CPR schedule

The Cal Poly Report is published every Wednesday during the academic year. Articles are due to Public Affairs by 16 Wednesdays for the following week's edition. Articles may be e-mailed to polyline@polytechnic.edu, faxed to 6-6533, or mailed to Public Affairs, PO Box 5190, San Luis Obispo, CA 93407.

Full steam ahead

Swansea Pacific Rugby Club's referee rides on its 1/3-scale steam-powered train in celebration of St. David's Day on April 9. See details on page 5.

Inaugural award given for renewable energy project

Cal Poly's Renewable Energy Institute has awarded almost $20,000 to fund a project to collect, organize and interpret climate information for 25 U.S. cities—including information that will be especially useful to architectural designers.

The award— the inaugural award of the Sociology of Building Science Education/Evelyn and Harold Hay Fund (SBSE/ EHE)— was given to Washington University Professor D. Day for his project "Climate Design Resources."

Student employees to be feted at April 6 reception

Judy Ann Fetcho, the 1999-2000 Outstanding Student Employee of the Year, and other students nominated for the award will be recognized at a reception in her honor 11 a.m.-noon April 6 in Club 221 in the UU.

President Baker will present a certificate of appreciation to Fetcho at the event, which coincides with National Student Employment Week. All student employees and their supervisors are invited to attend.

Fetcho is a mathematics graduate student, was cited for being a well-rounded student. She was nominated by her supervisors, Francesca Fairbrother and Sheryl O'Neill, both of the Mathematics Department.

Fetcho was unanimously selected from among 22 student nominees. She has worked in the Mathematics Department since 1997, when she was a junior. She now works two days a week in the mathematics department while pursuing a master's degree.
Library returns San Simeon architectural drawings

The Kennedy Library, which houses a year-round collection of works by renowned Hearst Castle architect Julia Morgan, has returned a collection of vintage San Simeon architectural drawings to the library. The drawings, from Morgan's architectural firm, were originally stored in La Casa Grande, the estate's administration building. In 1961, when the estate was given to the California Department of Parks and Recreation in the last 50 years.

In 1981, Hearst Castle staff members arranged for the materials to be taken to the Kennedy Library so they could be housed in a professional archival setting and made available to scholars. The drawings, in digital technology and the castle's new commitment to building an online archive have made it possible for the drawings to be reviewed by San Simeon.

Math Professor O'Neill receives teaching award

Mathematics Professor Thomas O'Neill received the 2000 Distinguished Teaching of Mathematics at a College or University Award from the Southern California Section of the Mathematical Association of America.

O'Neill, who has been teaching at Cal Poly since 1973, was selected from a list of nominees representing the mathematics departments of California universities and colleges from San Luis Obispo to the Mexican border.

His selection makes him the Southern California Teacher of the Year and a nominee for the National Teacher of the Year Award.

O'Neill was honored by DRC (Disability Resource Center) during the evening banquet of the National Association of State Universities and Land-grant Colleges.

Shival Experience to play benefit concert April 14

Shival Experience, one of the Central Coast rock band's 'non-commercial' bands, will kick off its U.S. tour with a benefit concert at 7 p.m. April 14 in the UU Plaza.

Proceeds from the concert will help fund activities of YO PAC (Youth Opportunities for Performing Arts Center) and create new seats for the Theatre.}

Commuter Services helps beat high gas prices

Cal Poly students can beat the high price of gas by joining one of Commuter Services' van pools.

South County van pools have immediate openings and can accommodate state, Foundation and ASI employees from San Luis Obispo or the Five Cities area who work or attend classes in North County.

Because of the Santa Cruz construction, North County residents who ride the bus are eligible for a special incentive program that allows them to earn points toward prizes.

Everyone living outside San Luis Obispo city limits can buy a discounted bus pass valued at $5 to $15, And, San Luis Obispo city residents are still eligible for a Cal Poly I.D.

Shival Experience to play benefit concert April 14

Shival Experience, one of the Central Coast rock band's 'non-commercial' bands, will kick off its U.S. tour with a benefit concert at 7 p.m. April 14 in the UU Plaza.

Cal Poly to participate in Alcohol Screening Day

Employees, others honored by DRC

Marcia Friedman, in Academic Records, Professor James Mueller, Mathematics, eta community member, and several volunteers stemming from the Disability Resource Center for their exceptional efforts on behalf of students with disabilities.

Friedman received the center's Staff of the Year Award. Mueller was the Faculty of the Year recipient, and Linda Benschlman of the California Department of Rehabilitation was honored as the Community Person of the Year.

In addition, students with disabilities received a $100 honorarium thanks to contributions from corporate sponsors and individual donors.

Friedman was honored for her 'customer-friendly service and knowledgeable assistance in understanding the numerous policies and procedures for which students are eligible.'

Mueller was also entitled for his ability to make math 'fun.'

Benchman was recognized for his longstanding work as an advocate for and liaison to students with disabilities.

Also at the 2000 Distinguished Teaching Awards Banquet, more than 60 volunteers who read to kids in schools for students with visual impairments and learning disabilities were recognized. During winter quarter, volunteers read more than 111 books, and many individuals accumulated more than 36 hours of reading.

