CAL POLY REPORT, OCTOBER 11, 2000

Position vacancies
STATE:
Continued from page 5

Interim policy in place for responsible technology use

At the Sept. 18 meeting of the President's management staff, President Baker formally approved implementation of the campuswide "Interim Policy on Responsible Use of Information Technology Resources" (RUP). The action was taken to ensure that the policy would be in full effect when fall classes began.

Dwight Research, Inc. that the policy encompasses existing law, policy and accepted campus compliance processes and enforcement practices. It reflects extensive campus input, best practices, and system-wide policy impact.

The policy was endorsed by the Ad- ministrative Advisory Committee on Computing, Instructional Advisory Committee on Computing, and Information Resource Management Policy and Planning Committee and reviewed by the ASI and Academic Senate last year.

The interim policy promotes individual responsibility while respecting academic freedom, privacy, intellectual property and the law.

"It is important to have such a policy to protect university assets while informing individuals of their responsibilities with respect to the use of limited information technology resources," Baker said.

Jerry Hanley, vice provost, Information Technology Services, will lead completion of the final campus review process and make any appropriate changes, if necessary, within 60 days. The review process will include review by the Academic Administrative Committee, the Ad Hoc Editorial Coordination and Re- view Committee.

Information Technology Services will document procedures to permit adoption and implementation of the final policy by Jan. 1.

Baker further affirmed that the vice president of information services and chief campus officer for ensuring compliance with the RUP and other IT policies and that the Web will be an official mechanism for formally publishing and promulgating IT policies.

For more information, go to http://www.calpoly.computing/policy.html.

Honored Alums
Continued from page 5

Campus Closed for Veterans' Day
Nov. 10

The Collegians, a jazz band of Cal Poly alumni, will join the University Jazz Band Oct. 21 in the first concert celebration of Cal Poly's Centennial. (See page 2.)

The Music Men . . .

Morrillo-Sosa, Grimes lead governance roles

New academic leadership roles have been assigned to professors Anny Morrillo-Sosa of Materials Engineering and Joe Grimes, Computer Science.

Morrillo-Sosa has been named by Provost Zing as interim associate vice provost for academic programs. Her new responsibilities include academic assessment and institutional accountability, academic-programs review, and program development. She is also serving as co-ordinator for the inaugural Baker Forum, scheduled to occur October 2001, which will focus on "The Future of the Polytechnic University.

Morrillo-Sosa recently completed Cal Poly's Accountability Report in response to the CSU Trustees' accountability initiative. From 1998 to 1999 she was an American Council on Education Fellow at the University of Delaware, and she was recently

ASI Children’s Center earns reaccreditation

The ASI Children’s Center has been reaccredited for another three years by the National Association for the Education of Young Children, a recognition achieved by approximately 7 percent of early childhood programs nationwide.

NAEYC accreditation is a rigorous, vol- untary process in which early childhood programs demonstrate that they meet national standards of excellence. Childcare centers, preschools, kindergartens and before-and-after-school programs are eligible to seek accreditation.

Programs seeking accreditation undergo an intensive self-study that involves collect- ing information from parents, teachers, administrators and classmates. An on-site visit is conducted by early childhood professionals to validate the self-study re- sults. All information is independently reviewed by a team of national experts.

NAEYC is the nation’s oldest and largest organization of early childhood professionals.
Jazz Bands to give ‘Centennial concert’

Two generations of Cal Poly jazz music-ists will perform together at the first concert celebration of Cal Poly’s Centen-nial — the Fall Jazz concert at 8 p.m. Oct. 21 in the Theatre.

The featured guest artists, the Collegians, and jazz bands, conducted by Cal Poly in the 1950s, ’60s and ’70s. Current students in the University Jazz Bands will perform with the alumi.

“Connecting past jazz students with our current ones is a perfect way to celebrate Cal Poly’s history and Centennial year,” said Music Professor Paul Rinzer, director of jazz studies.

The Collegians established an endow-ment — the Collegians Scholarship — that provides money to two outstanding student jazz musicians each year.

The Collegians will perform with the University Jazz Band No. 1, directed by Rinzer, who will also direct the two jazz concerts. The University Jazz Band No. 2 will be directed by Music Professor William Johnson.

Ticket cost $7-$10.

The Fall Jazz concert is sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts, Music Department and Institutionally Related Activities program.

