Slevin, Walker, Duffy Win Student Offices

3 Branches Defeated Again; 75% Turnout At The Polls

Ed Slevin, agricultural journalism major from San Francisco, was elected president of the Associated Student Body this week in one of the closest races in some time, coupled with the largest vote in the history of the college. Don Walker, aeronautical engineering major from Placeville, whacked out the tie-votes by a substantial margin while James Duffy, dairy manufacturing major from Marysville, asked in a run off with Mr. Major Roger Phaedon and John Coppel, poultry major from Loma Linda. Although the 75% turnout was higher than ever before, two-thirds approval, final results were not expected until Tuesday morning.

Thousands Expected For Poly Royal

Nearly 20,000 visitors are expected to attend the Poly Royal Saturday and Sunday for entertainment Poly Royal activities. In addition to the Poly's "learn-by-doing" program, classes are to be dismissed Thursday through Saturday, but few students will leave campus for home at this time, with Poly students attending the Poly Royal activities at the Depot Reception Saturday evening. A theme, "It's a Theme Party," will be held at the Depot. The event will be open to the public.

Local Housing Is Offered PR Guests

Several downtown residents have volunteered sleeping arrangements for guests during Poly Royal. Local residents have offered their cooperation, said Halstead. Local students have not been requested.

Growth Control Is Topic Of Lecture

Dr. B. Hendrickson, president of the University of California, will discuss "Growth of Drought and Shelter," in the lecture on Tuesday evening in the Lecture Hall. The public is invited.

"Many college and hoteliers have volunteered their services, and all the way," said Mr. Halstead.

Cycle Enthusiasts Warned On Noise
A word of caution to motor-vehicle owners is heard by visitors to the noise problem. A movement is under way to keep noisy vehicles away from the road during hours of operation. The cooperation of these riders is required to terminate the noise problem.

The El Instructor claims "It is easier to keep noisy vehicles under control to include all fields by saying it is the most desirable thing to almost any person.

According to Zimmerman, the most important aspect to consider in the choice of a vocation is the money. If you are satisfied, you will enjoy it. In his opinion, the most desirable way is to enter the field of education. Why did he choose this field? "Frankly, I enjoy teaching. The idea of teaching as long as possible." Zimmerman states that he enjoys teaching.

EE Display Wins $500

For the second consecutive time the electrical engineering diploma exhibition held in the University class of the Electrical Maintenance Engineers association's Electrical Industry show held in Los Angeles was awarded first place.

Don Howell of Pasadena, student chairman, accepted the first place plaque and the congratulations of Charlie Hayes, show director. Illustration EE Journal

The exhibit entitled, "The Power Behind Engineering," illustrated the electrical photographs and captioning the journey of a typical EE student from high school through the curriculum into the employment field. The display was immediately recognized for the workmanship of the junior EE class under the leadership of Howell and assistants Herbert Hunt, Jesse Jolly and Bert Lynch.

The students were kept continuously busy during the 20 hours of the show explaining the Cal Poly electrical program to prospective students, parents and leaders of industry.

Good Public Relations

Wynn Anderson, EE staff member accompanying the group and the student chairman of the Electrical Maintenance Engineers, said, "I received many requests to explain what is going on in Cal Poly to their students and the public. It has been a valuable public relations job."

Want The Job Of Dorm Manager?

Could you qualify as a dorm manager?

Selection of next year's dorm managers is already under way, according to Jim Wilkinson, resident dorm manager. "There are about 800 students competing for the places. There is a list of requirements and a list of recommended qualifications, and should be returned to Wilkinson at the counseling center or Housing office by Wednesday, April 26."

Dorm managers earn from $22 to $30 a month, depending on the responsibility. However, there is more to the job than just submitting your time card. Following are a few of the requirements:

1. Academically must rank in the upper half of his student body.
2. Must have sufficient time available to do the job.
3. Should have been a dorm resident or have had equivalent experience.
4. Must be an upperclassman and have had residence hall experience.

Other factors will be considered in the selection of each dorm manager. "The position is one which is in itself an invaluable leadership quality and one of inestimable assistance to the individuals future business or professional life," declares Wilkinson.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

By Dick Bihler

Prowler Run Off

By Alert Student

It was late, past midnight, in Poly View, and one by one, lights from the married students' trailers were being turned out. It was now dark and silent. Looking at the tree, woods, a sinister intruder watched as the moon grew dark. He knew that it would strike again as he had done every night for countless nights. Just a few more minutes.

Now it was time! Slowly, silently, the shadowy figure stole between the trailers, eagerly mindful to keep in the shadows.

"There's one," thought the forbidden one as he crept upon the small patch of No. 11.

Inside 11, the occupants were not yet asleep. The wife awoke to the husband and whispered, "Did you hear something on our porch?"

"Yes," said the man, "there's something. I'll bet him for him!"

Rack into bed the man crawled over his head. The door flew open and the shadowy figure stood there, holding a frying pan.

"Yea," said the man. "I'll bet him again to do his dirty work. Well, this time I'm ready for him!"

He boured out of bed and in the light head he saw a figure, lightly dressed. The door flew open and the figure stood there, breast high.

"No," came the reply, "the one who does it'll get his head, that D—garbage-styling dog!"

Two EE Seniors Help Nurses Overcome Laws Of Gravity

By Eric Halley

Two electrical engineering seniors have answered a call for help by designing a senior project to fill a community need.

Dan Spangle and Al Marlene are building an electric-powered guerney for the French hospital that will pull their 13.35 per cent ramp and eliminate the work of four to five nurses to move a patient from floor to floor.

"We are designing it especially for the French hospital. However, we expect it to be used in other hospitals," the French doctor is noted for its steep ramps, narrow doors and sharp corners so it will work there, it is expected to work just about anywhere.

To be useful, explains Marlene, the cart must pull its own weight, plus the weight of the guerney and the patient, a total of about 100 pounds. In addition, the cart must have the traction and power to climb the ramp, and the stairs.

A guerney made on special order for the French hospital by a manufacturer failed to work. Designed on the principle of lifting up two of the guerney wheels by a lever and dropping one drive wheel in its place, it was unstable on three wheels, lacked the traction necessary to climb the slants, and had no braking.

The design of the Spangle-Marlina power cart involves a three-wheeled cart with motor and will attach to almost any wheelchair from the hospital wheel to move. It will weigh about 100 pounds, have a turning radius of less than 18.7 feet, and put out a maximum of 12.7 foot-pound of torque. The batteries will be recharged after two hours of continuous running and the cart will have a built-in trickle charger to recharge the cells when the cart is not being used.

The 27 volt, 1 ampere aircraft type motor will turn at 1550 revolutions per minute and develop a maximum of 19.7 horse-power. It will drive through a 15 to one reduction differential gear system that is about 60 per cent efficient, giving an overall efficiency of about 60 per cent as full load. The cart will also feature a reverse.

Northland Invaded By Poly Tankers

Coach Dick Anderson and his Mustang swimming team will dive into action this week after being idle for the past seven days. On Friday the Mustangs invaded the University of North Dakota campus at Grand Forks, N.D., to meet the Fighting Sioux and the North Dakota State University swimming squads. Saturday the Mustangs will host the Whitlatch Pioneers over the Poly Poly weekend and on May 8 and 9, and the annual State College Swimming Meet will be held in the Poly Poly Pool. The return of the State College Meet to the local pool will bring practically every State College swimmer to the pool this week, according to Coach Anderson. The meet will include relays, freestyle, medley, and individuals events. Anderson has not announced the performers for the various events at Davis, although he has stated that the entire Mustang swimming squad of some 20 swimmers will participate in the week-long water festivities.
