Diversity Award

Harry Stenkelbrand, chair of the university's Diversity Enhancement Committee, echoed what President Baker has said about the Diversity Award annually:

"The university has an ethical obligation to make sure that its doors are open to all groups and individuals in our society," Stenkelbrand said. "There now is a sense of evidence that students benefit as learners when they interact with people from diverse backgrounds and perspectives. And virtually everything we do on this campus — from teaching to preparing foods — can affect how students learn about diversity."

A nomination form is included in this edition of the Cal Poly Report. More information about nomination criteria and procedures is included on the form. Further info is available from the College of Liberal Arts, ext. 6-2706.

Music professor Rackley talks about new show

Music professor Rackley is looking forward to a new show that he is directing and writing for Colorado State University. The show is titled "Red Space," and it is a musical that explores the role of music in the process of evolution. Rackley is excited about the potential of the show to bring about positive change and to inspire audiences to think about the future of humanity. He is also looking forward to working with his team of performers, who are all dedicated to the creation of a meaningful and thought-provoking piece of art. Rackley believes that the show will be a great success and that it will leave a lasting impact on both the audience and the performers. Overall, Rackley is looking forward to the premiere of "Red Space" and the opportunity to share his vision with the world.
Nomination for President's Diversity Award

The President's Diversity Award is designed to recognize campus units that have exhibited commitment to the value of cultural diversity. Campus units are encouraged to participate.

Nomination Criteria:
In order to be considered for the Diversity Award, a campus unit must have exhibited commitment to the value of cultural diversity in one or more of the following ways:

- Recruitment or retention efforts.
- Improvement of student or employee understanding of the value of a culturally diverse climate.
- University or community service in support of diversity or multiculturalism.
- Scholarly contributions in the area of multiculturalism or diversity.
- Advocacy of diversity.

All of the above areas must support and be consistent with the mission of Cal Poly as an institution of higher education. A campus unit is broadly defined as any recognized campus entity such as:

1) A university department or program,
2) An auxiliary department or program, or
3) A campus recognized group, club or council.

Nomination procedures:
Any faculty member, staff member, student, or campus unit may nominate an eligible campus unit (see above definition) for the Diversity Award. Nominations are made by completing this form. The completed nomination form must be submitted to:

Business, Extended Studies candidates for forums changed

Changes and additions have been made in the schedule of open forums designed for the faculty, staff members and students to meet candidates for dean of the College of Business and dean of the College of Extended Studies.

Two forums are scheduled for Thursday (April 20).

Times, some location and one date have been changed for four dean of business candidates, who will be scheduled to:

• William Pendergast: Thursday (April 20), 11 a.m.-noon, Business 114.

Darold Barum: April 27, 11 a.m.-noon, Business 112.

Jack Fuller: May 1, 11 a.m.-noon, Business 341.

John C. Rogers: re-scheduled for May 9, 11 a.m.-noon, Business 341.

Extended Studies Forums

Forums, all in the Veranda Conference Room, have been set for three additional Extended Studies candidates. They are:

• Jean DeCosta, coordinator of Cal Poly's Employee Assistance Program. Thursday (April 20), 2-2:30 p.m.

• William Kruckerbock, director of Worldwide and Nationwide Programs for UC Berkeley University Extension, Tuesday (April 25), 3-3:30 p.m.

• Dennis Parks, associate dean of Continuing Education at the University of Virginia, May 2, 2:30-3 p.m.

Nominations sought for service scholarship

Nominations are being sought for the McGowan-Schultz-Widec Community Service Scholarship, which recognizes one student each year for outstanding service to the campus community.

Activities that apply include volunteer- ing with students on service organizations, involvement in service activities undertaken by academic and special-interest clubs, residence hall service efforts, and individual service activities that are independent of any campus group.

Nominations form, due May 1, should include written verification from all of the person or group served.

The $400 award will be dispensed over three quarters beginning with fall 2000.

Nominations must have a minimum cumulative Cal Poly GPA of 2.5, must have completed at least 45 units of course work at Cal Poly, and must have the equivalent of at least one semester of course work of service to be completed at Cal Poly and have the intent of continued community service thereafter.

The McGowan-Schultz-Widec scholarship is named for two Cal Poly alumni and a VISA (Volunteers in Service to America) volunteer for their outstanding contributions to the Cal Poly community service program.

For more information or an application, call Community Service Programs Coordinator at ext. 6-5839 or stop by UU 217.

Probationary faculty eligible for summer grants

Probationary faculty members are invited to submit proposals by May 8 to support research on campus.

Eligible faculty members are invited to prepare a proposal not to exceed two pages, which would help them achieve tenure and promotion.

The finalists selected by the Cal Poly Foundation will be awarded on a competitive basis. Applications and guidelines are available from the Human Resources and Employment Office, Admin. 110.

Nominations sought for Diversity Award

Nominations are due Monday (April 24) for the annual President’s Diversity Award for 1997-98 to recognize units on campus that have "exhibited commitment" to the value of diversity. The award carries with it a $1,000 augmentation to the winning unit’s budget for next year.

President Baker established the award following recommendations by the campus Equal Opportunity Advisory Council. Last year, the winner was the Cal Poly Black Faculty and Staff Association for their contributions to the university’s efforts to recruit and retain diverse students, teachers and staff members. The winner in 1998 was the Staff Council Cultural Awareness Committee for the same time. The group sponsored a number of workshops and cultural events for the campus community.

National award to DeMers for aquatic safety work

Physical Education and Kinesiology Department Chair and Professor Gerald DeMers has received a national award for his research on handling aquatic spinal injuries and for contributions to the development of the American Red Cross, the YMCA of the USA, United States Diving, and aquatic education programs. He received the Meritorious Award from the Aquatic Council of the American Association of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance at the organization’s national convention in Oklahoma City.

DeMers’ work on spinal injuries resulted in the adoption of new rescue techniques by all U.S. organizations that train lifeguards. He was honored for his work in introducing African-American youth to the world of agriculture. With the help of continued on page 6
