown said.

Campus Staff Donates $350 For Red Cross

A check for $350 has been sent to the chairman of the San Luis Obispo Red Cross drive by the employees, Associated California Polytechnic college. The money was contributed by employees of the college, including faculty and staff members, during an all-inclusive drive conducted on the Cal Poly campus last fall.

Librarian Revises Information Index For New Bulletins

The library's system of filing documentary data and information is undergoing a complete reorganization by Frank H. Allen, assistant librarian of the library's staff. Allen stated that the new system, which is in its first stage of development, would include the following sections: pamphlets, bulletins, and pamphlets. Under the new system, all pamphlets and bulletins will be reclassified according to subject, title, and author. The new system will provide a means of locating information published by various institutions which under the present system is extremely difficult.

He stated, "Publications and pamphlets are among the most valuable sources of information, and the student will find them invaluable in the library. The present system is extremely difficult to locate information, and the student will find them invaluable in the library. The present system is extremely difficult to locate.

Jaspersen Residents Form Dormitory Club

Residents of Jaspersen dormitory have banded together to organize a dormitory club. Birthday of the new club was Tuesday, March 21, when the first official meeting was held in the dormitory lounge. There residents unanimously elected the officers of the organization which will guide the group.

The club, which consists of having no dues, holds business and social meetings every week on Tuesday night in Jaspersen lounge. The club is under the direction of faculty advisor. Veterans Questions And Answers

Q—I am a World War I veteran who has been suffering from a chronic ailment for some time. May I go to a private hospital in my home town and have Veterans Administration pay the bill?

A—You may provide only if your doctor certifies to (1) your death is imminent, (2) your service-connected disability is at least total, and (3) the treatment is essential to prevent suffering or save life.

Q—My child was born five months after the close of my hospital, a World War I veteran. Is the child considered a full beneficiary as to death pension or compensation?

A—The posthumous child of a veteran is entitled to allowance as to death pension or compensation at the same rate as a child born during the lifetime of such veteran.

Q—May benefits be paid for a veteran's service-connected disability which existed before the veteran entered the service?

A—Yes. Payments may be made to the person who has custody of the child while the father was in the service.

Q—I am going to college under the G.I. bill. Will I have to refund the tuition if I leave school before the end of the school year?

A—Yes, if you drop out of college before the end of the period for which you have paid tuition. Your school will have to pay VA for the time you did not attend school or you will lose eligibility for the training time covered by these payments.

AG ENGINEERS

The Agricultural Engineering Society, with headquarters in the Agriculture Building, is sponsoring wagon tours during the two days of Poly Royal with Elvert Duley, chairman of the touring committees. In charge. Two tractor drawn wagons will tour the campus, leaving from and returning to the Ag Education building every half hour between 10:30 and 4 p.m. All faculty members are urged to attend and assist in the affair. J. R. Marano stated.

FACULTY club

Tickets for the Faculty club dance scheduled for Saturday, April 23, are now available, it was announced today. "Easter Parade" is the dance theme for the affair, and all family members are urged to attend. Frank Stevenson said.

Dance tickets may be purchased from Ogles Mortenson, Harry Elston, Fred Gertz, Henry Gray, and Harlan Swift. Door prizes will be held in Cramall gym and the College will provide "swankie music," according to Stevenson.

WASHINGTON, April 6—A new cattle disease—"X"—is creating alarm in the livestock industry. K. T. Simmons, chief of the Agriculture Department's Bureau of Animal Industry, yesterday, in a recent testimony before a House Agriculture Department appropriation subcommittee, the testimony was released today.

Dr. Simms said the disease has appeared in 30 Idaho counties. So far, scientists have not found a way to combat it.

Dr. Simms said symptoms include a thickening of the skin, a discharge from the eyes, drooling from the mouth, and a wart-like growth on the tongue.

He said a high percentage of the affected animals die. There have been cases, he said, where entire herds have been wiped out.

WSSF Makes Faux Pas

Solid evidence that the average American will react violently to any attempt to coerce him was vividly illustrated last Monday in El Corral.

Cigarette smokers received a rude shock upon discovering that the price of their favorite brand of smoke had been upped to twenty-five cents. Inquiries brought forth the explanation that the extra cents required for cigarettes was being "contributed" to the World Student Service Fund. That the WSSF, which had the unwisely sanction of the college administration, was finally dropped after El Corral personnel were bombarded with verbal abuse from indignant students.

The WSSF has suffered irreparable damage. This is substantiated by numerous letters to the editor that have been received condemning the method that was employed to raise funds.

The raises in price of cigarettes was in itself negligible. The majority of students suffered no hardship. But as a result of the price increase, the WSSF made the fatal mistake of violating the democratic principles upon which it based its campaign platform. It made the assertion to force students to make contributions. It was not unnatural for students to become beleaguered to these baseball-ball tactics, and condemn the general principles of this organisation.