For more information and a complete calendar of Music Department events, call the department at ext. 6-2406. Event information is also available on the department’s Web site at www.calpoly.edu/mus/.

Homecoming to feature Honored Alumni Open Forum

Homecoming 2000, set for Oct. 20-22, will include the university’s first Honor-ed Alumni Open Forum at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 21 in the Pavilion in the Performing Arts Center.

Moderated by graphic communication alumnus Brian Lawler, the panelists will answer two questions:

What treasure did Cal Poly provide for you that allowed you to be successful in your life and career?

As we enter the new millennium, what should be tomorrow’s treasure or tradition?

For information on the forum and other Homecoming activities, call Cal Poly’s Alumni Relations office at ext. 6-ALUM (2586).

Two online databases available until Nov. 10

Faculty and staff members are invited to examine two online databases during a CSU statewide trial that lasts until Nov. 17:

• Elsevier Science Direct contains the full text of more than 900 journals in the sciences, engineering and other fields.

• Emerald Plus (from MCB University Press) has the full text of more than 130 journals in management, human resources and other fields.

To access the databases, go to the Faculty and Staff Services page on the Web site at http://www.lib.calpoly.edu/info/services/journals.html and click on “Open A Database.”

Riders needed for van pools

Cal Poly van pools have room for new riders from Los Osos and Santa Maria.

Commute Services reminds the campus community of some of the benefits of riding a van:

• Low cost — rates vary from $25 to $50 per month, depending on location.

• Car and insurance companies offer discounted rates to those who van pool.

• Riders earn a daily stipend on their Campus Express cards.

• You’re not hassled by parking.

• A ride home is guaranteed in case of emergency or illness.

If a van isn’t available to suit your schedule, you can put your name on a waiting list.

For more information call Deby Anderson, Commuter and Access Services coordinator with the University Police, at ext. 6-6680.

Hendricks to coordinate Rec Administration

Associate Professor Bill Hendricks of the Natural Resources Management Depart-ment will succeed Professor Carolyn Shank as program coordinator of the Rec-reation Administration program.

Shank is stepping down as coordinator and will assume full-time teaching responsibilities after a fall sabbatical.

Hendricks has been teaching at Cal Poly since 1994. He can be reached at ext. 6-1246 or whendrick@calpoly.edu.

ASi Children’s Center’s

The Children’s Center serves 130 children from 4 months to 6 years. The center’s primary mission is to serve the childcare needs of students, faculty and staff members.

The Children’s Center is accepting applications for its preschool and kindergarten programs for children older than 3.

First priority for enrollment is for student families. Applications are being accepted from low-income student-parents for subsidized child care. For more information call ext. 6-1267.

Prof. Zulfarac to review book on Taliban movement

Social Sciences Professor Malinita Zulfarac will review “Taliban: Militant Islam, Oil and Fundamentalism in Central Asia” by Ahmed Rashid in Thursday’s (Oct. 12) Books at High Noon program.

The book, an analysis of the Taliban movement, delves into the movement’s background and the impact it has had on that country.

Professor Mary Kay Harrington of the Writing Skills Lab will talk about the book “Duty” by Bob Greene at the next program, on Monday (Oct. 16). The book is about a Marine who wrote a daily column about his service in Iraq.

All Books at High Noon presentations are at 12:10 p.m. in the Veranda Café.

For more information about the programs, including how to participate as a reviewer, contact Phil Fetzer at ext. 6-6147 or email pftetzer@calpoly.edu.

Ticket information

Tickets to the performances listed in the current edition of the Cal Poly Report are available until Oct. 10 at 4:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturdays.

Tickets can be purchased at Cal Poly’s Central Ticket Office 10 a.m.-6 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturdays. Call ext. 6-2787, or fax your order to ext. 6-6088.

Panel discussion set on breast cancer awareness

As part of U.S. Gov. Bustamante’s “Con-tract to Fight Breast Cancer,” Cal Poly will present a breast cancer awareness program 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m., Oct. 25 in UU 220. October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

Supported by the President’s Office, Health and Human Services, the Employee Assistance Program and Foundation Human Resources, the program will include a panel presentation at 11:30 a.m. covering the subjects of early detection, screening, diagnosis, treatment and support options. A ques-tion-and-answer period will follow.

