Political conflicts to be focus of talk . . .

Continued from page 2

Anne Marcell, 82

Anne Marcell, a former evaluations technician, died in San Luis Obispo Oct. 22. She worked in Student Affairs from 1961 until she retired in 1982.

What's the hurry?

There's still plenty of time to see this photo and others taken by Jesse Alexander, whose work is the subject of a retrospective exhibit in the University Art Gallery. Alexander is an internationally renowned motor sport photographer whose photographs have appeared in Car and Driver, Road and Track and Automobile magazine.

Dateline . . .

Continued from page 1

Music: John Bankston, BackStage Pizza, 11 a.m.
Books at High Noon: Mary Kay Harrington (Wishing Skills) on "The Botany of Desire" by Michael Pollan. Library 510, noon.
Wednesday, November 14

GIS Day: Lectures, exhibits and demonstrations: Library, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.
Flu Shot Clinic: For employees and family members. UU 220, 11 a.m.-1 p.m. ($)
Music: Dorothy Segovia, BackStage Pizza, 11 a.m.
International Terrorism Seminar: "International Politics and Terrorism." Phil Fetzer (Political Science) will moderate panelists Craig Arsenneau (Political Science) on "The Role of International Organizations," Carl Lutlin (Political Science) on "The Middle East: Israel's Perspective," and Mathia Zulaffar (Social Sciences) on "The Complexities of Central Asia." Christopher Cohran Center, Harman Hall, 7 p.m.
Thursday, November 15

Play: "The Miser," Theatre, 8 p.m. Nov. 15-17. ($)
Music: Dimaon Castillo, BackStage Pizza, noon.
Friday, November 16

Music: Tony Larson Band, BackStage Pizza, 6 p.m.
Volleyball: Cal State Northridge, Mott Gym, 7 p.m. ($)
Play: "The Miser," Theatre, 8 p.m. Nov. 15-17. ($)
Saturday, November 17

Volleyball: Pacific, Mott Gym, 7 p.m. ($)
Play: "The Miser," Theatre, 8 p.m. Nov. 15-17. ($)
Sunday, November 18

Music: The Bob, Christopher Cohran Center, Harman Hall, 7 p.m. ($)
Women's Basketball: UC Berkeley, Mott Gym, 7 p.m. ($)
Wednesday, November 21

Academic Holiday: Thanksgiving holiday for academic-year employees. Through Nov. 25.
Thursday, November 22

Holiday: Thanksgiving holiday for year-round employees. Through Nov. 25.

Friday, November 23

Continued on page 6

50th Reunion, Veterans' Day memorial ceremony part of 'A Centennial Homecoming' Nov. 9-11

A Homecoming Reunion for Cal Poly's graduating class of '51 and a special Veterans' Day Memorial Unveiling and Dedication are planned as part of "A Centennial Homecoming" Friday-Sunday (Nov. 9-11).

A full day of activities is planned Friday for members of the class of '51, including breakfast in the Christopher Cohran Center, classroom presentations, campus bus tours, and an evening reception and dinner at the San Luis Obispo Veterans' Hall on Grand Avenue.

At 10:30 a.m. Sunday, the veterans' memorial ceremony will take place at the UU Mustang statue to honor former students and alumni who lost their lives in battle.

Rear Adm. David R. Ellison, superintendent of the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, will deliver the keynote address at the event.

In addition, newly restored memorial plaques will be unveiled, including one that the 1946 graduating class presented to then-President Julian McPhee listing the names of 58 Cal Poly students who died in military service in World War II.

New memorial plaques honoring fallen Cal Poly veterans will also be unveiled.

The first major Homecoming public event is the parade at 10 a.m. Saturday in downtown San Luis Obispo with Grand Marshal Clarence Chiesa, a 1923 College of Agriculture graduate, San Luis Obispo resident, and the university's oldest living graduate at 96.

For a schedule of all Homecoming events, log on to www.calpoly.edu or call the Alumni Relation office at ext. 26-2356.
Political conflicts lead forums of talk Thursday

English Professor Don Lazer will speak on the intersection between literature and politics in Arthur Miller’s “Death of a Salesman” at 11 a.m. Thursday (Nov. 8) in the First What Else Do Forum of the academic year. The forum, sponsored by the English Department, will be in Room 202 in the Science North Building.

In his presentation, Lazer will use a cultural studies perspective to discuss Miller’s play. He will make a case for the legitimacy of fostering critical thinking about politics, and of political debate, in teaching all areas of the humanities, without the imposition of “political correctness” by teachers.

