The question of Red China being admitted to the United Nations should be brought up this year, Robert Hall, a history freshman, said. Red China should be admitted, but I personally shouldn't want them in. We can hope and pray that they won't be a threat to the future. They're a big country with a lot of people, he said, and the John Birch Society is a "nationalistic" and "pro-American" group. If the John Birch Society gains support, it could be considered as a threat to the freedom of the press.

LEADING newsmen from California, Arizona, Nevada, and Hawaii based Vebien say, "the John Birch Society was reported on many times by newspapers, but by government agencies, police, and by the television stations." He added, "if and when the government starts investigating isolated locations, where will they stop?"

The first John Birch Society movement, according to Vebien, reached Santa Barbara in a "political and political climate only last year." College professors, ministers, and other leading community spokesmen began receiving anonymous phone calls asking and affiliating them with certain "loyalist" groups. The News-Press power, began investigating the problem.

On Jan. 29, the News-Press published a fist article on "The Birch Society And Who Is Behind It." The next Sunday, the city of Santa Barbara held a meeting to discuss the situation. The group of people were the "loyalists," and the "loyalists" expressed their fear and concern about the John Birch Society. The problem was investigated further.

A second Birch movement came in the form of Freedom Clubs, which frightened the University of California campus, several Santa Barbara and a local high school. "Grudges for the Improvement of the Chief Justice" were accused of "extreme conservatism," and a continuous flood of letters was coming from within the community.

A third movement resulted in the Student for a Democratic Society and students' clubs with anti-Communist inspirations.

The right to maintain a free press is one of the freedoms of the United States, and it is the responsibility of every newspaper to report the news accurately and fairly. However, there are times when the government interferes with the press by censoring or denying permission to publish certain articles. The right to use our medium.

The teacher wanted to know why he is afraid to sign his name to the student body that is being suppressed by the students. In other words why doesn't he practice what he preaches? Or is he like many others that don't want to make public statements and hope that others will do the dirty work? In another paragraph the author states: "The day EL MUSTANG was looking for-

Halfback Paul Lewis intercepted a 49er pass in the Mustang end zone and returned it 94 yards to the Long Beach goal, sending the home team to within 10 yards of the cherished land, but Whittington’s defensive effort stalled the opening and sent the 4,600 teems into delirium.

Paul Lewis put the Mustangs in front in the first quarter, driv- ing two yards out, failure of a long drive sparked by the passing of Tailor and Reynolds. Whittington snared the two punt conversions on a pass from Tailor to give the home team a 6-0 lead.

In the second quarter Jim Fa- nay took a swing pass from Tailor and darted three yards into the end zone for the score. With both their honor and hope all abuzz, the Long Beach team fought back with two minutes left in the half. Steve Hartman ran seven yards tally for the visitors.