Panelists include Dr. Tom Miller, head of radiology at French Hospital; Dr. Howard Hayashi, surgeon; Dr. Vigil Nickas, internist; and Jan May, Reach to Recovery trainer-counselor for San Luis Obispo County.

For more information call Joan Lund at ext. 6-5652.

First Learn-at-Lunch talk to be on fun parenting

The Employee Assistance Program’s fall quarter Learn-at-Lunch series begins Tuesday (Oct. 17) with a talk titled “Having Fun and Succeeding as a Parent.”

Speaker for the evening lecture is part of the Evening Lecture as part of their New Directions series.

In Wasow’s evening talk and panel presentation, titled “The Effect of the Internet on Race Relations,” he will explore the ever-changing world of information technology.

He will also talk about Web-related marketing strategies, work stories of online successes and failures, and explore the many ways the Web is shaping social, political and economic change.

Wasow is credited with bringing a new face to the Internet — both literally and figuratively.

At 20:30, he is at the forefront of the Internet revolution to understand his dead father — who was a member of the World War II generation.

The evening lecture will be presented noon-1 p.m. on Tuesdays in the Veranda Café.

In addition to his own research and writing, he is executive director of Community Connect and a leading commentator on the challenges and opportunities of new media and the new economy for MSNBC, USA Today and The New York Times Magazine.

Wasow, the son of a white Jewish economics professor and a black female reporter, graduated from Stanford University with an individualy designed major in race and ethnic relations. After graduation, he launched New York Online.

He has designed Web strategies for such organizations as Consumer Reports, The New Yorker, Pfizer, United Artists and Samsung.

The presentation is part of the Lyceum lecture series and is spon-sored by the College of Liberal Arts in association with Cal Poly’s English department.

For more information, call the college office at ext. 6-2706.

CPR schedule

The Cal Poly Report is published every Wednesday during the academic year.

Articles are due to Public Affairs by 10 a.m. Wednesday for the following week’s edition. Items can be e-mailed to publicaffairs@calpoly.edu (if needed), faxed to ext. 6-6533, or mailed to Public Affairs, Heron Hall.

For more information, call ext. 6-1511.
Services coordinator, at ext. 6-6680.

call Deby Anderson, Commuter and Access Services, from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Oct. 13. For more information, call John Martin at ext. 6-5215.

For more information on the incentive program and the general Registry program, call Deby Anderson, Commuter and Access Services coordinator, at ext. 6-6680.

Surplus auction to be Oct. 14

As auction of surplus items such as computers, electronic equipment, audio-visual equipment, office furniture, automobiles and lost-and-found items is planned for 8 a.m. until approximately 6 p.m. or until everything is sold on Oct. 14 in the Facilities Services parking lot. The items will be available for preview 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Oct. 13. For more information, call John Martin at ext. 6-5215.

North County commuters entitled to incentives

Because of the Cuesta Grade Project, Cal Poly employees who live in the North County and use alternative transportation, such as a car pool, a van pool or the bus, qualify for a special incentive program.

Simply join the Commuter and Access Services Registry program and keep track of your commute on a special form furnished by Commuter and Access Services.

In addition, under the Higher Education Act of 1965 and its many amendments, Cal Poly is required to make certain disclosures and institutional information "readily available" to prospective and enrolled students, employees, the general public and the Department of Education annually.

Required HEA disclosure information and statistics are available online at http://www.academics.calpoly.edu/ees/HEA.htm.

The site provides links to all required HEA-disclosure information and gives contact information for additional data.

The links include:

- Rights under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA);
- Required financial assistance information;
- Cal Poly's completion/graduation rates;
- Cal Poly's Campus Security Report;
- Cal Poly's report on athletic program participation rates and financial support data;
- Cal Poly's report on completion/graduation rates for student athletes; and
- Other required institutional information.

To request a paper copy of any of the disclosure information, call the Educational Equity Services office at ext. 6-6770.

Morrowb-Sosa, Grimes...

(Continued from page 1)
Contracts & Agreements 101
The Contract and Procurement Services office reminds campus offices of the procedures for contracts and agreements involving the university and outside vendors.

Some common agreements include those for facility use permits, faculty-student exchanges, software licenses, standard or interagency agreements, student internships, and vendor/supplier contracts.

After departmental review, all contracts and agreements between outside entities and Cal Poly must be signed by "contracting officers," who are primarily Contract and Procurement Services personnel (Status Purchasing).

