Software exec to speak at IEEE meeting Tuesday

Jerry Skarnulis, president of Computer Software Design LLC of Santa Barbara, will speak Tuesday (June 5) on "Analytical Electron Microscopy - Past, Present and Future" at the monthly meeting of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers' Central Coast Section. The meeting is 7:30 p.m. in Engineering East 206. Refreshments will be available at about 6:30 p.m.

For more information contact Marty Kalikis in the Electrical Engineering Department, ext. 6-7871.

Public meeting tonight on employee housing proposal

Cal Poly has scheduled a neighborhood meeting this evening to discuss its proposal to build employee housing on two potential sites on the west side of Highway 1 at San Luis Obispo's northern city limits.

Options for the general layout and housing as well as impacts on traffic, public services and utilities are among the main topics for a 7-8:30 p.m. meeting in the Bishop's Peak Elementary School multipurpose room (451 Jaycee Drive).

"California is finding that the availability of housing is a significant factor in recruiting faculty and staff members from outside the Central Coast," said Linda Dalton, vice provost for institutional planning. "To help address this need, the Foundation has been studying the feasibility of offering a housing program."

The new Master Plan and Final Environmental Impact Report, approved in March by CSU trustees, identified two possible sites on undeveloped campus land. One is at the northwest corner of Highland Drive and Highway 1. The other is north on Highway 1, next to the California Department of Forestry unit.

"While this land is outside the city limits," Dalton said, "policies in the city's General Plan suggest the area for general residential use."

Cal Poly proposes to build housing for rent and sale to full-time teachers and other employees but would retain title to the land to ensure the housing would always be available to those eligible.

"The Master Plan also provides for communication with city and county officials," Dalton said. "As well as meetings with neighbors early in the project planning and design phase."

The campus sponsored an initial meeting in April to provide neighbors with information about the university's plans.
Facilities Planning is gearing up for a two-year project—expected to begin in December—to upgrade the campus’s telecommunications infrastructure.

The project is part of a CSU systemwide plan to “bring the latest, greatest voice, data, video services to all students, faculty and staff working, learning and working environment,” said Katherine Dunklau, project manager.

Facilities Planning is working on ways to support a number of new technologies. “The Telecommunications Infrastructure Project will give all students and faculty and staff members electronic access to information resources anywhere, anytime in support of the university’s teaching-learning mission,” Dunklau said.

The project will affect the library, information technology center, core academic buildings, faculty and staff offices, and other support services. Logistics will be planned during the fall quarter and a Web site is being developed to keep the campus informed when the project begins.

For more information, contact Leslie Anne, project information coordinator for Facilities Planning, at ext. 6-6806 or lannea@calpoly.edu.

Meron to chair 2001-2002 Academic Senate

The Academic Senate has elected Industrial Engineering Professor Unmy Meny to chair the 2001-2002 chair and Del Dingus to chair the Science, its vice chair.

The full Executive Committee announced that the Senate consists of Meny, Dingus, past chair and statewide senator Myron Hoog (Mathematics), statewide senators Reg Gagnon (Political Science) and Tom Kapinos (Economics), Provost Paul Zing and caucus chairs.

Caucus chairs are Jim Alhorn, Agriculture, Jonathan Reisch, Architecture and Environmental Design; Mary Beth Armstrong, Cal Poly College of Science; Diane Dorazio, Engineering; Joe Lynch, Liberal Arts; Harvey Greenland, Science and Mathematics; and Stacey Breitenbach, Professional Consultative Services.

Robert D. Hooks

Professor Emeritus Robert Hooks passed away March 28 at Sierra Vista Hospital.

Hooks taught in the Animal Science Department from 1966 until he retired in 1988. He served as a U.S. Marine Corps sergeant in the South Pacific during World War II.

He earned a master’s and doctorate from Iowa State University. Also a Cal Poly alumnus, Hooks was a lifetime member of the Alumni Association.

Public meeting . . .

We appreciate the level of community interest and will continue to address concerns as we analyze and design these projects,” Dalton said. “The community will have additional opportunities to be informed about and provide input to Cal Poly at future neighborhood meetings, as well as through formal circulation of documents in the State’s Environmental Quality Act.”

One of the first steps in environmental review is to outline the topics that the environmental documents should address. Meetings with public agencies and the community so far have identified location, density, aesthetics, traffic and other issues.

For more information about tonight’s meeting, contact Leslie Anne, project information coordinator, at ext. 6-8006. For more information about the proposed housing, contact Dalton at ext. 6-2186.

Academic Records’ Krakor wins ‘registry’ drawing

Daren Krakor of Academic Records won a wood collage picture frame from El Corral and a 9” pizza from Backstage Pizza in the spring quarter Commuter and Access Services “registry” prize-drawing.

The contest is open to people who pledge, donate services to or attend at least 16 days a month. Krakor averaged 20 days a month for the quarter.

