6 – Number of U.S. Presidents occupying the White House since Warren Baker assumed the Cal Poly presidency in 1978.

102,237 – Total number of bachelor’s and master’s degrees Cal Poly has awarded since Baker assumed presidency (excluding the upcoming Class of 2010).

17 – Number of consecutive years (including 2009-10) that U.S. News & World Report has rated Cal Poly as the best public master’s university in the West.

1 – Current ranking of Cal Poly’s endowment among the CSU’s 23 campuses ($131 million in 2009).

14,684 – Cal Poly’s student enrollment in Fall 1979, when Baker took the helm.

19,325 – Cal Poly’s student enrollment Fall 2010.

41,000 – Approximate number of applicants to Cal Poly in Fall 2010, competing for about 3,900 spaces.

3.91 – Average grade-point average for first-time Cal Poly students who enrolled in graduate school one year of graduating from Cal Poly.

3,911 – Number of students who enrolled in graduate school during Baker’s tenure.

8,799 – Number of applicants to Cal Poly for Fall 1984.

46 – Number of new buildings/facilities added to campus during Baker’s tenure, including construction projects now under way.

20 – Number of new majors introduced for undergraduates during Baker’s tenure.

30 – Number of new master’s degree programs introduced during Baker’s tenure.

3,924 – Number of masters degree programs offered at Cal Poly as of 2010.

3,924 – Number of master’s degree programs introduced during Baker’s tenure.

19,325 – Cal Poly’s student enrollment in Fall 2009.

14,684 – Cal Poly’s student enrollment in Fall 1979.

41,000 – Total number of bachelor’s and master’s degrees Cal Poly has awarded since Baker assumed presidency (excluding the upcoming Class of 2010).

102,237 – Total number of bachelor’s and master’s degrees Cal Poly has awarded since Baker assumed presidency (excluding the upcoming Class of 2010).

17 – Number of consecutive years (including 2009-10) that U.S. News & World Report has rated Cal Poly as the best public master’s university in the West.

1 – Current ranking of Cal Poly’s endowment among the CSU’s 23 campuses ($131 million in 2009).

14,684 – Cal Poly’s student enrollment in Fall 1979, when Baker took the helm.

19,325 – Cal Poly’s student enrollment Fall 2010.

41,000 – Approximate number of applicants to Cal Poly in Fall 2010, competing for about 3,900 spaces.

3.91 – Average grade-point average for first-time Cal Poly freshmen for Fall 2010.

74 – Percentage of the 3,011 Cal Poly students who enrolled in 2003 and who graduated within six years — a record high for Cal Poly and the best graduation rate in the California State University System.

89 – Percentage of 2007-08 grad who were employed full time or enrolled in graduate school one year of graduating from Cal Poly.

3,200 – Number of acres in the Swanton Poncific Ranch, near Santa Cruz, which alumnus Al Smith bequeathed to Cal Poly in 1993 bringing Cal Poly’s total land holdings to 9,967 acres.

46 – Number of new buildings/facilities added to campus during Baker’s tenure, including construction projects now under way.

20 – Number of new majors introduced for undergraduates during Baker’s tenure.

30 – Number of new master’s degree programs introduced during Baker’s tenure.

3,924 – Number of masters degree programs offered at Cal Poly as of 2010.

3,924 – Number of master’s degree programs introduced during Baker’s tenure.

19,325 – Cal Poly’s student enrollment in Fall 2009.

8,799 – Number of applicants to Cal Poly for Fall 1984.

41,000 – Approximate number of applicants to Cal Poly in Fall 2010, competing for about 3,900 spaces.

3.91 – Average grade-point average for first-time Cal Poly students who enrolled in graduate school one year of graduating from Cal Poly.

3,911 – Number of students who enrolled in graduate school during Baker’s tenure.

8,799 – Number of applicants to Cal Poly for Fall 1984.

46 – Number of new buildings/facilities added to campus during Baker’s tenure, including construction projects now under way.

20 – Number of new majors introduced for undergraduates during Baker’s tenure.

30 – Number of new master’s degree programs introduced during Baker’s tenure.

3,924 – Number of masters degree programs offered at Cal Poly as of 2010.

3,924 – Number of master’s degree programs introduced during Baker’s tenure.

19,325 – Cal Poly’s student enrollment in Fall 2009.

8,799 – Number of applicants to Cal Poly for Fall 1984.

41,000 – Approximate number of applicants to Cal Poly in Fall 2010, competing for about 3,900 spaces.

3.91 – Average grade-point average for first-time Cal Poly students who enrolled in graduate school one year of graduating from Cal Poly.

3,911 – Number of students who enrolled in graduate school during Baker’s tenure.

8,799 – Number of applicants to Cal Poly for Fall 1984.

41,000 – Approximate number of applicants to Cal Poly in Fall 2010, competing for about 3,900 spaces.

3.91 – Average grade-point average for first-time Cal Poly students who enrolled in graduate school one year of graduating from Cal Poly.

3,911 – Number of students who enrolled in graduate school during Baker’s tenure.

8,799 – Number of applicants to Cal Poly for Fall 1984.

41,000 – Approximate number of applicants to Cal Poly in Fall 2010, competing for about 3,900 spaces.

3.91 – Average grade-point average for first-time Cal Poly students who enrolled in graduate school one year of graduating from Cal Poly.

3,911 – Number of students who enrolled in graduate school during Baker’s tenure.

8,799 – Number of applicants to Cal Poly for Fall 1984.

41,000 – Approximate number of applicants to Cal Poly in Fall 2010, competing for about 3,900 spaces.

3.91 – Average grade-point average for first-time Cal Poly students who enrolled in graduate school one year of graduating from Cal Poly.

3,911 – Number of students who enrolled in graduate school during Baker’s tenure.

8,799 – Number of applicants to Cal Poly for Fall 1984.

41,000 – Approximate number of applicants to Cal Poly in Fall 2010, competing for about 3,900 spaces.

3.91 – Average grade-point average for first-time Cal Poly students who enrolled in graduate school one year of graduating from Cal Poly.

3,911 – Number of students who enrolled in graduate school during Baker’s tenure.

8,799 – Number of applicants to Cal Poly for Fall 1984.

41,000 – Approximate number of applicants to Cal Poly in Fall 2010, competing for about 3,900 spaces.

3.91 – Average grade-point average for first-time Cal Poly students who enrolled in graduate school one year of graduating from Cal Poly.

3,911 – Number of students who enrolled in graduate school during Baker’s tenure.

8,799 – Number of applicants to Cal Poly for Fall 1984.

41,000 – Approximate number of applicants to Cal Poly in Fall 2010, competing for about 3,900 spaces.

3.91 – Average grade-point average for first-time Cal Poly students who enrolled in graduate school one year of graduating from Cal Poly.

3,911 – Number of students who enrolled in graduate school during Baker’s tenure.

8,799 – Number of applicants to Cal Poly for Fall 1984.

41,000 – Approximate number of applicants to Cal Poly in Fall 2010, competing for about 3,900 spaces.

3.91 – Average grade-point average for first-time Cal Poly students who enrolled in graduate school one year of graduating from Cal Poly.

3,911 – Number of students who enrolled in graduate school during Baker’s tenure.

8,799 – Number of applicants to Cal Poly for Fall 1984.