Last week President McPhee toured the campus dormitories and found conditions so bad that a new observance called for. The dormitory Todo list was introduced to force students to keep their rooms clean and in order.

The system of rules and regulations has been added in all dormitories since this meeting and dorm residents were asked to comply—or else.

According to these rules there will be no smoking on the premises. In addition, students are expected to keep their dorm rooms clean. Violations of these rules will bring discipline.

Architects Reveal Plans
For Coronation Ball

The Coronation ball, which climaxes the annual Poly Royal, will take place April 30 in the Army field house, Camp S.l.O. The architecture department is sponsoring the ball, and according to its plans it promises to be an affair which has never been paralleled at Cal Poly.

Don Edson who is in charge of the planning and arrangements for the ball said, "This year's coronation ball will be completely a new affair. No longer will the usual committee of five or six people be appointed to handle the planning. Instead, the planning will be completely the responsibility of the architecture class. The time and place of issuance of tickets will be announced by the class, and tickets for the dance are available at El Corral's Home Touch.

The architecture department head, announced today. "Taking a set of restrictions," Priestly stated, "we have the ability to cope with the problem of the architecture department students to build and use free forms on which the house is being handled by the junior architecture students."

Deadline Nearing
For GI Insurance

GI insurance of more than 9,000 veterans is expiring now. These veterans must take action to renew their policies in force, either to extend the expiration date or to cancel them. Veterans whose term insurance is approximately one year or less are those who went into the service early with various National Guard units and the first Selective Service Coercion.

Re-signing GI term insurance contracts may be renewed for a new five year term or converted to a permanent plan. These policies are insured for a total amount of $1,500, and the insurance face value will always be $3,000. Additional coverage will be available later. Policyholders will be entitled to receive the GI pension, if any, from the date the policy was issued. The time and place of the policy renewal will be announced by the department head, Announcing that a large crowd, the department head is considering the possibility of a dance at the Army field house, but at this time, the date is not certain.

Seniors To Picnic

Following the coronation ball, seniors will see the seniors at Arvila at their beach front. They will be a family and student affair. The get-together is expected to last until early in the morning.

All seniors are invited to attend the picnic for which an afternoon of fun and entertainment is planned. The cost will be $1.00 per couple at the information desk.

Freshman Class
Paints Poly 'P'

Swab jobbies and expert white-washers will be in unison in their efforts to transform the inside of the 'P' overlocking the campus.

John Harrison, the president of the freshman season, Tuesday, the paint force of "P" by Freshman will be in early morning.

"All freshmen are urged to join in and help," Harrison said. "The more the merrier!" The trip up the hill will be 1:30 p.m. at Hillcrest parking lot, and the society will consist of two groups. One group will stay up the grounds growing on the "P" and clean away the areas around the "P." The other group will clean and paint the "P" for an hour or more until all is plain and bright," said Harrison.

Experiments Check
Breed Quarantines

A series of quarantine brooding experiments are now in progress at the poultry department. It was announced by Leo Bankoff, poultry instructor. Baby chicks are being brooded in manuscript and dust infested houses to determine the effects of environmental sanitation factors and litter and management on the susceptibility of chicks to the requirements of avian leucosis.

These experimental houses are open to public entry. It is postulated that this disease might prove fatal to baby chicks and that the chicks will be permitted to look in and on the nest. Almond hulls, dried sugar cane pulp and chopped straw are being used to determine their respective advantages or disadvantages as litter.

Students George Hovely, Paul Breguick and Bruce Clark are adding to these experiments while they under the supervision of Bankoff.

Natural History Museum
Plan Shandon Area Tour

The Natural History club will take a field trip to the Shandon area for rock-hounding projects. Dr. Glenn Noble, biology department head, announced today. The purpose of the trip is to familiarize students with the rock formations and geologic features of the Shandon area.

"The bus leaves 2:00 p.m. at Hillcrest parking lot," said Harrison. "For those who want to help with the work, we will be offered the use of tools and equipment."

Camp Cooke- Pepperdine On Weekend Ball Slate

By Leo Bays

The devastating Cal Poly horses-riders posting a .700 per cent average through their northern junket will resume activities Friday and Saturday when they run head on to the camp Cooke and Pepperdine college nine in the local ball park. To date the Camp Cooke aggregation, potentially strong in hitting, will attempt to add another to their three consecutive victories when they trot their number-one flier Veteran Watson against the Mustangs and Don Gormon.