The presentation will sum up the perspective Lazer has developed in his books, articles and courses in relation to various recent theoretical trends in English and the humanities. He will illustrate his points with an analysis of implicit continued on page 6

Troll-free phone launched to give antiterror information

The Governor’s Office of Emergency Services has launched a troll-free “safety information and referral” line. (800) 550-5234, to provide California residents with recorded, non-emergency, anthrax-related information. In addition, trained technicians will be available 6 a.m.-9 p.m. daily to give referrals.

Hearing-impaired individuals can obtain a toll-free TTY line at (800) 550-5281.

The information and referral lines are part of ongoing efforts by the OES to address the safety concerns of Californians in the aftermath of the Sept. 11 attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon.

The “one-stop” information line allows callers to choose from a menu that provides access to information on personal and family preparedness, what to do in the event of a possible or real exposure to anthrax, and what to do with suspicious mail or packages. Technicians are also on call to answer questions, refer callers to various agencies, departments and Internet Web sites for more information.

If you still need help, I can also be found on the OES Web site at www.oes.ca.gov. Click on “terrorism.”

CPA deadline extended

Please note that the Cal Poly Report is changing the deadline for the Nov. 28 issue because the campus will be closed for the Thanksgiving holiday, Thursday and Friday.

Items are due to Public Affairs by 10 a.m. Monday, Nov. 19. Please also note that the Dec. 12 issue is the final one for fall quarter.

Item can be e-mailed to polynews@poly.edu. To fax, call the main office at 568-6423. All items can be faxed to Public Affairs, Heron Hall.

For more information, call Public Affairs at ext. 6-1511.

Dairy judging team sweeps national contest

The Dairy judging Team emerged as the winner at the 80th Collegiate Dairy Products Evaluation Competition held recently in Chicago, and Daisy Professor Will Gillis, the advisor, was named Coach of the Year.

This is Cal Poly’s second-such win at the competition, which includes categories in ice cream, yogurt, butter, cheddar cheese, cottage cheese and milk.

As a team, the Cal Poly group finished first in cheddar cheese and butter, second in milk, third in cottage cheese, fourth in yogurt and fifth in ice cream, landing a first-place prize in All Products.

The students are development projects in such qualities as flavor, appearance, color, and body and texture.

Team members were Cindy Hsu, a senior soy science major; Allison Reynolds, a senior dairy science major; and Leanne Verdela, a senior dairy science major.

In individual competition, Reynolds won a total of $600 for first-place finishes in All Products, ice cream and cheddar cheese.

Verdela won $200 for a third-place win in All Products.

The team competed against students from 19 other universities, including the University of Wisconsin, Oregon State, Brigham Young, Penn State and the University of Michigan.

Alternate Cal Poly team members who traveled to Chicago include Casey Griffith, a senior dairy science major; Steven Knuusden, a sophomore science major; and Devin Bowen, a sophomore dairy science major.

Gillis has been teaching at Cal Poly and serving as the team’s advisor since 1986.

Spreading the good word about dairy products

Phil Tong (standing) of the Dairy Products Technology Center in Sonoma, and writers from Latin America’s key food industry trade magazines, who were at Cal Poly recently to learn about U.S. dairy ingredient manufacturing processes and applications, traveled from Brazil, Chile, Ecuador and Peru. The group’s visit was sponsored by the U.S. Dairy Export Council.

Position Vacancies for state, faculty and Foundation:

STATE: the official listing of staff and management vacancies is posted at least two weeks prior to closing dates on Cal Poly’s Web site at www.calpoly.edu. (Select “Employee” from the Cal Poly Links drop-down box.) As a courtesy to our on-campus employees, job notices also are published in the Cal Poly Report. Positions marked with an asterisk indicate that qualified on-campus applicants in bargaining units 2, 5, 7 and 9 will be given first consideration. Job applications must be received in Human Resources, Adm. 110, by 5 p.m. on the closing date.

#239: Educational Clinician, Evaluation Coordinator, Enrollment Support Services, Academic Records, Adm. 110, by 5 p.m. on the closing date.

#107: Administrative Assistant 1, Office of Academic Planning and Analysis, $2,694-$4,044. Closing date: Nov. 16.

#345: Professor, Business Administration, $2,633-$3,514. Closing date: Dec. 17.

#349: Professor, Kinesiology, $2,994-$4,594. Closing date: Dec. 17.

FACULTY Candidates are asked to contact the appropriate department office at the phone number listed below for more information or to request an application. Additional information and qualifications for each position may also be obtained online at www.calpoly.edu/careers.

Please submit all application materials to the department chair/office unless otherwise specified in the ad. Rank and salary are commensurate with qualifications and experience (and base where applicable), unless otherwise stated.

