Alptekin appointed chair

Sema Alptekin, who is serving a three-year term as chair of the Industrial and Manufacturing Engineering Department, has been reappointed for another three years, beginning fall quarter. Alptekin has been at Cal Poly since 1994.

Business dear

Continued from page 1

Economics, Finance, Global Strategy and Law, Industrial Technology, Management, and Marketing

Pendergast has been at the Monterey campus since 1996. He was the International Business Dean of the Year in 1996 by the International Management Development Association.

He served as dean at the Cheungsauk Management Center in Prague, where he was the chief academic and administrative officer of the first independent business school in the Czech Republic.

Pendergast was associate dean for international programs at Boston University from 1984 to 1991 and director of Boston University's Brussels, Belgium, office. He managed joint degree programs with Vrije Universiteit Brussel from 1984 to 1988.

Before that he was director of academic affairs for Boston University's Overseas Program in Heidelberg, Germany, and assistant professor in Business's Overseas Program, teaching graduate courses in the international systems, European Integration, European comparative government, the廉政 policy program, nuclear technology and arms proliferation.

Pendergast has delivered talks and papers at professional conferences worldwide with the National Foreign Affairs Council.

... Trainers

Continued from page 3

train them to become effective leaders in their organizations and their communities. These skills will help students succeed as campus leaders and gain the qualities and abilities that employers desire in new hires.

Anyone interested in presenting a training seminar at the conference can contact Hartle at ext. 6-2292.

July 12 next CPR deadline

Cal Poly Report is published every other week during summer quarter.

The next CPR deadline is July 19, at 10 a.m. July 12. Submit all articles by e-mail to polynomial@polywall.com.
The Open University program through Extended Education enables people who are not Cal Poly students to enroll in most university course offerings.

For information, call Vivian Steele, Extended Education, at ext. 6-2033.

Leaves of Absence

June Langston, 85
Retired Cal Poly department secretary June Kathryn Langston of Atascadero died June 21 at a local care facility.

Langston, whose last assignment at Cal Poly was in the Graphic Communication Department, worked at the university from 1969 to 1979.

Retirement reception for Sharp planned

The campus community is invited to a retirement reception in honor of Harry Sharp, senior university associate director of Extended University Programs and Services, from 3 to 5 p.m. Tuesday (July 11) in the Smith Alumni and Conference Center.

Sharp is retiring Aug. 1 after 25 years of service at Cal Poly as a professor of speech communication, associate dean of the College of Liberal Arts and interim dean of the college.

Following his retirement, Sharp plans to teach part time in the Speech Communication Department.

The reception is hosted by Provost Paul Zingg.

Film on Iraq sanctions to show July 11

Is U.S. and British policy killing children in Iraq?

That question is explored in "Paying the Price: Killing the Children of Iraq," a film that will be shown at 7 p.m. Tuesday (July 11) in Phelps Hall.

The film, by award-winning British writer and documentary filmmaker John Pilger, focuses on charges that U.N. sanctions against Iraq, particularly the blocking of food and medical supplies, have caused the death of between 4,000 and 6,000 children.

The film examines the notion that the sanctions, supported by the United States and Britain, are targeted not just at Saddam Hussein but also at the people of Iraq.

A panel discussion will follow the film.

The event is free and open to the public.

EAP series to look at crime, emotions

The Employee Assistance Program will hold two Learn-at-Lunch sessions during summer quarter, the first on crime safety, the second on emotional intelligence.

Both will be on a Tuesday from noon to 1 p.m. in the Veranda Conference Room.

"Crime: How Safe Are You? Perception vs. Reality" will be presented next Tuesday (July 11) by University Police Chief Tony Aselti.

"Emotional Intelligence" Aug. 15.

Both are open to Cal Poly employees and their families at no charge. Attendees are welcome to bring a lunch.

For more information call the Employee Assistance Program at ext. 6-4-EAP (0327).

Workshop trainers needed for conference

Campus trainers and educators are invited to be part of a conference designed to teach students team building, communication and leadership skills.

LEADS (Leadership Education and Development) will hold 35 seminars.

Anyone interested in donating should send their tax-deductible gift to Retired Faculty and Staff Club, 1335 Foothill Blvd., San Luis Obispo, CA 93405.

For more information call Vivian Steele, Extended Education, at ext. 6-2033.

Members of the Retired Faculty and Staff Club are helping fund a scholarship endowment.

PAGE 3
‘Open University’ class rosters to be mailed

Exuded Education expects to mail the first class rosters July 13 to instructors who have students enrolled in classes through the Open University (formerly known as Concurrent Enrollment). The second class roster will be mailed July 26.