Agreements and contracts signed by someone other than a contracting officer are invalid and not binding. The person who signs could be held personally liable for any damages or costs that occur.

Agreements with air contracts or agreements that need to be signed should call Contract and Procurement Services at ext. 6-2234.

Most students registering on Web
For fall 2000, 79 percent of students registered using POWER (Poly Web Registration). Cal Poly’s latest online registration system, and 90 percent of the newly admitted freshmen used it.

POWER can create student schedules from a list of open sections that is updated every five minutes. It also allows students to add and drop classes online and to select credit/no credit grading, where appropriate.

New this quarter, POWER has been enhanced to allow students to drop one course on condition that another course is available (conditional add/drop).

The enhancement was a collaboration between Academic Records and Information Technology Services’ technical staff. POWER will be available for Winter quarter class scheduling when scheduler go on sale Friday (Oct. 13).

POWER was first available to students living in the residence halls during Fall 1998.

How to find funding online
The Grants Development Office has scheduled a hands-on training session for faculty and administrative staff members to learn how to locate funding sources online through the Web-based service called SPIN (Sponsored Programs Information Network).

SPIN and its e-mail notification service, SMARTS, are available free to staff and faculty members at https://www.inforad.org (select Access InfoDirect).

The class will be from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., Oct. 18 in Room 105-D of the Air Conditioning Building. The session will be limited to 10 people. To reserve space, call Grants Development at ext. 6-2982 or e-mail jostje@calpoly.edu.

Cal Poly students go ‘Into the Streets’
Student Community Services’ fall special event, “Into the Streets,” will aid approximately 13 community agencies in the city of San Luis Obispo on Oct. 28.

“Into the Streets” is a national program that provides students an opportunity to serve their communities.

This year Cal Poly students will help such agencies as ECOSLO, the Housing Authority of San Luis Obispo, the AIDS Support Network, and Woods Humane Society.

Last year 175 Cal Poly students from different college and organizations volunteered at eight sites. This year, the university hopes to send 200 students “Into the Streets.”

Cal Poly is seeking student volunteers to do the actual work and volunteers to lead a group and work directly with an agency. Volunteers receive a free breakfast and free tri-tip barbecue at the end of the day.

A variety of volunteer assignments is available, from cleaning up the environment and beautifying construction sites to playing with kids and assisting senior citizens.

For more information or to volunteer, call Amy Vickerman at ext. 6-5834.

Martial arts demo, talk set for Oct. 18
Lloyd Craft, a master professor and 9th degree Blackbelt, will speak on “Martial Arts and Asian Philosophy” from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Oct. 18 in UU 208.

Craft will demonstrate martial arts styles and techniques and discuss the traditional concept of martial arts as an avenue to spiritual development.

The styles emphasized in the demonstration will include Shaolin Kenpo, described as an ancient fluid hard style; Kajukenbo; and Modern Arnis, a variety of traditional Philippine stick fighting.

The presentation is sponsored by the Philosophy Department.

SOAR forum to be on campus Oct. 19
The Cal Poly Brock Center for Agricultural Communication will host a forum on ballot measure M, the “Saving Open Space and Agricultural Resources” initiative, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Oct. 19 in the Performing Arts Center’s Coban Center.

The speakers for the moderated forum will be local businessperson Susan Mullins, Social Sciences Lecturer Jan Keeg, and area farmers Steve Soderstrom and Dan Wadlow.

Veteran journalist Jill Rickett of KSBY will be the moderator.

For more information call J. Scott Vernon, associate professor and director of the Brock Center, at ext. 6-2707.

Dealing with Hostility: top of panel discussion
“Dealing With Hostility on Campus” is the title of a panel discussion to be held 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Oct. 19 in UU 220.

Organized by the Status of Women Committee, the discussion will explore student hostility in the classroom and elsewhere on campus, especially when directed at female faculty members.

Questions to be addressed include:
• How common is the situation?
• What are the rights of teachers in the classroom?
• What strategies are helpful?

What campus resources are available?
The panelists are Sharon Thrasher, psychologist in Student Services; Jere Ratliff, director of student services for the College of Business; and Lori Hashim, a sergeant with University Police.

The panel will be facilitated by Jean DeCosta, coordinator of the Employee Assistance Program.