#394: Lecturer, Full-Time, Statistics Department (ext. 6-2709). Closing date: Feb. 22.

#396: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor, Kinetics Department (ext. 6-2545). Closing date: Dec. 17.

#397: Assistant/Associate Professor in Leadership, Learning Resources and Curriculum, and Public Affairs, Heron Hall. For more information, contact Professor Will Gillis. The group’s visit was sponsored by the U.S. Dairy Export Council.

#239: Educational Clinician, Evaluation Coordinator, Enrollment Support Services, Academic Records, Adm. 110, by 5 p.m. on the closing date.

#107: Administrative Assistant 1, Office of Academic Planning and Analysis, $2,694-$4,044. Closing date: Nov. 16.

#345: Professor, Business Administration, $2,633-$3,514. Closing date: Dec. 17.

#349: Professor, Kinesiology, $2,994-$4,594. Closing date: Dec. 17.

FACULTY Candidates are asked to contact the appropriate department office at the phone number listed below for more information or to request an application. Additional information and qualifications for each position may also be obtained online at www.calpoly.edu/careers.

Please submit all application materials to the department chair/office unless otherwise specified in the ad. Rank and salary are commensurate with qualifications and experience (and base where applicable), unless otherwise stated.

#394: Lecturer, Full-Time, Statistics Department (ext. 6-2709). Closing date: Feb. 22.

#396: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor, Kinetics Department (ext. 6-2545). Closing date: Dec. 17.

#397: Assistant/Associate Professor in Leadership, Learning Resources and Curriculum, and Public Affairs, Heron Hall. For more information, contact Professor Will Gillis. The group’s visit was sponsored by the U.S. Dairy Export Council.

#239: Educational Clinician, Evaluation Coordinator, Enrollment Support Services, Academic Records, Adm. 110, by 5 p.m. on the closing date.

#107: Administrative Assistant 1, Office of Academic Planning and Analysis, $2,694-$4,044. Closing date: Nov. 16.

#345: Professor, Business Administration, $2,633-$3,514. Closing date: Dec. 17.

#349: Professor, Kinesiology, $2,994-$4,594. Closing date: Dec. 17.

FACULTY Candidates are asked to contact the appropriate department office at the phone number listed below for more information or to request an application. Additional information and qualifications for each position may also be obtained online at www.calpoly.edu/careers.

Please submit all application materials to the department chair/office unless otherwise specified in the ad. Rank and salary are commensurate with qualifications and experience (and base where applicable), unless otherwise stated.

#394: Lecturer, Full-Time, Statistics Department (ext. 6-2709). Closing date: Feb. 22.

#396: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor, Kinetics Department (ext. 6-2545). Closing date: Dec. 17.

#397: Assistant/Associate Professor in Leadership, Learning Resources and Curriculum, and Public Affairs, Heron Hall. For more information, contact Professor Will Gillis. The group’s visit was sponsored by the U.S. Dairy Export Council.
Help now available online for computer problems

Having computer problems? Don’t know whom to call or where to turn? Don’t know the status of an already-submitted computer-related problem or request?

Help is now online in the form of the “Remedy HelpDesk Application” Web page, which allows users to report new computer problems, submit requests and check the status of problems already reported to Information Technology Services and other computer support groups.

To use the new page, go to the ITS HelpDesk Web page at http://helpdesk.calpoly.edu and click on “Submit/View a Request.”

To log in, users need to know their “e-mail alias.” (If your e-mail is sent to jdoe@calpoly.edu, your e-mail alias is “jdoe.”) You’ll also need to know your Central Unix or “Imagine Modern Pool” password. If you don’t know your e-mail alias or password, click on the “Don’t know your login or password?” link for more information.

The page and its easy-to-complete forms are available at any time from any workstation with Internet access and require no training to use.

Anyone who has questions or problems logging in or using the forms should call the ITS HelpDesk at ext. 6-7000 or e-mail helpdesk@calpoly.edu. The Remedy HelpDesk Application is just one among several new features on the revised HelpDesk site providing useful resources and answers to computer questions.

Flu Shot Clinic to be Nov. 14

The Employee Assistance Program is sponsoring a flu shot clinic for employees and family members 11 a.m.-1 p.m. Nov. 14 in UU 220. Pre-registration is not required. The $15 fee can be paid by cash or check made payable to Maxim Health Systems. For more information, call Anne Goshen at ext. 6-0127.

Help Desk Application--is just one among several new features on the revised HelpDesk site providing useful resources and answers to computer questions.

Deadline to be Nov. 16 for fall Credit Report

The deadline to submit items for the fall issue of The Credit Report will be Nov. 16. Text should be e-mailed (not faxed or campus mailed) to polynews@calpoly.edu (add. calpoly.edu if necessary).