Fifteen employees feted at 'Apple Polysher'

Fifteen faculty and staff members were honored recently at the 13th annual "Apple Polysher," an event hosted by the Poly Faculty and Staff Organization to honor favorite employees.

Those selected were invited by a Poly Rep to a way to say "thanks" to someone who has made a difference in his or her life. The honorees receive a certificate recognizing the event.

This year's awardees were Christina Bailey, Chemistry and Biochemistry; Cliff Bradford, Industrial Technology; Chris Carr, Global Strategy and Law; Glen Casey, Agricultural Education; Bob Chrissinet, Psychology; Thomas Draper, Speech Communication; kenneth Dwyer, Physical Education; Barry Floyd, Management; Dennis Vey, Biological Sciences; Kay Glasgow, Management; Bill Hetrick, Natural Resources Management; Jen Howell, English; Bill Jordan, Physics; Scott Kamp, Chemistry; Kevin Sheehan, Business; Tietje, Marketing, and John Watts. For more information, call Ed Johnson at ext. 6-5227.

Two Math Colloquia planned in March, April

California Institute of Technology Professor Ning Ju will present "Hyperbolic Differential Equations" as the first spring quarter Mathematics Colloquium on Thursday (March 30).

First-line supervisors invited to April 6 program

The Employee Assistance Program and Human Resources and Employment Equity invite first-line supervisors to hear trainer-consultant Connie Moxness talk on "Supervisors' Fault Par," from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. April 6 in the Veranda Cafe.

The talk is the second in a series of First-Line Supervisors' Network programs, intended to provide a forum to discuss and form strategies to address a variety of supervisory problems. The final program will be May 4.

For more information, call Luann McDonald, chair of the Selection Committee for Cal Poly's Outstanding Student Employee of the Year, at ext. 6-5985.

Physics Colloquia to continue Thursday

The Physics Colloquia series will continue on Thursdays spring quarter with "This Year's Nobel Prize in Physics: Making Infinity Respectable," as part of the Lyceum lecture series sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts and Ethnic Studies Department.

First presentations will be 1-2 p.m., Monday in Room 5-45 in the Science Building. The dates, speakers and topics are:

• April 6 - Gregory Clark, senior scientist at Lawrence-Livermore National Laboratory, "Acoustic Signal and Imaging Processing at LLNL and Event Picking for Seismic Oil Exploration."

• April 13 - President Baker, California Science and Technology Workforce Implications at Cal Poly.

• April 27 - Cal Poly Physics Lecturer Nick Brown, "The Reality of Illusion."

For more information, call the Mathematics Department at ext. 6-2206 or by selecting "About Cal Poly" on the Cal Poly home page.
April 9 is Al Smith Day at Swanton Pacific Ranch

Train rides and an old-fashioned barbecue will be on tap during Al Smith Day at the Swanton Pacific Ranch at Davisport, 11 miles north of Santa Cruz, on April 9. Guests can ride the ranch's 1/3-scale steam-powered train from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. After lunch, ranch tours and demonstrations of dogs herding sheep will be given. Al Smith Day is named in honor of College of Agriculture alumnus Al Smith, who left his 3,200-acre Swanton Pacific Ranch, valued at $20 million, to Cal Poly when he died in 1993. Smith earned a bachelor's degree in crop science in 1944 and a master's in agril­ulture education in 1956. The ranch serves as an extension of Cal Poly's instructional programs in agriculture, forestry, and other disciplines.

The barbecue costs $12 for adults and $6 for children 8 and younger. Reservations for Al Smith Day are due April 5. Call Ed Carneige at 995-3659 to make them.

Fiscal year-end deadlines approaching

The Budget and Analytical Business Services office recently distributed to campus offices its annual memo outlining fiscal year-end deadlines for financial processes. The deadlines include purchase requisitions, chargebacks, payroll, petty cash, travel and budget transfers. To see a complete list of dates, visit the Contract and Procurement Services Web page at www.afd.calpoly.edu/Procurement/contract/ and the Budget and Analytical Business Services Web page at http://www.afd.calpoly.edu/Budget.

Kaila Flexer and her band, The Next Village, play traditional Eastern European folk music.

"Klezmermania!" to play April 5 at the PAC

A comedian-emcee and two klezmer bands — one traditional, the other contemporary — will appear in "Klezmermania!" at 8 p.m. April 5 in Harman Hall in the Performing Arts Center. Titled as a cultural experience as well as a concert, "Klezmermania!" showcases the roots and the possibilities of klezmer music, referred to as traditional Eastern European folk music or Yiddish music.

This Cal Poly Arts show features Kaila Flexer and her band, The Next Village. The San Francisco Klezmer Experience will also perform.

Kaila Flexer founded the four-member band in 1993. Their first compact disc garnered critical acclaim for "inventing an improvisational twist on traditional Eastern European folk music." The ensemble is known for combining elements of jazz, Latin, world and folk with Eastern European music.

