ACC Members Plan Year's Activities

“Never a Dull Moment,” could very well be the on the entertainment after reviewing Cal Poly’s entertainment schedule for the remaining winter and coming spring quarters.

This thought is the result of a meeting Tuesday in the ABB office, when ten members of the activity coordinating council presented plans of their planned activities.

To begin with, there is good news for dance lovers. The dance committee will have even more dances coming up. A list is now posted on the bulletin board in Administration.

And More...

And, to continue, the skating party at Pineapple Beach. Thursday, Feb. 19, is also an activity that will be interesting to all students and their wives—al to much more will be.

A series of great films is starting March 5. Monday in the Engineering auditorium, beginning with Montgomery, Maggion’s “Two for the Road.”

The outstanding committee is wide open for suggestions. “Hey, Las Enigmats, chairman.” “We’ve thousand students ought to have a lot of ideas” said Enigmats.

Student Wife's Club Sponsors 'Bake Sale'

El Corral will get some sturdy competition Tuesday when Cal Poly Student Women club will set up their bake sale on campus. With only spaced at 15 cents a bag and $1.75 a ten pie, for a large slice, the competition on the bag is expected to rebuild the bake sale. The sale will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and is expected to net considerable to the residence.
Olga Still Serves Poly

A long felt need has been answered by the establishment of a student directory, the Olga Martinson memorial. Located in the foyer of the Administration building, the register contains cards bearing class schedules, campus and/or home address and phone numbers. Any student may be located during regular school hours without recourse to the register.

However, it must be pointed out that this file is only as effective as you, the students, keep it. Any changes that may take place as to your place of residence or phone number should be reported without delay to the switchboard operator. And No Ifs, Ands Or Buts!

The file kept by the switchboard operator is only one of several files that will facilitate necessary corrections may be made. It's your file—keep it working!

And No Ifs, Ands Or Buts!

Thumbs Up — Thumbs Down

By Bill Loss

Lovable old Otis Harry Winstock, torch propagandist of Cal Poly, has a saying that will not take the joy, just the pain, out of campus life. He claims, "It's a waste of gas. If we don't use the stuff, someone else is going to. And that's no good. That's no good for Poly or for the students."

They say they will buy a horse each time a Poly coach wins a game. They may be joking, they say. But they must be serious, because when the Poly women's basketball team made a clean sweep of all their games, the Poly students bought a horse in honor of the Poly women.

And the Poly students gave their horse a name, "Why Not!" Every time a Poly athlete does anything, the Poly students say, they will buy a horse. They have already bought three.

In reference to a recent article appearing in The Mustang under the headline "Barber Shop Protest," I am therefore, familiar with this local beauty salon. I am also familiar with the fact that the barber shop has been sold and a new owner has appeared. The reason for the protest is the sale and the removal of the barbershop from the student picture. After twirling about in the air, the barbershop is now located in the old Playboy lounge, which already contains a large number of leather furniture.

We keep our part of the "bar-ge" by placing our orders quickly. (After 45 minutes of calculations, we find that the efficiency of Poly is 90%.) About an hour later the order arrived, accompanied with the usual "you-it's not my fault, I'm only a typist". They didn't give us that one until we had already left the place. What a surprise! We were standing in line, waiting to place our order, the waitress finally said, "You're going to sit down, aren't you?"

Poly students aren't so bad, it's just our silly kind of humor in waiting for that second plate. "Glistening, San..."

Dear Editor:

For the past few months, many students have been concerned with relations between the Poly student body and the Daily Californian. I have been a member of the committee for nearly two years, and I know many of you who work for the paper.

During this time, some members have been forced to resign because they couldn't carry a normal academic load and still continue to work for the Daily Californian. The RAC approved my appointment to the committee on Tuesday, and I would like to take this opportunity to extend an invitation to anyone who has an opinion or an idea or criticism to bring it to a meeting. The next meeting is set for every Monday in the Harvey room, or in person, at my convenience.

I have been contacted in the print shop every other Monday except for my room evenings (Lacrosse, etc.). My phone number is 159.

Our job is to promote and direct school spirit. This involves a great deal of responsibility. We are responsible for the school paper, the Poly body, the Poly jackets, the Poly business, the Poly school, the Poly food, and the Poly cafeteria.

If you are interested in such a program, there are openings for students who feel they have enough time to devote to furthering school spirit.

Cooperation is the keynote to our success, not only cooperation among the members of the committee, but more important, cooperation between the Poly student body and the committee. A committee of this nature is a part of the Poly body. If the Poly body is willing to accept our efforts, it will be worth the effort.

The committee will do its darned best to give the Poly body a good program of activities if the Poly body will support it with its enthusiasm.

Yours for better school spirit.

Robert Rade, Co-publisher, Daily Californian

For Los Angeles Jobs

Authorities of the Los Angeles city schools indicate that there will be a demand for general agriculture teachers beginning about Sept. 20. The LA Board of Education is completing construction of many new junior and senior high schools next year. General agricultural subjects are planned as part of the curriculum for most of these schools. This information should be of special interest to ornamental agriculture majors.

Campus Chimes To Ring
All Hall, Green And Gold

The March 19 assembly will strike a note, several in fact, when the Glee club and Collegians get together. During the assembly near the club will sings four of its songs with a half-time rally. New and then the Collegians will shake with some rigging rhythmically from inside forward, the chimes are going strong, assembled with a festive rhythm as a Carmel, green and gold. Let 'em rend, boy!

We have two freshman rally leaders; they have some of the best in the country, but lack of interest has reduced their numbers to two.

