Pegasusus Has Its Big Debut; Mills Says 'Benevolent Dictatorship' Exists Here

A publication, "Pegasus," appeared on campus last Tuesday. "Pegasus" is Cal Poly's first off-campus "newspaper." The five-hour filmstrip publication contains articles on the theme of "freedom of the press" but this freedom is only the first of many liberties, according to Derek Mills, English major, who heads the Pegasus staff.

Concluding his remarks, the success of the new publication was said. "The Future Farmers of America and all the other construction organizations in the world today."

Pegnusus, "we hope that Pegasus will stimulate the interest of the students in the political part in student government and reduce the power of the Administration and expand the power of the students and faculty." The magazine is growing, "we can have more progress under our original system. What exists on this campus is a semianarchistic dictatorship. The trouble with a benevolent dictatorship is that after a certain amount of time it ceases to be benevolent."

What do they think they can accomplish, with this "white paper," he asked. "They have a few things which are in the near future."

In the first place, the statement which appeared in the paper, "The future farmers who head the "Pegasus" staff, have been threatened with expulsion. Also, the article that Pegnusus seeks to publish, "Freedom of the Press," was shot down by the editor's committee and was not published before the paper was put to press.

As a closing remark, Mills said, "The next time they put out another document, let them somebody to type it who can cut it clear.

Peace Corps Assignment Given to Poly Student

Bobby Ramos, an IE and ME double major, has been selected for Peace Corps assignment in Nepal.

The news of Ramos' selection was announced by the Engineering and Architecture Department.

The Peace Corps is a volunteer agency of the United States which was established in 1961 to aid underdeveloped countries.

Ramos will begin his Peace Corps assignment in Nepal on September 1st.

The Peace Corps provides an opportunity for volunteers to work in developing countries and share their skills and knowledge.

Ramos will be responsible for assisting local artisans in the production of handicrafts and promoting tourism.

He will also work on projects related to agriculture and education.

Ramos graduated from Cal Poly in 1964 with a degree in Industrial Engineering.

He is currently employed by the state government as an engineer.

Ramos has been active in various student organizations and has served as President of the Student Body Association.

Welcome Pegasus

They call the publication, "Pegasus," a word that refers to a mythological flying horse. They also term their publication a "newspaper," but that is their misuse of the term.

We thought the first Pegasus issue was mildly amusing, but certainly nothing to get worked up about. Some of the articles had been used in the "newspaper." (Since when is a newspaper’s sole purpose the expression of opinion?) Last Tuesday’s were pretty sensational. It’s really too bad that their little pre-publication promotional sheet stating "the truth is coming" was wrong. A good deal of the "truth" never came in Pegasus.

But don’t get us wrong; we’re actually kind of glad that Pegasus came to Cal Poly. It might break up El Mustang’s monopolization of readers here, but that is apparently the chance one has to take in a competitive society such as ours. We feel that we will be able to withstand the competition somehow.

The Pegasus staff might be interested to learn (they said they were seeking truth) that this editor was not threatened with expulsion from school and that he told them no such thing. Maybe they were having some sort of collective dream when they thought they heard this.

Winged Flying A horses (of the type that can be seen at many gas stations around town) and those that would soar to the top of Mount Olympus to the contrary, we sincerely hope that the next time Pegasus unfurls its all-encompassing wings, the editors will give a little more attention to the fact content of the opinionative articles.

Welcome, Pegasus.

Compromise Coming On Food Problems At Cafeteria

Jack Bertram, cafeteria supervisor, and his staff are working out this quarter in trying to reach a compromise with the students concerning the food problem. Bertram reported at a recent interview: "The newly established cafeteria managers, whose many duties include taking complaints and criticisms concerning the food, are working out a compromise that we had even hoped for," Bertram said.

Each night the managers make out reports on their findings and give them to Bertram or his staff. These are discussed at once and after screening by committees. According to their grade points and performance, serious improvement has already begun.

Student managers were selected according to their grade points after screening by committees. Those chosen were Ray Scalais, Linda Ward, Rita Oftmar, John Spezia, Robert Russell, James Bauer, Steve Ather, Ellen Wendi, Nancy Boutonnet, Robert Frawley, Stan Reynolds, Billie Carr, Dick Greene, and Paul Lewis.

EL MUSTANG

Spring Football Practice Begins; 60 Hopefuls Ready

Sheldon Harden, new head football coach, got his first look at 60 hopefuls who will comprise the 1961 Mustang grid squad when approximately 60 team members came out for spring practice work Tuesday.

In the group of 60 there were 11 returning lettermen from last season, and two from the 1959 team.

Ralph World, who took over the head coaching position following the resignation of Bob Hughes, put the squad through a full day's work.

Defense Education Act Loan Forms Available

Dean of Student, Everett Chandler, announced that applications for the loan were available at the Dean's office.

Students interested in applying for the loans can obtain a form at the Student Service Center.

College Queens choose Artcarved

Three 1961 College Queens, twelve of them from all over the country, found the designs that flatter their hands and warm their hearts (and won't cost a fortune). Artcarved diamond engagement rings are a must-have for today's fast-paced, success-oriented woman.

Our Queen's story: "I'm busy, I have a lot of responsibilities, but I want the kind of ring everyone else is talking about," said one of our Queens.

"It's an Artcarved ring," she continued, "because I know the designs are timeless and elegant. I want a ring that will last a lifetime, just like the man I love."
SAE Will Sponsor Mobil Safety Run

- Plans for a Mobil Gas Safety Economy run are almost jelled according to the Society of Automotive Engineers, campus sponsor of the national event.

- Final discussion of the run will be at an organizational meeting May 10 at 11:30 a.m. in Science A-2. All interested students and staff are urged to attend.

- Beginning at 7:45 p.m. on May 10 from the parking lot across from the Mechanical Engineering Building, the run will cover a distance of 1.4 miles. Two free tanks of gas will be furnished all contestants. Determination of winners will be based on number of miles per gallon attained.

- Four large trophies will be awarded the winner of each of four segments: Domestic compact, foreign compact, domestic compact, and foreign sports car. Poster will be displayed around campus to give further information.

- Anyone not able to make the run are urged to attend. Deadline to submit plans for the Mobil Gas Safety Economy run is May 10.

110 Grads Employed By General Electric

- General Electric Company and the college placement office have announced that 110 Cal Poly graduates are employed with G.E. in all cities in 15 states and the District of Columbia.

- The jobs are for the class of 1962's gift to the college—a Faculty Grant. The gift will prove that the school's mission is to give further instruction to the students.

Bill Pedosio Elected To Regional Director

- Bill Pedosio, junior architecture major, has been elected Regional Director of the Associated Student Architects of American Institute of Architects. His region includes Cal Poly, University of California, University of Southern California, and Stanford. Also president of the Poly AIA chapter, Pedosio hopes to attend the AIA convention, May 7-11 in Dallas, Texas to represent California.

Clarence Brown CAL POLY'S GIFT HEADQUARTERS Since 1934

- Clarence Brown, representative of the OUTSTANDING DESIGN Project in the Mechanical Engineering Building.

- The Anal portion of the competition was to develop a finished drawing of a student's own design. Construction is rapidly nearing completion on the campus— a French provincial. The gift will prove that the school's mission is to give further instruction to the students.