Pepperdine on the other hand, having been second second in the regular season by Poly will give it the old college try when they attempt to manipulate the Polyans come Saturday. However, the Waves haven't much to cheer about in losing three out of their five games thus far. Although Johnson boasts a .575 per cent batting average Poly has been trailing to the season progressions. Waves short-six against Poly has been the deciding factor, and Terry Bell of football fame has been doing nothing but playing the piano. If you can't see their averages of .496 and have been reported have been slipping the pill with ease. The veteran Poly hurler it is reported by using Poly as their first victim. But with Poly having won 11 out of 21 games it looks like these weekend opponents will have no wait until some later date to do their own splashing.

Tentative starting lineups for the visiting teams:

Danny—Daddy, is it a strike again?

Daddy—No, my son, it is perfectly a strike.

Daddy—Well, my teacher has a new strike ball and I hope she'll throw it again.

Grid Practice

If anyone has ever stopped to watch the varsity gridiron in action this past week, he will know that a lot of football has passed back and forth between player and coach.

Due to a deluge of colds acquired during the past weekend and laboratory work, which keeps some of the players out of the line-up for the week. It's a wonder Coach Gormon has not ended up with everybody in the end of the week to have little or no time to practice. In the last weeks scrimmage, Don Gormon had a tackle switched from Santa Maria J.C. showing tremendous ability at blocking through and stopping the player. Jimmy Nagy and Bud Lefolu, two outstanding players for Penn- Yan's green and gold last year, showed great ability in handling the backfield shotes of halfback and fullback respectively. Coach Gormon and his players will try to get through and stop the player. In the coming week the line-up will be changed and no one will be lost.

Ashes to ashes, Dust to dust. May his memory be blessed. If you don't like my sweater, then throw off the hands of my sassy pin.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I believe everyone has noticed the rule regarding that there are no bookings on current events which are on display. If you go to the bulletins in the coffee shop, you will find that it is the same at the Administration Building.

I am sure many students would like to see a bulletin board during the coffee shop hours. For many of the students, the bulletin board is a place where they can get a different perspective on the events that are happening on campus.

Sincerely,

Andresson Martinez

Full House At Home Concert

The California State Polytechnic college Men's Glee Club and Collegian orchestra directed by Arden Davidson, surpass- treatment of the events in which they presented their music at the senior high school auditorium Thursday and Friday nights. This was the eighth annual concert since their organization in 1939 and featured a large number of performers.

The performances showed a polish and technique of the performers. The Men's Glee Club performed with a group of the vocalists from the College Choir. The Collegian orchestra performed in harmony with all the other groups.

A. W. Perry, photographs taken at the concert by the Collegian's photographer, will be published in the next edition of this paper.

Dear Editor,

I heard a person say the other day that the music was very good. I agree. It is always nice to hear good music.

FRIDAY, APRIL 8, 1949

 dear Editor,

I do not understand the purpose of the new lawn. It seems to me that it is just another example of the administration's desire to control the student body. Why not let the students have a say in what should be done on campus?

Sincerely yours,

Walter Peterson

Pembroke, Graduate Farrier, Finds Trade Profitable

By Paul Trellebach

A part-time horseshoeing business, started last summer, is giving Herbert Pembroke, senior student, valuable experience in that field, besides a little extra spending money. Horseshoeing is a new illustration of the Cal Poly slogan "learn by doing" and "earn while learning." Pembroke, who is also a farmer, said the farrier "business" started last summer after he had taken Poly's horseshoeing courses. "At the present time I shoe two or three horses a week from this area south to Arroyo Grande," he said. It takes about one and a half hours to fit and bubble the latest in footwear. The enterprising farrier, which means horseshoeing, owns most of the necessary tools, but uses the garage at the horseshoeing shop across from the dairy silo. While not a college project, the result, self-teaching, is the same. After graduation with a Bachelor of Sciences degree this June 1, Pembroke plans to build up his business in the Napa Valley. "Maybe I can get into dairy and study veterinary medicine, but for the present horseshoeing will be my trade, I'm learning. Being an independent guy, I like to be my own boss. I hate working outside and not knowing what's going on."

A good deal of Pembroke's schooling was received from Ralph Hoover, horseshoeing instructor here, graduate of Michigan State's course and an experienced farrier. Hoover is assisted in various related subjects by faculty members Alvin Pearson, Dr. Dean Lindsey, and Earnest Hatter.

Graduation Candidates Must Evaluate Credits

Students preparing to graduate this June 1, 1949, must report to the registrar's office, Adam Pflug, make a final evaluation of past completed courses so that graduation arrangements may be made and a certificate of degree awarded. With the cooperation of all, a three-week time limit will be observed.

This Student's Work Was by Others

Pembroke said that the cooperatives of Michigan State University, from which he received his diploma, is a former Cal Poly student. The enterprising farrier, which Pembroke likes to call his "business," is well known in the area.