For information on the registry program and details on alternative transportation, call Deby Anderson, coordinator of commuter and access services with the University Police at ext. 6-6680.

Chamber Orchestra to give Spring Concert Saturday

Tickets are still available to see the Cal Poly Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of its founder and Music Professor Clifton Swanson, perform its Spring Concert at 8 p.m. Saturday (June 2) in the Theatre.

The program will include Mozart’s Symphony No. 27, Fauré’s “Pavane,” Gershwin’s “Fanfare for the Common Man” and Bach’s Trio Sonata performed by music students Jessica Getman on the oboe, Sara Finnsten, flute; Kristin Harris, cello, and Music Department staff accompanist Catherine Harvey.

Student soloists from the Music Department’s recent solo competition will perform—along with the orchestra—at 3 p.m. on Sunday, June 3.

Tickets cost $5 for students and senior citizens and $8 for the public. The concert is sponsored by the Music Department, College of Liberal Arts, and Instructionally Related Activities program.

For more information, call the Music Department at ext. 6-2406.

Engineering recognizes outstanding profs, employees

The College of Engineering recognized outstanding faculty and staff members at its recent annual Awards Banquet.

Two outstanding staff awards and a faculty advisor award were presented, along with three industry-sponsored awards.

In addition, two professors from other colleges, one from Science and Mathematics and one from Liberal Arts, were honored.

Aerospace Engineering Professor Jordan Pug-Suari won the $2,000 TRW Excellence in Teaching Award; Civil Engineering Professor Ed Sullivan received the $3,000 Litton Research and Development Award; and Materials Engineering Professor Linda Vanasupa took home the $3,000 Northrop Grumman Excellence in Teaching and Applied Research Award.

Pug-Suari, at Cal Poly since 1999, was the key architect of a yearlong spacecraft design course, introduced new courses on spacecraft dynamics and aerospace systems engineering, and has added in the introduction of a minor in multidisciplinary design.

Sullivan has conducted extensive research in traffic operations and safety. He is the principal investigator on a CALTRANS project to evaluate “intelligent” transit applications in San Luis Obispo County and heads the Traffic Management Center Simulation-Based Training Program, also a CALTRANS project.

DeCosta appointed to post in Human Resources

Jean DeCosta, who has served as coordinator of the Employee Assistance Program since 1994, has been appointed associate director of Human Resources and Employment Equity and the Employee Assistance Program.

DeCosta will continue to provide employees with confidential initial assessment and community referrals for personal concerns, help with conflict resolution, and consult with departments on work-related issues. In addition, she is now responsible for staff development, the fee waiver program, and training in the area of change management.

“This recognition of Employee Assistance Program services will enhance the program’s scope toward a more comprehensive approach to organizational health,” said Anna McDonald, director of human resources and employment equity.

“Jean brings her expertise in organizational behavior and professional counseling background to the management team in FREE.”

The EAP office will remain in Room 115 in the Health Center for the remainder of the academic year.

Retirement receptions set

• Roy J. Haynes of the MESA Engineering Program is retiring after serving 13 years as first-year engineering advisor and retention counselor for the program.

A reception in his honor is planned from 2 to 4 p.m. June 13 in the Veranda Cafe.

• The College of Agriculture is planning a farewell reception from 3 to 4:30 p.m. June 17 in honor of five retiring faculty members: Doug Gerneveau, who taught in the Ag business Department from 1970 to 2001; Joe Glass, Bioresource and Agicultural Engineering, 1970-2001; Bob McCorkle, Agribusiness, 1962-2001; Bob Noyes, Food Science and Nutrition, 1974-2001; and Tim O’Keefe.

Fiction, business writing offered by Extended Ed

Extended Education is offering a course in fiction and autobiographical writing and one for business writing.

• Fictions of the Self: Monday and Wednesday, June 18-July 10 (10 meetings), 6:30-8:30 p.m., $125. Students will find out more about themselves in exercises designed to enhance writing — both fiction and autobiographical. The class will help participants "recreate" themselves and, in the process, become "more of who they are." Students will "write themselves to life" as they read several self-revealing works, including poetry, essays and short stories. Participants will alternate discussing the assigned reading with writing workshops and comment on each other’s papers.

• Business Writing: Tuesdays, June 26-Aug. 7 (7 class meetings), 6-9 p.m.

part of Extended Education’s Business Management Certificate program, $155 for certificate enrollees, $165 for others. The course will teach students how to write effective business communications by learning to choose the most descriptive words; write clearly and concisely; produce business letters and memos; create positive, negative and persuasive messages; develop flyers, brochures and news releases; set up formats for agendas and minutes. The proper use of grammar and punctuation will also be covered. Text required: "Business Communication: The Basics" by Patricia Merriett, South-Western Educational Publishing.

For complete course descriptions and to register online, go to Extended Education’s Web site at www.extendededucation.calpoly.edu or call ext. 6-2053.
Three forums set for student affairs VP finalists

Three candidates for the position of vice president for student affairs will be on campus for interviews in June. Students and faculty and staff members are encouraged to attend and meet the candidates during Student Affairs "expos" and open forums, all scheduled in UU 220.