Leaves solicitation for Pauline Thomas

Pauline E. Thomas, administrative support coordinator in Academic Records, has qualified for personal catastrophic leave. Eligible state employees may donate vacation credit and sick leave to help her remain in full-pay status during an extended absence.

Those interested in donating leave may request the Catastrophic Leave Donation form from solicitation coordinator Jane Lepphardt in Academic Records at ext. 6-2157 or by e-mail.

CSEA employees (Units 2, 5, 7 and 9) may donate up to 32 hours; and all other eligible state employees may donate up to a total of 16 hours sick leave and/or vacation credit per fiscal year in increments of one hour or more.

Retirement reception for Sharp planned

The campus community is invited to a retirement reception in honor of Harry Sharp, senior university associate director of Extended University Programs and Services, from 3 to 5 p.m. Tuesday (July 11) in the Smith Alumni and Conference Center.

Sharp is retiring Aug. 1 after 25 years of service at Cal Poly in a professor of speech communication, associate dean of the College of Liberal Arts and interim dean of the college.

Following his retirement, Sharp plans to teach part time in the Speech Communication Department.

The reception is hosted by Provost Paul Zingg.

Film on Iraq sanctions to show July 11

Is U.S. and British policy killing children in Iraq?

That question is explored in “Paying the Price: Killing the Children of Iraq,” a film that will be shown at 7 p.m. Tuesday (July 11) in Phelps Hall.

The film, by award-winning British writer and documentary filmmaker John Pilger, focuses on charges that U.N. sanctions against Iraq, particularly the blocking of food and medical supplies, have caused the death of between 4,000 and 6,000 children.

The film examines the notion that the sanctions, supported by the United States and Britain, are targeted not just at Saddam Hussein but also at the people of Iraq.

A panel discussion will follow the film.

The event is free and open to the public. It is partly sponsored by the Cal Poly Catholic Newman Center and the Cal Poly Progressive Student Association.

For more information, call 543-6232 or 543-4105.

EAP series to look at crime, emotions

The Employee Assistance Program will hold two Learn-at-Lunch sessions during summer quarter, the first on crime safety, the second on emotional intelligence.

Both will be on a Tuesday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Veranda Conference Room.

“Crime: How Safe Are You? Perception vs. Reality” will be presented next Tuesday (July 11) by University Police Chief Tony Astils.

Angie Ondsen, a psychologist-practitioner in private practice, will present “Emotional Intelligence” Aug. 15.

Both are open to Cal Poly employees and their families at no charge. Attendees are welcome to bring a lunch.

For more information call the Employee Assistance Program at ext. 6-0-EAP (0327).

Members of the Retired Faculty and Staff Club are helping fund a scholarship endowment.

Workshop trainers needed for conference

Campus trainers and educators are invited to be part of a conference designed to teach students team building, communication and lifetime leadership skills.

LEADS (Leadership Education and Development for Students) will be presented from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Oct. 14 in private practice, will present “Emotional Intelligence” Aug. 15.

Both are open to Cal Poly employees and their families at no charge. Attendees are welcome to bring a lunch.

For more information call the Employee Assistance Program at ext. 6-0-EAP (0327).

Workshop trainers needed for conference

Campus trainers and educators are invited to be part of a conference designed to teach students team building, communication and lifetime leadership skills.

LEADS (Leadership Education and Development for Students) will be presented from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Oct. 14 on campus.

Professional and specialized industry trainers are expected to conduct more than 35 seminars.

A reception where students and industry representatives can gather in an informal setting is also planned.

“This conference is a great way for students to jump-start their careers and develop leadership skills for the future,” said Patricia Harris, coordinator of Leadership Education and Development.

“The conference will be an invaluable experience for students,” Harris said.

“They will be given the opportunity to attend a conference that is virtually just as specialized as an industry seminar for business professionals.”

Students will attend six workshops intended to reinforce existing skills and continued on page 4
Position vacancies

STATE:

Continued from page 1

San Luis Obispo, CA 93407
Vol. 54, No. 38 • July 5, 2000

Check the Human Resources and Employment Equity Web site at www.calpoly.edu, under Employment Opportunities;

Call the HREE Job Line at ext. 6-1533.

For a listing of new openings, check The Poly Source, available in the Union.

There are 107 positions open throughout the Polytechnic University System.

A list of all positions is available online at www.calpoly.edu, under Employment Opportunities.

Application materials must be received (not just postmarked) by the closing date. Envelopes postmarked by the deadline will not be accepted.

