Theresa Theune, head of the Department of Criminal Justice at the University of Oregon in Eugene, is the new head of Cal Poly's security and emergency management. Thune, a former assistant director of a federal agency and a professor of political science and management at the University of Washington, will be responsible for the university's security and emergency management. Thune has served in senior administrative positions in both the public and private sectors, including as deputy director of the Department of Homeland Security.

Colorado School of Mines in Golden, Colo. At Cal Poly, Hughes will succeed Chief Bill Watton, who is retiring.

Cal Poly has named George Hughes, current leader of the Colorado School of Mines Police Department, as its new chief of University Police. In his most recent post, he has been responsible for planning, supervising, directing and leading all administrative and operational functions of the full-time police department at the university.

The university experienced "major turnover in the top leadership positions," said Lawrence le Maire, provost and executive vice president for the university's Division of Student Affairs and enhancing the university's commitment to diversity and excellence of our students, faculty and staff, and we appreciate the special niche that Cal Poly has in higher education as one of the leading private universities in the nation," said Jeffrey Armstrong, president of the university.

Cal Poly appoints new Police Chief

The Cal Poly Police Department, under the leadership of the university's College of Business Administration, has announced the hiring of Chief Bill Watton, who will assume his new role Aug. 15. "Doug understands and appreciates the special niche that Cal Poly has in higher education as one of the leading private universities in the nation," said Jeffrey Armstrong, president of the university.

The team's three-peat came in a canoe named Prospector in honor of the California Gold Rush. The American Society of Civil Engineers has more than 20 years of experience in the competition and has received several awards for outstanding presentation, including the 2010 National Concrete Canoe Competition.