Photos of all types are welcome. Original prints should be sent in campus mail to Public Affairs. The editor’s computer cannot handle digital photos by e-mail.

Guidelines for what to send are available at www.calpoly.edu/communic/credit/credit.htm. For more information, call Public Affairs at ext. 6-1511.

‘West Wing’ producer, alumnus to speak at Journalism gala

Devotees of NBC-TV’s “The West Wing” will have an opportunity to get an inside look at the popular television show when co-executive producer Kevin Falls addresses the Journalism Department’s Centennial alumni fund-raiser Saturday evening (Nov. 10) in Chumash Auditorium.

Falls is a 1978 journalism graduate. He will offer personal anecdotes about working with the writing team, his co-producer and the cast of the Emmy-winning television show, which follows the political lives of the mythical Bartlett administration.

Falls has also written for ABC’s “Sports Night” and HBO’s “Arli$$” and penned the screenplays for “Summer Catch” and “The Temp.”

In addition to hearing keynote speaker Falls, journalism alumni will “toast and catch” with Gilbert.

Award-winning poet to read at Cal Poly Friday

American Book Award-winner Sandra Gilbert will read from her new book of poetry to kick off the San Luis Obispo Poetry Festival at 7 p.m. Friday (Nov. 9) in the Christopher Cohen Center’s Philips Hall.

A former Pulitzer Prize nominee for criticism, Gilbert is one of America’s preeminent post-critics, according to English Professor Kevin Clark.

In addition to her numerous volumes of criticism and a widely praised memoir, “Wrongful Death,” Gilbert has six books of poetry to her credit, including her most recent, “Kissing the Bread: New & Selected Poems, 1969-1999.

According to Clark, Gilbert’s poems are most often vivid depictions of the lives of American women and immigrants.

“Sometimes gravely serious, sometimes deceptively comic, always about deep conflict, her poems often explore the struggle between men and women as they negotiate the difficult terrain of romantic relationships,” Clark said.

“Sandra Gilbert’s poetry breaks my heart,” wrote poet Susan Hahn.

“I can’t think of a finer poet writing at this millennial moment. Currently a professor at UC Davis, Gilbert has also taught at Princeton, Johns Hopkins and Indiana University.

Berkeley poet Nellie Wong will read with Gilbert.

Obispo Poetry Festival at 7 p.m. Friday (Nov. 9) in the Christopher Cohen Center, Women’s Studies Program, English Department and San Luis Obispo Poetry Festival.

Clarification

For information on the CSU International Programs resident director positions announced in the Oct. 24 Cal Poly Report, please call Eldon Li in the Orfalea Center’s College of Business at ext. 6-2964.

Ticket information

Tickets to the performances listed in today’s Cal Poly Report are on sale at the Performing Arts Ticket Office 10 a.m.-6 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturdays. Call ext. 6-2787, or fax your order to ext. 6-2688.

Call ext. 6-2787, or fax your order to ext. 6-2688.

For more information, call Public Affairs at ext. 6-1511
Healthy communities to be focus of November conference

Building healthy communities free of crime, drugs, hunger, poverty and other urban ills is the topic of “Community Development in the New Century,” a statewide conference Nov. 14-16 at Cal Poly.

The conference is intended to offer a look at the state of the art of community development planning in the United States and also to help the university create a new Community Development program.

The conference will feature workshops led by national experts and keynote addresses from three nationally known leaders: Paul Orfalea, founder of Kinko’s and the Orfalea Family Foundation; Ed Blakely, dean of the Robert J. Milano Graduate School of Management and Urban Policy at New York’s New School University; and Wim Wiewel, dean of the University of Illinois College of Business.

The university has invited city and county government officials and representatives from nonprofit agencies, social service groups and communities across California to participate.

“The mission of the conference is to define a role for Cal Poly in the very dynamic field of community development and to put together a feasible program of teaching, service and applied research,” said City and Regional Planning Professor Richard Lee, who is coordinating the conference with Economics Professor Dan Vlegas.

“We want to bring the energy and talents of Cal Poly’s diverse students to communities in need,” explained Lee. “There are many courses and student projects at Cal Poly that involve community development and community groups. These courses and projects would all benefit directly from closer ties to community development organizations.”

The Community Development program will be a joint venture of the College of Architecture and Environmental Design and the Orfalea College of Business.

The university plans to collaborate with the private sector, including for-profit and nonprofit institutions, in setting up the new program.