Coffee, tea and cookies will be provided. For more information e-mail suangar@calpoly.edu.
Jazz Bands to give ‘Centennial concert’

Two generations of Cal Poly jazz music instruc tors will perform together at the first concert celebration of Cal Poly’s Centen nial—the Fall Jazz concert at 8 p.m. Oct. 21 in the Theatre. The featured guest artists, the Collegians, and jazz bands based in Stockton will perform in the 1950s, ‘60s and ‘70s. Current students in the University Jazz Band will perform with the alumni bands.

"Connecting past jazz students with our current ones is a perfect way to cel ebrate Cal Poly’s history and Centennial year," said Music Professor Paul Rinzer, director of jazz studies.

The Collegians established an endow ment—the Collegians Jazz Scholarship—that provides money to two outstanding student jazz musicians each year. The Collegians will perform with the University Jazz Band No. 1, directed by Rinzer, who will also direct the two jazz concerts. The University Jazz Band No. 2 will be directed by Music Professor William Johnson.

Tickets cost $7-10.

The Fall Jazz concert is sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts, Music Department and the Intercollegiate Activities Program.

For more information and a complete calendar of Music Department events, call the department at ext. 6-2406. Event information is also available on the department’s Web page at www.calpoly.edu/music.

Homecoming to feature Honored Alumni Open Forum

Homecoming 2000, set for Oct. 20-22, will include the university’s first Honored Alumni Open Forum at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 21 in the Pavilion in the Performing Arts Center.

Moderated by graphic communication alumnus Brian Lawler, the panelists will answer two questions:

What treasure did Cal Poly provide for you that allowed you to be successful in your life and career?

As we enter the new millennium, what should be tomorrow’s treasure or tradition for Cal Poly students to leave with?

For information on the forum and other Homecoming events, call Cal Poly’s Alumni Relations office at ext. 6-ALUM (2586).

AS! Children’s Center.

Faculty and staff members are invited to examine two online databases during a CSU systemwide trial that lasts until Nov. 17:

- Elsevier Science Direct contains the full text of more than 900 journals in the sciences, engineering and other fields.
- Emerald Plus (from MCB University Press) has the full text of more than 130 journals in management, human resources and other fields.

To access the databases, go to the FAC Services page on the library’s Web site at http://www.library.calpoly.edu/info/services/literature.html and click on “Databases.”

Riders needed for van pools

Cal Poly van pools have room for new riders from Los Osos and Santa Maria.

Community Services reminds the campus community of some of the benefits of riding a van:

- Low cost—rates vary from $25 to $50 per month, depending on location.
- Car insurance companies offer discounted rates to those who van pool.
- Riders earn a daily stipend on their Campus Express cards.
- You’re not hassled by parking.
- A ride home is guaranteed in case of emergency or illness.

If a van isn’t available to suit your schedule, you can put your name on a waiting list.

For more information call Deby Anderson, Commuter and Access Services coordinator, with the University Police, at ext. 6-6680.

Hendricks to coordinate Rec Administration

Associate Professor Bill Hendricks of the Natural Resources Management Department will succeed Professor Carolyn Shank as program coordinator of the Recreation Administration program.

Shank is stepping down as coordinator and will assume full-time teaching responsibilities after a full year. Hendricks has been teaching at Cal Poly since 1994. He can be reached at ext. 6-1246 or whendrick@calpoly.edu.

Ticket information

Tickets to the performances listed in this report can be purchased at the Performing Arts Ticket Office 10 a.m.-6 p.m. weekdays and 1-5 p.m. Saturdays at ext. 6-2787, or fax your order to ext. 6-6088.

Cal Poly to honor alumni, Service Award recipient

Cal Poly’s Alumni Relations and University Center for Teacher Education have selected their Honored Alumni, and the Alumni Association Service Award recipient for 2000, all of whom will be recognized during Homecoming.

The Honored Alumni is a black administrator, a business and industry innovator, an educator, a community leader, a retired teacher, a social worker, a medical provider, a social worker, a community leader, and a business leader.

The Alumni Association has chosen its Service Award recipient, a black administrator, a business and industry innovator, an educator, a community leader, a retired teacher, a social worker, a medical provider, a social worker, a community leader, and a business leader.

