Plan Field Trip

Arrangements have been made by the Aerostudents to have a field trip to San Francisco Bay area early this February for the purpose of observing and studying the maintenance and operation of large trans-oceanic air ships. Details of this trip will be given at the next meeting of the club to be held February 4 in room 203, Administration building.

Poly Phase To Alter Charter

by ED DUBERN

The Poly Phase Club will meet at 3 p.m. Monday, January 30 in room 304 to discuss changes in the club constitution. This important meeting will be held in the A.C. Aud. at 4 p.m.

At the social meeting last Thursday, John Seaton, club president, called, “I urge all members of the club to be present at our next meeting to discuss proposed changes in our constitution. It is your right and privilege to vote on these proposed changes.”

At last week’s meeting, Keith Anderson was appointed to represent the Electrical Dept. on the Board of Poly. Edward Duttin consented to represent John McManus as the club reporter to the El Mustang.

In Rudig’s club projectionist shop, several interesting films were shown. The first film, “In pursuit of the Flying Fish,” was shown. The second film dealt with the flow of air over airfoils and the section of the ship to various maneuvers. The second film presented the development of carborundum and its uses in industry.

A film on “Fishing to Alaska,” will be shown at the next meeting of the El Mustang Club to be held February 4 at 4 p.m. in room 203, Administration building. Whatever the club contemplates visiting Alaska or not, the film presents a wealth of interesting facts about our northern possession, and should be of interest to everyone.

Dance for the Distastee, a Decided Delight

The power was off and many of those present had no shoes on their shoals, but never-the-less, the “AG. Engineers “’Hard Times” dance last Friday night was adjudged a complete success from the opening strains of “Sophisticated Swing” to the final bars of the same tune some three hours later. This was the stated opinion of every bum and tramp, such very poverty stricken chaps.

But what was more important the judging of the best or worst costume of the ball. An easy winner for this last event was Don Pieter, who was clad in the most motley assembly some of this side of Tidell and Howard, or west of the Bowery. This competition seen since Tobacco Road, in the “First Dollar money order to Kippers.” Then the lid was lifted. The panel proclaimed it proven to be “a riddle.”

Real root of this dance is the book, “Concerning the Art of Deception,” by William Armstrong. Never-the-less, the judges, John Seaton, husband of Lucy, custody of Deception, and Carl Beck are in charge of the Student Wives and this event.

To ease the curse of wretched comforters, the students have provided a grab bag for prizes in the raffle, the axe points on paper towels, cider, pops and soda, wireless cafes, black soap, silk stockings, honey only $1.00, and many other items. The bids are $50.00, you’re invited.

The theme of the evening was “Sophistication” and this was a success, not a failure. The “Sophistication” was run by Bert Fellows, Dietetics major.

'Words Without Music

We have received a good many comments on the editorial which we printed last week. The one called "The Power of the Press"

Most of those who commented on that editorial said that they didn't figure out why the editor was on.

Last week's editorial had no bias toward either side, progressive or reactionary, radical or stable. The editor wanted to point out one fact and one fact only: In his opinion there are too many words printed and spoken in this country. We don't know the meaning of temperance in our use of the English language.

The words which are being used are still interesting in the personal opinion of the editor concerning the A. Y. D. be he will be glad to increase the amount of superficial verbiage extend next week.

If you can't find anything exciting to report—create of them. But they aren't doing too well right now, are they? I shall show you some of my reasons for being against co-education here at Poly.

I. Inadequate housing for the present students, more so for the women too.

II. If Poly has worked a long time to build up a reputation as a private institution, co-education will make our morals better but will not make us better as known. How? For what?

Beautiful Co-eds act a firm? Co-ed? Beautiful Co-eds act a firm? Co-ed? Co-eds? If there is anything wrong with the least. I have an example to show that to better acquaint students with the "Fox" and the "Hare" to social activities of Cal Poly. So, to fill up these activities, I will provide a copy of the magazine. The rules which are being used are still interesting in the personal opinion of the editor concerning the A. Y. D. be he will be glad to increase the amount of superficial verbiage extend next week.