Plans call for the program to concentrate on economic development and planning, job creation, affordable housing, “family-friendly” organizational practices, environmental sustainability, community and social infrastructure, and the role of nonprofit organizations and social entrepreneurship in healthy communities.

The conference will focus on six topics: social entrepreneurship and financial capital; development of a community’s human capital; family and household issues; housing and housing services; development of a community’s physical capital; and university-community development partnerships.

For reservations call ext. 6-1315 or 6-2809. For more information, contact Lee at ext. 6-2873 or Vlegas at 6-1767 or visit the conference Web page at www.calpoly.edu/crpdcomdev.html.

Native American activist to speak on indigenous issues

University of Colorado Ethnic Studies Professor and Native American activist Ward Churchill will speak at Cal Poly on “Global Indigenous Issues” at 7 p.m. Nov. 14 in Philips Hall in the Christopher Cohan Center.

Churchill is presenting the keynote address of Cal Poly’s Indigenous Peoples’ Week, held in conjunction with International Education Week, Nov. 12-16.

Churchill is a member of the Creek Tribe and is an enrolled Keetoowah Band Cherokee. An outspoken Native American activist, he lectures and publishes extensively on such themes as genocide in the Americas, historical and legal (re)interpretation of conquest and colonization, literary and cinematic criticism, and indigenous alternatives to the status quo.

His books include “Agents of Repression,” “Fantasies of the Master Race” and “A Little Matter of Genocide: Holocaust and Denial in the Americas.”

Churchill coordinates the University of Colorado’s American Indian Studies program. He served as a delegate to the United Nations Working Group on Indigenous Peoples During the 1993 International People’s Tribunal on the Rights of Indigenous Hawaiians.

The talk is sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts, Student Life and Leadership’s Multicultural Center, and the Ethnic Studies Department. For more information, contact Steve Woodard, interim coordinator of multicultural programs and services, at ext. 6-1405 or woodard@calpoly.edu.

Terrorism panel discussion to continue Nov. 14

Cal Poly’s discussion series on international politics and terrorism will continue at 7 p.m. Nov. 14 in the Christopher Cohan Center’s Harman Hall.

Panelists include Political Science Professor Craig Arceneaux, who will address "The Role of International Organizations," Political Science Professor Carl Lutron on "The Middle East: Israel’s Perspective," and Social Sciences Professor Malika Zulfacar on "The Complexities of Central Asia."

Political Science Professor Phil Fetzer will moderate the discussion, designed to provide information of general interest to the campus community.

For more information contact Anny Morrobel-Sosa at ext. 6-1380 or Fetzer at ext. 6-6147.

Employees, students lead ridesharing efforts

Cal Poly employees and students made nearly 75 percent of all countywide pledges during Rideshare Week, Oct. 2-6.

During Rideshare Week, 536 people in the county pledged to bike, walk, car pool, van pool or take the bus to work or school at least one day. Of those 536 pledges, 395 were submitted by Cal Poly.

Those who pledged were entered into a prize drawing, and 48 campus winners were announced. They won Rideshare T-shirts, a CCAT bus pass, visors, a $20 credit on a Campus Express Card, a “Safe Ride Home” pass, and certificates for a Julian’s coffee and a BackStage pizza.

In addition, 17 Cal Poly winners won prizes in the county drawing. Those prizes included commuter mugs, tickets to the Palm Theatre and certificates for Jamba Juice smoothies, Gus’ brown bag lunch, Starbucks coffee and Woodstock’s pizza.

For more information on alternative transportation, contact Deb Anderson, commuter and access services coordinator with the University Police, at ext. 6-6680.
political conflicts; urban forms of talk Thursday

English Professor Don Lazer will speak on the intersection between literature and politics in Arthur Miller’s “Death of a Salesman” at 11 a.m. Thursday (Nov. 8) in the first What Else We Do forum of the academic year.

The forum, sponsored by the English Department, will be in Room 202 in the Science North Building.

In his presentation, Lazer will use a cultural studies perspective to discuss Miller’s play. He will make a case for the legitimacy of fostering critical thinking about politics, and of political debate, in teaching all areas of the humanities, without­ the imposition of “political correctness” by teachers.

The presentation will sum up the per­ cative Lazer has developed in his books, articles and courses in relation to various recent theoretical trends in Enlish and the humanities. He will illustrate his points with an analysis of implicit

Continued on page 6

Troll-free phone launched to give animal information

The Governor’s Office of Emergency Services has launched a toll-free “safety information and referral” line, (800) 550-5234, to provide California residents with recorded, non-emergency, anthraxrelated information. In addition, trained technicians will available 6 a.m.-9 p.m.

daily to give referrals.

