SAC Turns Down Collegians' Poly Royal $400 'Contract

By PAT BALL

It was the Collegians vs. Poly Royal for the first time in the history of Cal Poly, and this was the first year in that the Collegians have ever fought for the contracts with Poly Royal. The band had requested $400, but the collegiate union decided that they would not accept the contract.

The contract was presented to the Collegians and they were asked to sign it. The Collegians refused, stating that they would not accept the contract because they believed that $400 was not enough money to cover the cost of their show. They also believed that Poly Royal was trying to take advantage of the Collegians.

In the end, the Collegians won the bid, and Poly Royal lost. This was a big victory for the Collegians, and they were able to continue their show without any interruptions.

Lives Endangered As Thiefs Continue to Plague Flyers

"We're losing fuel and somebody is stealing it," says Al. M. Williams, head of the maintenance crew of the student flying club. Referring to planes parked at the Cal Poly field, Bergs said that gasoline has been stolen often when airplanes are parked overnight. "People don't seem to realize the seriousness of this matter," he stated. "Tanking a gas is as important as it is dangerous. People don't realize that a gasoline tank is not a gas canister. It is a pressure tank, and if it is not filled properly, it can explode. People don't seem to realize that it is a matter of life and death."

The Collegians, College Union, Finance Committee, and the Associated Student Body recently met to discuss the matter. The ASCB voted to give a reward of $50 for information leading to the arrest of the thief. The Finance Committee voted to grant $50 for any information leading to the arrest of the thief. The Collegians voted to support the ASCB's decision.

All the members of the Collegians are College Union officers and have been involved in the maintenance of the planes. They have been asked to sign the contract for Poly Royal, but they refused. They said that $400 is not enough money to cover the cost of their show.

"The Collegians are the ones who keep the planes in good condition," said one Collegian. "If we sign the contract, we will be putting ourselves and others at risk."
Bill Camp, nationally recognized agronomist who helped to introduce cotton growing to California, will speak on "The Government and Agriculture," Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater.

His talk, sponsored by the Ag-cultural Council, is open to everyone. Present and past government agricultural programs will be brought to the topic. Camp is now a managing director of the Jolinson system project in the U.S. days of Cornell, University, assistant dean of agriculture.

Presently a cotton and potato grower in Bakersfield, Camp is Chairman of the committee on voluntary labor for the U.S. Chamber Council of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Our 30th and Greatest!

Our 30th and Greatest! is a unique and exciting open house put do by intelligent and mature students.

There are some excerpts from what was overheard when students were talking with their parents and friends: "You should have seen it fly at the Cafeteria Thunersday night! The light reflecting off that red, yellow and green balls as it flew through the air, was a sight for sore eyes! The lime house and mess really grew a bit of area as they slip through the air and, pepper everybody!

A minoritv group is a majority group in this student's opinion, as assessed, and so unfriendly at school that they actually believe they have the right to break laws made for them and so scatter-brained that they must cause it to soilage with attitudes that are stolen goods. In my drafting room they have shocking statistics of dorms have shocking statistics of stealing from the dorms and there is a steadily diminishing potential of sheet from the dorms.

One may think that the "horrors" of stealing from the dorms and of thiefs from the cafeteria is a clever and economical method of supplying an off-campus residence.
Yet, when the crimes are detected and thieves are multiplied by an autonomy of numbers, the thefts is substantially large. It is obvious that we do not think of each person who does not think of his own,

There is only one, the most unlawful thing, that one can do, not think of his own.