Dear John:

There seems to be a misunderstanding arising from the fact that when you sent me the $1000 your gun was stolen in what I supposed was a minor incident at that time. When it was stolen, it was not worth $1000, and I don’t think it is now.

The $500.00 expense account that Uncle Sam has put in my pocket for books and equipment seems to some people as a gift. The $500.00 is just the cost of doing it, and it is of no more value to me now than it was when I wanted to be a Marine and don’t think I will ever be one.

The next time you think of the $500.00, think of what it is worth to you. I would like to see you give your gun to your children with your own words, while waiting for the day that you can give it back to me.

It’s true that many didn’t earn it, but that is up to Uncle Sam and the idea of a $500.00 allowance after a year’s time is not bad. (Not for John Dear)

Considering the fact that the $50.00 per annum is for my benefit, I would like to have it used for books and equipment that I need. Each major subject has a need for a personal reference library, and for the textbooks that we have now. Is it too great to ask for something I have already earned?

(an ex-doughfoot)

RA: Not. We have an arsenal with the letters. The government, guaranteed certain ex-service-man has made. Others won’t be like to hold your guts in your abdomen with your own mud. None of which was for two or three days, but for months, while waiting for the world to cooperate in every way possible. Also I understand that there are some people who could be bad a good idea. Please don’t think like at present. We are rearmed by you not just what Joe needs.

THE COLLEGE PRESIDENT:

But lack of preparation is to blame.

Barnstorming Five Here Saturday

Kansas City Stars Set to Razzle Dazzle Poly Five

The sensational Kansas City Stars, who in their first season of play last year, won 3 out of 131 games, will be even stronger when they play the Mustangs this Saturday evening.

This season, with a year of experience and with additional stars, the club looks more versatile than any other barnstorming team in the nation. With brilliant shooting and floorwork, plus a razzle-dazzle brand of ball handling, the high-flying Stars have skyrocketed into being one of the foremost exhibition teams of all time.

James Owens, world and Olympic star, is general manager of the team. Word has been received from the Kansas City City Hall in an exhibition contest, all student body card holders will be charged 25 cents for admission. General admission is $1.00. The means that student wise and all family members must pay the general admission price to see the contest. Under no circumstances will any person other than the student body card holder be admitted at a reduced rate.

Because the crowd with the Kansas City Stars is an exhibition contest, all student body card holders will be charged 25 cents for admission. General admission is $1.00. The means that student wise and all family members must pay the general admission price to see the contest. Under no circumstances will any person other than the student body card holder be admitted at a reduced rate.

Some of the greatest Negro basketball players in the West will be out of Star. The team averages six feet, two inches in height, and has an inch average of Poly's team.

The Mustangs, besides suffering from the absence of the services of Ray Roberts and Ted Watson, lost Pat Anderson. Pat Anderson has been playing good ball and family friends have already filled the shoes of the injured Will Moore. In his place will play Folder, former Poly letterman.

Chapman Tops Poly Cagers

By Roy Bricht

Poly's basketball team, after surviving the attacking Los Angeles area, eventually found a way to handle the Los Angeles Mustangs, 57-42.

Chamman guard, tops in the lead for the first half of the game. Poly led at the end of the first six minutes of play, 7-4. Poly's fine team is the result of the half-chance that Chapman had.

Risling was high point man of the game with 17 points. Ball and Risling were the mainstays for the Mustangs with 11 points each. Roy Bricht was the only other Mustang to score out of the game until the last three minutes of the game, when Poly took a 24-14 lead.

Having heard that continued cow feed gives more milk, Harold Smith, milkier for the Dairy Department, has recently set up a radio system in the milking barn which will keep the cows entertained as they are milked.

One is amused at the relaxing, or shall we say contented, look on the cows' faces as the strains of a Strauss waltz fills the air.

Asked what programs the cows liked best, Mr. Smith said that good music was tops on their list, but that soap operas were also enjoyed.

Split Assembly Next Week
There will be a split assembly of the student body next Thursday, February 6. All agriculture students will meet at the A.C. auditorium at 10 a.m. All industrial students will meet at 11 a.m. in the A.C. auditorium.

Announcements of special importance to all students will be presented, and a resume of Poly Royal activities will be given. Entertainment will be provided by the Four Columns and the band.