Hearing-impaired individuals can obtain information through the toll-free TTY line at (800) 550-5281.

The information and referral lines are part of ongoing efforts by the OES to address the safety concerns of Californians in the aftermath of the Sept. 11 attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon.

The “one-stop” information line allows callers to choose from a menu that provides access to information on personal and family preparedness, what to do in the event of a possible or real exposure to anthrax, and what to do with suspicious mail or packages. Technicians are also on call to answer questions about callers to various agencies, departments and Internet Web sites for more information.

Safety tips can also be found on the OES Web site at www.oes.ca.gov. Click on “terrorism.”

Campus steering committee appoints new chair

Kira Franz-Knight, who earned a bachelor’s degree in history from Cal Poly in 1994, has returned to campus this time as a costume designer and teacher in the Theatre and Dance Department.

Her first assignment is to design the costumes for the upcoming production of Moliere’s The Miser, which will play at 8 p.m. Thursday-Saturday (Nov. 8-10) and Nov. 15-17 in the Theatre. The costumes reflect the fashion of the late 17th to 18th century, but will play fit 8 p.m. Thursday-Saturday (Nov.

Position Vacancies for State, faculty and Foundation

STATE: The official listing of staff and management vacancies is posted at least two weeks prior to closing dates on Cal Poly’s Web site at www.calpoly.edu. (Select “Employment” from the Cal Poly Links drop­ down box.) As a courtesy to our on-campus employees, job vacancies also are published in the Cal Poly Report. Positions marked with an asterisk indicate that qualified on­ campus applicants in bargaining units 2, 5 and 79 will be given first consideration. Job applications must be received in Human Resources, Adm. 110, by 5 p.m. on the closing date.

#134—Emergency Clerical Pool, Adminis­

#135—Library, Full-Time, Statistics

PhD in Business Administration. Phil Tong (standing) of the Dairy Products Technology Center addresses editors and writers from Latin America’s key food industries trade magazines, who were at Cal Poly recently to learn about U.S. dairy ingredient manufacturing processes and applications. They traveled from Brazil, Chile, Ecuador and Peru. The group’s visit was sponsored by the U.S. Dairy Export Council.

Spreading the good word about dairy products

Dairy judging team sweeps national contest

The Dairy Products Judging Team emerged the winner at the 80th Collegiate Dairy Products Evaluation Contest held recently in Chicago, and Daisy Professor William Gillis, the team advisor, was named Coach of the Year.

This is Cal Poly's second second win at the competition, which includes categories in ice cream, yogurt, butter, cheddar cheese, cottage cheese and milk. As a team, the group posted first in cheddar cheese and butter, second in milk, third in cottage cheese, fourth in yogurt and fifth in ice cream, landing a first-place prize in All Products.

The team was comprised of students who developed such qualities as flavor, appearance and color, and body and texture.

Team members were Cathy Hu, a se­

ior food science major, Allison Reynolds, a senior dairy science major, and Leanne Verdegal, a senior dairy science major.

In individual competition, Reynolds won a total of $600 for first-place finishes in All Products, ice cream and cheddar cheese. Verdegal won $200 for a third­ place win in All Products.

The team competed against students from 19 other universities, including the University of Wisconsin, Oregon State, Brigham Young, Penn State and the University of Michigan.

Alternate Cal Poly team members who traveled to Chicago include Casey

Gregg, a senior dairy science major; Steven Knudsen, a sophomore food science major; and June Bowlin, a sophomore dairy science major.

Gillis has been at Cal Poly and serving as the team’s advisor since 1986.

Cone headline deadline

Please note that the Cal Poly Report is changing the deadline for the Nov. 28 issue because the campus will be closed for the Thanksgiving holiday, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 22-23.

Items are due to Public Affairs by 10 a.m. Monday, Nov. 19.

Please also note that the Dec. 12 issue is the final one for fall quarter.

Items can be e-mailed to polymail@calpoly.edu or faxed to ext. 6-6533, or mailed to Public Affairs, Heron Hall. For more infor­ cation, call Public Affairs at ext. 6-1511.

Dairy judging team sweeps national contest

The Dairy Products Judging Team emerged the winner at the 80th Collegiate Dairy Products Evaluation Contest held recently in Chicago, and Daisy Professor William Gillis, the team advisor, was named Coach of the Year.

This is Cal Poly's second second win at the competition, which includes categories in ice cream, yogurt, butter, cheddar cheese, cottage cheese and milk. As a team, the group posted first in cheddar cheese and butter, second in milk, third in cottage cheese, fourth in yogurt and fifth in ice cream, landing a first-place prize in All Products.

The team was comprised of students who developed such qualities as flavor, appearance and color, and body and texture.

