Campus Botanical Gardens To Be Dedicated Friday

An extensive botanical garden in Polyclay canyon, which has been under development for nearly two years, will be dedicated to President Julian A. McPhee next Friday afternoon. Located about a half mile up the canyon to the northwest of the impoundment dam, the garden is a project of Tri-Beta, the biology club. It is estimated to contain about 100 varieties of plants and trees, including such exotic species as lodgepole pine, redwood, and sequoia. Additional plants for the garden were recently imported from the Sierra juniper and sequoia, and are being added to the garden at a rapid pace. The garden site was granted by the college farm committee in early 1954, and development has been underway ever since.

The garden site was located about 1 mile up the canyon to the northwest of the Pederson ranch, a distance of nearly 8 feet on the upper down grade. The garden facilities for cars, however, are quite limited.

Students are invited to inspect the garden and take part in the dedication ceremonies, which will be conducted in the garden next Friday just west of the Pederson ranch. The garden will be open all day on the upper downslope, and students are encouraged to come during the dedication ceremonies, which will be held Friday afternoon.

More To Dorm Mgr. Job Than Turning In Time Card

"Top flight student dorm managers greatly assist in improving housing and study conditions," the dean of the college said recently."But it's not a position for anyone who does not have a genuine interest in helping people with their problems," says James Wilkins, resident manager.

"Dorm managers earn from $43 to $50 a month, depending on their responsibilities," commented Wilkins. "However, there is more to the job than submitting your time card. The following list contains the duties and responsibilities of the position and their importance to the individual's future business and professional life."

1. Must be an opportunist or have had two years of college.
2. Must have sufficient time available to do the job.
3. Should have been a dorm resident or have had equivalent experience.