- Anand K. Dyal-Chand, vice president for student affairs at Weber State University in Ogden, Utah, will be on campus Monday-Tuesday (June 4-5). An open forum is planned for Monday.
- William Gregory Sawyer, dean of student services (founding dean), Florida Gulf Coast University in Ft. Myers, will be interviewed June 7-8. An open forum is scheduled for June 7.
- Karen Mendonca, interim associate vice president for academic affairs, CSU Monterey Bay, will be at Cal Poly June 11-12. An open forum is set for June 11.

The Student Affairs expos will be from 10 to 11 a.m. for all candidates, and the open forums will follow from 11 a.m. to noon.

The expo is intended to give the campus community an opportunity to meet representatives from the departments in the Student Affairs division and find out how Student Affairs helps students succeed and learn.

Staff members will be available to answer questions, and refreshments will be served.

Ticket information

Tickets to the performances listed in today's Cal Poly Report are on sale at the Performing Arts Ticket Office 10 a.m.-6 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturdays. "Fair division" to be topic of Math Colloquium

Mathematics Professor Francis Su from Harvey Mudd College will present a Mathematics Colloquium on "Fair division" questions from 4:30 to 5 p.m. Thursday (May 31) in Room 221 in the Agriculture Building.

According to Su, an example of a fair division question is: Suppose a group of people move into a house and find themselves debating who should get what room and for what part of the total rent. Is it always possible to split the house in such a way that everyone will choose a different room? If so, how?

Su will demonstrate how ideas from combinatorial topology address this and other fair division questions and will explain how to find constructive proce-dures for the problem of dividing goods, such as the classic cake-cutting problem, burdens, and mixtures of goods and burdens (such as the rent problem).

The colloquium will also include work by math library Reserve Services. Anyone with background in topology is necessary. Under-graduates are encouraged to attend. [2]

Wind Orchestrations to perform Spring Concert

The Cal Poly Wind Orchestrations will present their Spring Concert at 8 p.m. June 9 in the Cohan Center's Harman Hall.

The concert, titled "An Evening of Musical Masterpieces," features 100 Cal Poly musicians performing or-chestra works widely considered to be some of the finest ever written for the large orchestra, said Music Professor and Wind Orchestra Conductor William Johnson.

The musical selections include works by Ottorino Respighi, Aaron Copland and Robert W. Smith.

Respighi's "Pines of Rome," composed in 1904, is characterized by "rich melodies, lush harmonies and brilliant orches-tration," Johnson said. "Respighi's extraordinary ability to suggest visual images in sound makes "Pines of Rome" a musical masterpiece."

"Fanfare for the Common Man" for brass and percussion is one of American composer Copland's best-known works.

Cal Poly's two Wind Orchestrations will perform Reed's "Three Revela-tions from the Lotus Sutra."

Reed's work for wind orchestra is divided into three sections: "Awakerning" (To Awaken in the Light of the Universe), "Contemplation" (To Con-template the Depth of the Soul), and "Rejoicing" (To Rejoice in the Beauty of Peace).

Symphony No. 2, "The Odyssey," is based on Homer's liter-ary epic.

"It brings to the listener an incred-ible series of adventures and torments as seen through the eyes of Odysseus, King of Ithaca," Johnson said. Two movements will be performed, "The Illiad" and "The Winds of Poseidon."

"The Spring Concert is the culmina-tion of a year of musical growth and development," Johnson said. "These players will be at their very best."

Tickets cost $7 to $15. The concert is sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts, Music Department and ASI. For more information call ext. 6-2607. [1]

Academic Records' Kraker wins 'registry' drawing

Darren Kraker of Academic Records won a wood college picture frame from El Corral and a $9 pizza from BackBone Pizza in the spring quarter Comforter and Access Services "registry" prize-drawing.

The contest is open to people who pledge to use alternative transportation at least 16 days a month. Kraker averaged 20 days a month for the quarter.

For information on the registry program and details on alternative transportation, call Deby Anderson, coordinator of commuter and access services with the University Police at ext. 6-6680. [2]

Chamber Orchestra to give Spring Concert Saturday

Tickets are still available to see the Cal Poly Chamber Orchestra. For more information call the Music Department at ext. 6-2406.

The program will include Mozart's Symphony No. 27, Faure's "Pelléas et Mélisande," and Bach's Trio Sonata performed by music students Jessica Getman on the oboe, Sara Finten, flute, Kristin Harris, cello, and Music Department staff accompanist Katherine Harvey. Student soloists from the Music Department's recent solo competition will perform with the orchestra — arias and symphonies for the public.

Tickets cost $5 for students and senior citizens and $8 for the public. The concert is sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts, and Instructionally Related Activities program. For more information, call the Music Department at ext. 6-2406. [2]

Foundation Board to meet