Team members were Cathy Hu, a se­

ior food science major, Allison Reynolds, a senior dairy science major, and Leanne Verdegal, a senior dairy science major.

In individual competition, Reynolds won a total of $600 for first-place finishes in All Products, ice cream and cheddar cheese. Verdegal won $200 for a third­ place win in All Products.

The team competed against students from 19 other universities, including the University of Wisconsin, Oregon State, Brigham Young, Penn State and the University of Michigan.

Alternate Cal Poly team members who traveled to Chicago include Casey

Gregg, a senior dairy science major; Steven Knudsen, a sophomore food science major; and June Bowlin, a sophomore dairy science major.

Gillis has been at Cal Poly and serving as the team’s advisor since 1986.

Cone headline deadline

Please note that the Cal Poly Report is changing the deadline for the Nov. 28 issue because the campus will be closed for the Thanksgiving holiday, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 22-23.

Items are due to Public Affairs by 10 a.m. Monday, Nov. 19.

Please also note that the Dec. 12 issue is the final one for fall quarter.

Items can be e-mailed to polymail@calpoly.edu or faxed to ext. 6-6533, or mailed to Public Affairs, Heron Hall. For more infor­ cation, call Public Affairs at ext. 6-1511.

Dairy judging team sweeps national contest

The Dairy Products Judging Team emerged the winner at the 80th Collegiate Dairy Products Evaluation Contest held recently in Chicago, and Daisy Professor William Gillis, the team advisor, was named Coach of the Year.

This is Cal Poly's second second win at the competition, which includes categories in ice cream, yogurt, butter, cheddar cheese, cottage cheese and milk. As a team, the group posted first in cheddar cheese and butter, second in milk, third in cottage cheese, fourth in yogurt and fifth in ice cream, landing a first-place prize in All Products.

The team was comprised of students who developed such qualities as flavor, appearance and color, and body and texture.

Team members were Cathy Hu, a se­

ior food science major, Allison Reynolds, a senior dairy science major, and Leanne Verdegal, a senior dairy science major.

In individual competition, Reynolds won a total of $600 for first-place finishes in All Products, ice cream and cheddar cheese. Verdegal won $200 for a third­ place win in All Products.

The team competed against students from 19 other universities, including the University of Wisconsin, Oregon State, Brigham Young, Penn State and the University of Michigan.

Alternate Cal Poly team members who traveled to Chicago include Casey

Gregg, a senior dairy science major; Steven Knudsen, a sophomore food science major; and June Bowlin, a sophomore dairy science major.

Gillis has been at Cal Poly and serving as the team’s advisor since 1986.

Cone headline deadline

Please note that the Cal Poly Report is changing the deadline for the Nov. 28 issue because the campus will be closed for the Thanksgiving holiday, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 22-23.

Items are due to Public Affairs by 10 a.m. Monday, Nov. 19.

Please also note that the Dec. 12 issue is the final one for fall quarter.

Items can be e-mailed to polymail@calpoly.edu or faxed to ext. 6-6533, or mailed to Public Affairs, Heron Hall. For more infor­ cation, call Public Affairs at ext. 6-1511.

Dairy judging team sweeps national contest

The Dairy Products Judging Team emerged the winner at the 80th Collegiate Dairy Products Evaluation Contest held recently in Chicago, and Daisy Professor William Gillis, the team advisor, was named Coach of the Year.

This is Cal Poly's second second win at the competition, which includes categories in ice cream, yogurt, butter, cheddar cheese, cottage cheese and milk. As a team, the group posted first in cheddar cheese and butter, second in milk, third in cottage cheese, fourth in yogurt and fifth in ice cream, landing a first-place prize in All Products.

The team was comprised of students who developed such qualities as flavor, appearance and color, and body and texture.

Team members were Cathy Hu, a se­

ior food science major, Allison Reynolds, a senior dairy science major, and Leanne Verdegal, a senior dairy science major.

In individual competition, Reynolds won a total of $600 for first-place finishes in All Products, ice cream and cheddar cheese. Verdegal won $200 for a third­ place win in All Products.

The team competed against students from 19 other universities, including the University of Wisconsin, Oregon State, Brigham Young, Penn State and the University of Michigan.

Alternate Cal Poly team members who traveled to Chicago include Casey

Gregg, a senior dairy science major; Steven Knudsen, a sophomore food science major; and June Bowlin, a sophomore dairy science major.

Gillis has been at Cal Poly and serving as the team’s advisor since 1986.
Political conflicts to be focus of talk. .

Continued from page 2

What’s the hurry?

