Cal Poly Mustang Daily General Manager

Wins Distinguished Adviser Award

Paul Bittick, general manager of Cal Poly's Mustang Daily, has been named a 2012 College Media Association Distinguished Adviser Award winner.

The award is presented annually by the CMA to recognize faculty members who have provided exemplary service to their institutions and the student press. The award committee administered the application and determined the winner.

"Paul has served our newspaper with distinction for more than 15 years, and his leadership and wisdom have been essential to the success of Mustang Daily," said Erin Simms, CMA assistant director. "He has helped our newspaper grow and develop into the strong student publication it is today."

Bittick has been advising the Mustang Daily student staff for nearly 10 years. He came to Cal Poly after more than 25 years in the newspaper industry. He has worked for daily newspapers in Los Angeles and the San Joaquin Valley in a variety of roles, including sports writer, sports editor, managing editor, and publisher.

Cal Poly Architecture Student Takes First in International Steel Design Competition

A Cal Poly student pursuing a Bachelor of Architecture degree won first place in an international steel competition. David Heck of Bellingham, Wash., was selected from a field of 303 entries to win one of two first-place awards in the 12th annual Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture/ American Institute of Steel Construction Student Competition. Heck's project, "The Paris Market Lab," won in the Culinary Arts College category.

"I am very pleased with the recognition that our students are receiving in recent years," said Cal Poly College of Architecture and Environmental Design Dean Robert F. Bell. "It shows that our student-designed projects are being recognized nationwide.