Prof. Zulfacar to review book on Taliban movement

Social Sciences Professor Malika Zulfacar will review “Taliban: Militant Islam, Oil and Fundamentalism in Central Asia” by Ahmed Rashid in Thursday’s (Oct. 12) Books at High Noon program.

The book, an analysis of the Taliban movement, explores the movement’s background and the impact it has had on that country.

Professor Mary Kay Harrington of the Writing Skills Lab will talk about the book “Duty” by Bob Greene at the next program, on Monday (Oct. 15). The book is a biography of a Vietnam veteran.

Have fun and succeed as a parent.

For more information about the program, including how to participate as a reviewer, contact Phil Fetzer at ext. 6-4176 or e-mail pfetzer@calpoly.edu.

First Learn-at-Lunch talk to be on fun parenting

The Employee Assistance Program will present the first talk, scheduled for noon Oct. 17 in the Pavilion in the Performing Arts Center.

"Connecting past jazz students with our current ones is a perfect way to celebrate Cal Poly’s history and Centennial year," said Music Professor Paul Rinzer, director of jazz studies.

The Collegians established an endowment—the Collegians Jazz Scholarship—that provides money to two outstanding student jazz musicians each year. The Collegians will perform with the University Jazz Band No. 1, directed by Rinzer, who will also direct the two jazz concerts. The University Jazz Band No. 2 will be directed by Music Professor William Johnson.

Tickets cost $7-10.

The Fall Jazz concert is sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts, Music Department and the Intercollegiate Activities Program.

For more information and a complete calendar of Music Department events, call the department at ext. 6-2406. Event information is also available on the department’s Web page at www.calpoly.edu/music.

Homecoming to feature Honored Alumni Open Forum

Homecoming 2000, set for Oct. 20-22, will include the university’s first Honored Alumni Open Forum at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 21 in the Pavilion in the Performing Arts Center.

Moderated by graphic communication alumnus Brian Lawler, the panelists will answer two questions:

What treasure did Cal Poly provide for you that allowed you to be successful in your life and career?

As we enter the new millennium, what should be tomorrow’s treasure or tradition for Cal Poly students to leave with?

For information on the forum and other Homecoming events, call Cal Poly’s Alumni Relations office at ext. 6-ALUM (2586).

Hendricks to coordinate Rec Administration

Associate Professor Bill Hendricks of the Natural Resources Management Department will succeed Professor Carolyn Shank as program coordinator of the Recreation Administration program.

Shank is stepping down as coordinator and will assume full-time teaching responsibilities after a full year. Hendricks has been teaching at Cal Poly since 1994. He can be reached at ext. 6-1246 or whendrick@calpoly.edu.

Ticket information

Tickets to the performances listed in this report can be purchased at the Performing Arts Ticket Office 10 a.m.-6 p.m. weekdays and 1-5 p.m. Saturdays at ext. 6-2787, or fax your order to ext. 6-6088.

Cal Poly to honor alumni, Service Award recipient

Cal Poly’s Alumni Relations and University Center for Teacher Education have selected their Honored Alumni, and the Alumni Association Service Award recipient for 2000, all of whom will be recognized during Homecoming.

The Honored Alumni is a black administrator, a business and industry innovator, an educator, a community leader, a retired teacher, a social worker, a medical provider, a social worker, a community leader, and a business leader.

The Alumni Association has chosen its Service Award recipient, a black administrator, a business and industry innovator, an educator, a community leader, a retired teacher, a social worker, a medical provider, a social worker, a community leader, and a business leader.

Prof. Zulfacar to review book on Taliban movement

Social Sciences Professor Malika Zulfacar will review “Taliban: Militant Islam, Oil and Fundamentalism in Central Asia” by Ahmed Rashid in Thursday’s (Oct. 12) Books at High Noon program.

The book, an analysis of the Taliban movement, explores the movement’s background and the impact it has had on that country.

Professor Mary Kay Harrington of the Writing Skills Lab will talk about the book “Duty” by Bob Greene at the next program, on Monday (Oct. 15). The book is a biography of a Vietnam veteran.

Have fun and succeed as a parent.

For more information about the program, including how to participate as a reviewer, contact Phil Fetzer at ext. 6-4176 or e-mail pfetzer@calpoly.edu.

First Learn-at-Lunch talk to be on fun parenting

The Employee Assistance Program will present the first talk, scheduled for noon Oct. 17 in the Pavilion in the Performing Arts Center.