The San Francisco Klezmer Experience includes Yiddish singer Jeanette Lewicki and an all-star roster of nationally recognized klezmer musicians. Tickets cost $25 and $28. Student discounts are available.

信息系统: Second Hand Dance blends dance, theater, comedy

New York-based Second Hand Dance, a company of three men whose act combines acrobatics, modern dance and comedy, will perform at 7 p.m. April 9 at the Cal Poly Theatre.

The early career time makes it possible for the entire family to attend this Cal Poly Arts Family Event. Second Hand Dance is described as a post-modern performance ensemble. The dancers intertwine to form what appears to be sculpture in motion.

They use their bodies and an odd assortment of costumes and props, such as cutting boards, popcorn poppers and vegetables, to create a blend of dance, theater, comedy, wit and muscle.

The show is intended to appeal to the kid in everyone. The group uses improvisational, pattern-breaking gestures that focus on trust and awareness of the group as a whole. Performances include waltzing dogs, flashlight tangos, a human fly and Velcro hats.

The company, founded in 1987, gets its name from its use of materials found in dumpsters, alleys and thrift shops to make their costumes and props.

The New York Times said Second Hand dancers have "superb, even spellbinding, physical control."

Tickets cost $10 and $12. Student discounts are available.

Nomination for President's Diversity Award

The President's Diversity Award is designed to recognize campus units that have exhibited commitment to the value of cultural diversity. Campus units are encouraged to participate.

Nomination Criteria:

In order to be considered for the Diversity Award, a campus unit must have exhibited commitment to the value of cultural diversity in one or more of the following ways:

- Recruitment or retention efforts.
- Improvement of students or employee understanding of the value of cultural diversity.
- University or community service in support of diversity or multiculturalism.
- Scholarly contributions in the area of multiculturalism or diversity.
- Advocacy of diversity.

All of the above areas must support and be consistent with the mission of Cal Poly as an institution of higher education. A campus unit is broadly defined as any recognized unit of a university department or program, institution of higher education, or council.

On the back of this sheet, describe how the nominated campus unit has shown commitment to cultural diversity in the area(s) indicated above. (Please attach up to two additional pages, if necessary.)

Nomination Procedures:

Any faculty member, staff member, student, or campus unit may nominate an eligible campus unit (see above definition) for the Diversity Award. Nominations are made by filling out and completing this form. The completed nomination form must be submitted to:

Harry Hellenbrand
Co/Diversity Award Selection Committee
College of Liberal Arts

Deadline for nominations: Monday, April 24

Friday talk part of Lyceum lecture series

Philip Deloria, assistant professor of history at the University of Colorado, Boulder, will present "I'll Never go Back to South Dakota Again: Three Tales of Crossed Culture" at 7 p.m. Thursday (March 30) in the Business Rotunda (Room 213). Deloria is author of "Playing Indian" and co-author of "The Native Americans." The talk is part of the Lyceum lecture series, sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts and Ethnic Studies Department.

For more information, call ext. 6-2706.

Appointments

Phil Doub, formerly of the Agribusiness Department, has been appointed interim head of the Food Science and Nutrition Department. He will serve until a permanent department head is appointed.

Doub came to Cal Poly in 1985.

... Fetcho

The selection committee recognized Fetcho for "balancing a challenging job with the Mathematics Department and the Entry Level Mathematics (ELM) office and for remaining active in extracurricular activities.

Fairbrother's nomination letter stated, "Judy has been, and continues to be, one of the great assets of the department. Her expertise and wonderful warm personality have made a favorable impression on visitors, fellow students, faculty and staff."

O'Neill, in referring to the Student Advising Program, stated in her nomination, "Judy has been one of the best assets to this program I have had. She is always positive, enthusiastic, knowledgeable, and tireless in answering the same questions over and over again — and always with a wonderful smile. Her patience is amazing."

As Cal Poly's Outstanding Student Employee of the Year, Fetcho is in the running for the regional competition, sponsored by the Western Association of Student Employment Administrators.

For more information, call Lauren McDonald, chair of the Selection Committee for Cal Poly's Outstanding Student Employee of the Year and National Student Employment Week Planning Committee, at ext. 6-5985.

Physics Colloquium to continue Thursday

The Physics Colloquium series will continue on Thursdays spring quarter with "This Year's Nobel Prize in Physics: Making Infinity Respectable" by Cal Poly Professor Keith Stowe on Thursday (March 30).

All presentations will be 11 a.m.-noon in Room 545 in the Science Building.

First-line supervisors invited to April 6 program

The Employee Assistance Program and Human Resources and Employment Equity invite first-line supervisors to hear trainer-consultant Connie Moxness talk on "Supervisors' Faux Pas" from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. April 6 in the Veranda Cafe.

The talk is the second in a series of First Line Supervisors' Network programs, intended to provide a forum to discuss and form strategies to address a variety of supervisory problems. The final program will be May 4.

Moxness will discuss common mistakes made by supervisors, how to recover from them, and how to prevent them.

Attendees may bring a lunch or buy one. Reservations are not needed.

For more information, call Jean Lund, ext. 6-6563, or Jean De Costa, ext. 6-5198.