If you have questions, please call HREE at ext. 6-2237.

Published by Public Affairs • www.calpoly.edu/departments/CPR/report.htm

www.calpoly.edu,

Continued from page 1

Business dean

Economics, Finance, Global Strategy and Law, Industrial Technology, Management, and Marketing

Pendergast has been at Cal Poly since 1994. He was named the International Business Dean of the Year in 1998 by the International Management Development Association.

From 1991 to 1994 he served as dean at the Czechoslovak Management Center in Prague, where he was the chief academic and administrative officer of the first independent business school in the Czech Republic.

Pendergast was associate dean for international programs at Boston University from 1984 to 1991 and director of the University of Brussels, Belgium, where he managed joint graduate degree programs with Vrije Universiteit Brussel from 1984 to 1989.

Before that he was director of academic affairs for Boston University’s Overseas Programs in Heidelberg, Germany, and assistant professor in Bowin’s Overseas Program, teaching graduate courses in the international system, European Integration, European comparative government, the廉政 policy program, nuclear technology and weapons proliferation.

Pendergast has delivered talks and papers at professional conferences worldwide and has been editor of the International Management Division, News Letter of the Academy of Management since 1994 and a main-report evaluator for the Academy of Management Annual Meeting since 1995.

He is a member of the International Advisory Board at the Goldring Institute of International Business at Tulane University and a member of the Editorial Board for the Journal of Marketing Channels.

Pendergast earned a bachelor’s degree in 1968 at the University of Notre Dame where he was also a master’s degree in 1968 and a doctorate in 1971 from Columbia University.

Baker continued from page 1

On June 17 Baker spoke on the topic of “The Promise and Perils of Technological Change in the New Century: Reflections on the Special Leadership Role and Responsibility of the Polytechnic University and its Graduates” to the 2,000 graduates attending CUVT’s fifth commencement.

The same day, Baker gave the keynote address for a CUVT symposium on trends in polytechnic education. He highlighted the important characteristics of a polytechnic university and the role of industry and the faculty in developing a curriculum responsive to the needs of a rapidly expanding technology-driven economy.

The audience included presidents, deans and faculty members from several technical universities in central Taiwan.

Earlier Baker visited Hsinchu Science-based Industrial Park and the Industrial Technology Research Institute (ITRI) to discuss joint ventures. He noted that the high-tech development occurring around the Hsinchu Science-based Industrial Park is an excellent model for Cal Poly to use in developing relationships with Hsinchu and the Industrial Technology Research Institute.

Baker and CUVT signed a student exchange agreement in January 1999. The two universities jointly sponsored a July 1999 conference on re-Engineering of Polytechnic Education in the 21st century, held at the Chaoyang campus, Dean of Engineering Peter Lai delivered the keynote address at the conference, where five Cal Poly professors presented papers.

CUVT is a state polytechnic university with 20 departments in four colleges. It is located in Taichung, a three-hour drive south of Taipei. It

Baker trip forges bonds with Taiwan institutions

President Baker strengthened Cal Poly’s ties with a leading university of technology in Taiwan and met with the new president of Taiwan on a recent five-day visit to the island.

At the invitation of Chaoyang University of Technology (CUVT) and the Taiwan Ministry of Education, Baker delivered a commencement address at CUVT, discussed academic partnerships, and met in Taipei with President Chen Shui-bian.

During a June 16 meeting, the president discussed academic exchanges and the potential for other joint activities between Taiwan’s leading academic and research institutions. Cal Poly and other California universities.

“Our meeting considerably bolstered my hope,” Baker said, “that the exchanges we have begun between Cal Poly and CUVT will produce significant, tangible benefits for our students and faculty as well as CUVT’s students and faculty. If we can develop these academic exchanges, and broaden this cooperation into other fields and other institutions, I believe we can make a valuable contribution to the ties that are increasingly bringing Pacific Rim universities, businesses and peoples closer together.

“高薪人士 meet and prosper together.”

New plan proposes employee housing aid

Employees are invited on a voluntary basis to participate in a housing program that would require employees to contribute to the employee housing-support options. The plan would help employees to become part of the university community and to help the university to meet its goal of creating a diverse and inclusive workforce.

Within the next few years, when a large portion of the present faculty is expected to retire, a new president will take over the university. The new president will be responsible for the development of a comprehensive plan for the future of the university.

Continued from page 2

Trainers

Continued from page 3

Trainees continued to improve their leadership skills and gain the qualities and abilities that employers desire in new employees.

Anyone interested in presenting a training seminar at the conference can contact Harris at ext. 6-2392. D