"Connecting past jazz students with our current ones is a perfect way to celebrate Cal Poly’s history and Centennial year," said Music Professor Paul Rinzer, director of jazz studies.

The Collegians established an endowment—the Collegians Jazz Scholarship—that provides money to two outstanding student jazz musicians each year. The Collegians will perform with the University Jazz Band No. 1, directed by Rinzer, who will also direct the two jazz concerts. The University Jazz Band No. 2 will be directed by Music Professor William Johnson.

Tickets cost $7-10.

The Fall Jazz concert is sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts, Music Department and the Intercollegiate Activities Program.

For more information and a complete calendar of Music Department events, call the department at ext. 6-2406. Event information is also available on the department’s Web page at www.calpoly.edu/music.

Homecoming to feature Honored Alumni Open Forum

Homecoming 2000, set for Oct. 20-22, will include the university’s first Honored Alumni Open Forum at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 21 in the Pavilion in the Performing Arts Center.

Moderated by graphic communication alumnus Brian Lawler, the panelists will answer two questions:

What treasure did Cal Poly provide for you that allowed you to be successful in your life and career?

As we enter the new millennium, what should be tomorrow’s treasure or tradition for Cal Poly students to leave with?

For information on the forum and other Homecoming events, call Cal Poly’s Alumni Relations office at ext. 6-ALUM (2586).
Position vacancies
STATE:
San Luis Obispo, CA 93407
At the Sept. 18 meeting of the President’s
Council and approved implementation of the campus-wide “Interim Policy on Responsible Use of Information Technology Resources” (RUP).

The action was taken to ensure that the policy would be in full effect when fall classes began.

It was reiterated that the policy encompasses existing law, policy and accepted campus compliance practices and enforce­ment practices. It reflects extensive campus input, best practices, and systems­wide policy impact.

The policy was endorsed by the Ad­ministrative Advisory Committee on Computing, Instructional Advisory Com­mittee on Computing, and Information Resource Management Policy and Plan­ning Committee and reviewed by the ASI and Academic Senate last year.

The interim policy promotes individual responsibility while respecting academic freedom, privacy, intellectual property and the law.

“It is important to have such a policy to protect university assets while informing individuals of their responsibilities with respect to the use of limited information technology resources,” Baker said.

Tuesday, October 17
Learn–to–Law by Michael Williams (therapist)
“Taming fun and Succeeding as a Parent,” Verdana Café, noon.
Music: John Krause, BackStage Pizza, noon.

Wednesday, October 18
Speaker: Lloyd Craft, “Martial Arts and Asian Philosophy,” UU 208, 4 p.m.
Abortion: A Thirder’s Perspec­tive of Cyberpace,” PAC Pavilion, 8 p.m. (S)

Honored Alums
Continued from page 5
A company’s database and application server software technology and data warehousing products.
• College of Liberal Arts: Mary LaVenture, a 1977 journalism alumna, is being honored for her career in theater as the executive director of the Cal Poly Theatre Program. “As co-founders, immediate past president, and ombudswoman of Friends of the Theatre Program, LaVenture has served as an innovative and tireless emissary between the Theatre Program and the entertainment industry,” said Theatre and Dance Professor Michael Malkin. She is an authority on Civil War and Victorian theater. LaVen­tura has taught dozens of workshops for Cal Poly students, has sponsored a number of student internships, and has helped place Cal Poly graduates in entry-level industry jobs.
• College of Science and Mathematics: William J. Allison, a 1977 bache­lor’s graduate now serving as president of Lit­ton Industries’ new Integrated Systems Divi­sion. Allison joined Litton in 1992 as director of quality assurance in the Data Tech­nology Services, will lead the policy to ensure that the policy would be in full effect when fall classes began.

The action was taken to ensure that the policy would be in full effect when fall classes began.

The action was taken to ensure that the policy would be in full effect when fall classes began.

The action was taken to ensure that the policy would be in full effect when fall classes began.

The action was taken to ensure that the policy would be in full effect when fall classes began.

The action was taken to ensure that the policy would be in full effect when fall classes began.

The action was taken to ensure that the policy would be in full effect when fall classes began.

The action was taken to ensure that the policy would be in full effect when fall classes began.

The action was taken to ensure that the policy would be in full effect when fall classes began.

The action was taken to ensure that the policy would be in full effect when fall classes began.