Poly English Department Plans Curriculum Changes

Training students to become teachers of high school English will no longer be an objective of Cal Poly English Department at either campus, it was announced Monday by college officials. The move was made in order to enable the English Department to focus its entire effort on the teaching of literature. The decision was made at a meeting of all major English Department faculty members.

No new students will be enrolled as majors in the English Department at either campus after the spring quarter this year. The change in course of study is the result of a report made by the English Department to the Board of Trustees last spring. The report was based on a survey of the English curriculum at all state colleges and universities in California.

The report showed that the English curriculum at Cal Poly was too broad and too general. It was recommended that the department concentrate on the teaching of literature, and that the English Department should no longer enroll new students as majors.

The decision was made after a thorough study of the English curriculum at Cal Poly. The study showed that the English Department was spending too much time on the teaching of the humanities and not enough time on the teaching of literature. The decision was made in order to enable the English Department to focus its entire effort on the teaching of literature.

Esterbrook fountain pens write with the amazing new miracle discovery—INK!

Don’t bothering to have your handwriting analyzed. It probably looks just like your room-mate’s. . . . No character at all. Just until you come to your senses and buy the smart-looking Esterbrook Classic fountain pen — with the point that’s custom-fitted for you.

The Esterbrook Classic starts writing instantly— the minute it touches the paper. Feels so "right" in the hand . . . and looks good, too! Choice of six colors.

Another thing—the Esterbrook Classic always uses ink. You’ll like ink once you get used to it. It makes clearly discernible marks on the paper.

Mustang Roundballers Head South

Assuming the role of avenging, Ed Jorgensen’s Cal Poly Mustang basketball squad meets the San Diego State Aztecs tonight on the university’s court. The fact that the Aztecs spoiled the debut of the new Men’s Physical Education Gymnasium here some three weeks ago still remains in the Mustangs mind.

Though firmly entrenched in the CCAA league cellar with a 1-6 record, the Mustangs plan to pull the Aztecs down with them, since San Diego is 2-3 in the loop-wide column.

Tonight night the Jorgensen team meet the Pasadena Nazarene Crusaders in a non-league clash, on the southern court.

Intramural Highlights

Twenty-four basketball teams started league play last week in the Cal Poly Intramural Basketball League in the race to the campus basketball championship. Though the home-court advantage appears keen in early season play, overtime Maroons and Coyotes are being watched in the Monday (7) league, while Dual Dorm and the Outcasts show class in the Monday (8) session.

Records Fall in Inter-Squad Swim

With an inter-squad meet providing the stage, Coach Dick Anderson's swim team either shattered or equalled five records last week.

Fresh squawman Russell Poe established the state 400 yard freestyle mark, and broke the Poly pool record with a 1:1.6 effort on Feb. 9, a second off the old mark.

In the 100 yard backstroke, Frank Brooke broke the state mark, and set up a new pool record of 58.7 seconds. Equaling the 100 yard freestyle relay, Bill, Clyde, Adam, and Childe won in 1:39.2.

Thursday to Anderson, Jack Adam has been making assaults on Gene Lamy's 50 and 100 yard backstroke marks, coming within 1.3 and 0.3 seconds respectively.