Anne Marcell, 82

Anne Marcell, a former evaluations technician, died in San Luis Obispo Oct. 22. She worked in Student Affairs from 1961 until she retired in 1982.

Dateline...

Continued from page 1

Music: John Bankston, BackStage Pizza, 11 a.m.

Wednesday, November 14

GIG Day: Lectures, exhibits and demonstrations: Library, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Flu Shot Clinic: For employees and family members. UU 220, 11 a.m.-1 p.m. ($)
Music: Dorothy Segovia, BackStage Pizza, 11 a.m.

International Terrorism Seminar: “International Politics and Terrorism.” Phil Feifer (Political Science) will moderate panelists Craig Arsenius (Political Science) on “The Role of International Organizations,” Carl Lutrin (Political Science) on “The Middle East: Israel’s Perspective,” and Malsha Zilicoff (Social Sciences) on “The Complexities of Central Asia.” Christopher Cohan Center, Harman Hall, 7 p.m.

Thursday, November 15

Play: “The Miser,” Theatre, 8 p.m. Nov 15-17. ($)
Music: Dan-On Castillo, BackStage Pizza, noon.

Friday, November 16

Music: Taylor Larson Band, BackStage Pizza, 6 p.m.
Volleyball: Cal State Northridge, Mott Gym, 7 p.m. ($)
Play: “The Miser,” Theatre, 8 p.m. Nov. 15-17. ($)

Saturday, November 17

Volleyball: Pacific, Mott Gym, 7 p.m. ($)
Play: “The Miser,” Theatre, 8 p.m. Nov. 15-17. ($)

Sunday, November 18

Music: The Bobi, Christopher Cohan Center’s Harman Hall, 7 p.m. ($)
Women’s Basketball: UC Berkeley, Mott Gym, 7 p.m. ($)

Wednesday, November 21

Academic Holiday: Thanksgiving holiday for academic-year employees. Through Nov. 25.

Thursday, November 22

Holiday: Thanksgiving holiday for yearround employees. Through Nov. 25.

Friday, November 23

Homecoming: Various activities through Sunday, Nov. 11.

Speakers: Bob Flores (Agricultural Education and Communication), moderator, “What Did We Hear From Our Students?” Erhart Ag 241, noon.

Men’s Soccer: UCSB, Mustang Stadium, 7 p.m. ($)
Play: “The Miser,” Theatre, 8 p.m. Nov. 8-10, 15-17. ($)

Saturday, November 24

Football (Homecoming): Cal State Northridge, Mustang Stadium, 3 p.m. ($)
Music: Music Department’s Bandfest with the Wind Orchestra and Mustang Band, Christopher Cohan Center’s Harman Hall, 8 p.m. ($)
Play: “The Miser,” Theatre, 8 p.m. Nov. 8-10, 15-17. ($)

Monday, December 1

Holiday: Campus closed for observation. Students permitted to leave campus. Holiday parking remains in effect.

Tuesday, December 13

Continued on page 6

The Collegians, a popular Cal Poly band that the class of ’51 often danced to, will perform in uniform in 1945. The class of ‘51 is celebrating its 50th reunion during Homecoming. (Photo courtesy of University Archives, California Polytechnic State University.)

50th Reunion, Veterans’ Day Memorial ceremony part of ‘A Centennial Homecoming’ Nov. 9-11

A Homecoming Reunion for Cal Poly’s graduating class of ’51 and a special Veterans’ Day Memorial Unveiling and Dedication are planned as part of “A Centennial Homecoming” Friday-Sunday (Nov. 9-11).

A full day of activities is planned Friday for members of the class of ’51, including breakfast in the Christopher Cohan Center, classroom presentations, campus bus tours, and an evening reception and dinner at the San Luis Obispo Veterans’ Hall on Grand Avenue.

At 10:30 a.m. Sunday, the veterans’ memorial ceremony will take place at the UU Mustang statue to honor former students and alumni who lost their lives in battle.

Rear Adm. David W. Ellison, superintendent of the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, will deliver the keynote address at the event.

In addition, newly restored memorial plaques will be unveiled, including one that the 1946 graduating class presented to then-President Julian McPhee listing the names of 58 Cal Poly students who died in military service in World War II. New memorial plaques honoring fallen Cal Poly veterans will also be unveiled.

The first major Homecoming public event is the parade at 10 a.m. Saturday in downtown San Luis Obispo with Grand Marshal Clarence Chiesa, a 1923 College of Agriculture graduate, San Luis Obispo resident, and the university’s oldest living graduate at 96.

For a schedule of all Homecoming events, log on to www.calum.edu or call the Alumni Relation office at ext. 6-2356.

PAGE 6