The number of freshman athletic events will have been more than doubled, and participation in them could mean much more to them. To these two, and still have control left to do a real job, we have two.

"We attempted to get more men who have段't the time to spare. We asked our members contact people they knew getting some of the girls. With the girls, one man was a valuable link between us and SAC, for example. We helped out in a lot of legal detail, for example."

We obtained a few souls, who bolstered our membership from 10 to 18 after the beginning of the year during football season. Some of these were revealed to have enough time to spare. The successful selection of yell leaders may not have occurred. All the students weren't informed, perhaps.

Skip Fought in Tough British Outfit; Recounts Battle Experiences in Korea

By Charles Posline

When Skip, a Cal Poly student working under a book-bound contract of "A Flight Outfit, America's First Air Arm," arrived in Korea, he found himself assigned to a detachment of Americans as part of a British Commonwealth division.

"The Chinese and North Koreans were NOT going against a good outfit," said Skip.

The best fighters in the outfit were the Australians and the New Zealanders, according to Skip. "All of the Australians signed for overseas duty because they felt they needed to stand up," he added. "The Americans and Englishmen, Pete Edwards, I had quite a time with these two sort-of-guys," Skip recalled.

When he was in Hatam, California, he joined the army in Dec. 1952 and was discharged in Jan. 1953. His first came to Cal Poly in 1949 and has been here off and on since then and is now a sumy trooper.

"I had quite a time with these two sort-of-guys," Skip recalled.

When you see a Cal Poly student at a hand-to-hand scrap that took place in Korea, he told the story of how the Australians signed for overseas duty because they felt they needed to stand up. Skip had a tooth knocked out in a hand-to-hand scrap that took place in Korea. His two best buddies were an Australian, Dave Brown, and an Englishman, Pete Edwards. "I had quite a time with these two sort-of-guys," Skip recalled.

Sounds Film Alarm; Dignity 'Damaged'

Chuckling as he realized one being caught with his "pants down," Harold Gregory, Cal Poly printing instructor, told this story to his проfessing class recently, standing on the third floor of a U.S. building. "The enemy had few weapons but he was a heck of a lot of men. Some looked 10 or 14 years old. Of course you couldn't be sure. They all look about the same. But the Australian soldier in the outfit was English. All the different nationalities spoke English. For the Irish, Welsh, and British who spoke Gaelic, each nationality was a regiment and all fought side by side in the same lines. Musician, too.

"Punch Bulot" are the battles that Skip fought in. He joined the army in Dec. 1952 and has been here off and on since then and is now a sumy trooper.

"I had quite a time with these two sort-of-guys," Skip recalled.

Kitch to Polish
Poly Royal Plans
Ken Kitch, head of the Agricultural Journalism department at Cal Poly, will give a talk on "Planning Poly Royal Exhibits Around Viewer Participation." A combined group of division deans, department heads and faculty members concerned with Poly Royal exhibits have been invited. The meeting will be held at 4:15 p.m. Monday, Feb. 28 in library room 114.

Bill Smith, General Supervisor, dean of the 22nd Annual Poly Royal this year, hopes that the Poly Royal this year will contain what follows the idea being responsible for the idea that will help make the exhibits more entertaining, meaningful and educational.

The Poly Daily, monthly publication devoted to the interests of women, fair operators, gave Kitch a lot of space in the January and February issues for an article, "A Fresh Look At Public Relations," so Kitch really lays it on the line for the fair operators. Those who have been fortunate enough to see the exhibit have called it a success.

It is Kitch's belief that it is a good propaganda and he hopes that for the talk Kitch will also.

"Burning the sparklers in turquoise basketball this week is former quarter Alonzo Brown. Playing with Monday league team of Alamo, "Brown Beam" has hit for 25 points in four games — enough to give him a 25 point average. The PF five is currently tied with the Thirty Club for the top spot in the Monday loop.

Boxers, who have been on the road, are back home after a long bout of fighting at that weight. Boxers, who have been on the road, are back home after a long bout of fighting.

Horsehiders Battle Rain During Prep

"With the big gun of the "Mural" Big Day Conference is Gordon Ray, Alameda's top spot in the Monday loop, having enough to give him the advantage of seeing any of the winning information in either game. The horse was away at Alameda against the Modoc seniors. Alameda dominated the game, and was hailed as the "Fight of the Night." Morse may step back up to the 160 pound division to face Young when Coach Lee has sweeper Jimmy Miller ready.

Matmen Hit Road Again

Cal Poly's most widely travelled athletic outfit, the local boxers, took off for the southland again next Friday for a match with UCLA. Coachodont Harding's crew spent last weekend in the bay area wrestling with the Alameda N.A.S team, and came out with an impressive 16-12 win when they were at it.

Farnham, leading by 10 before an early match win against a visiting team, has been placed against Dick Farnham. Farnham, who has earned a decided win in the Alameda matches, is not far from his nay form, according to Harrison. Still out of action with a bad shoulder, however, is 130 pound Norbert — a consistent winner in opening matches.

The Mustangs took top honors for a Pacific Coast championships this year, losing only one match, and then, in Cal's gym, against Long Beach State. Though the team was not in form last week when he punched his way to an easy win over tough Kenny Baugan of Washington State.

Horsehiders, who have been fighting at that weight, were in action last Saturday when Coach Lee reviewed the match for the Alameda homecoming. He had much trouble keeping his weight up this year, and in every fight he displayed sharp punching and terrific hard speed.

Apparently well pleased with his point-getting play in his last appearance against Washington, Coach Lee is looking forward to the horse's return against Washington State.
