160 Voices Ready for Songfest

More than 160 voices will ring out from the Men's Gym tonight when nine campus organizations present their musical teams in the annual "Spring Sing." Defending their title and possession of the "Mostesge" award won last year at the Men's Gym, the Waverly Fellowship group will be a favorite of many students.

Residence Halls and other groups will have their followers, too. The Bridge Club will not sing "London Bridge" and Santa Lucia Hall will not offer "Santa Lucia," but many traditional vocal favorites will be on the program. Both tickets are available at the Student Body Office for 25 cents.

SAC Goes Round and Round on Talk of ASB Reorganization

By WAYNE COX
Staff Writer

W. B. Camp, Cotton Farmer, Fears Government Policy

BY LULU MILLER
Staff Writer

George K. Mayne to Table Discussion and adjourn the meeting,

Student President's Confab Attended by ASB Officers

By FRED DAVIS
Staff Writer

SAC Goes Round and Round on Talk of ASB Reorganization

SAC Goes Round and Round on Talk of ASB Reorganization

Student President's Confab Attended by ASB Officers

San Diego State College was the site of the four-day Pacific Student Presidents' Association convention which Cal Poly, ASB officers and other delegates attended last week. Delegates from colleges and universities in 12 Western states were present.

The delegation conferred daily at the Coronado Inn to discuss problems of common interest. The Populaflon...
VIEWPOINT

A Reply

To: Editor

When I read the October 31, 1962, issue of the El Mustang, I was rather startled to see a misleading article by Robert Lipset. As a student of Dr. Donald S. Wycliff at the University of California at Berkeley, I am well aware of the facts concerning his address last night. It is true that he discussed new trends in political philosophy, but he also emphasized the need for education and research in the field of social sciences. His address was well-received by the students and faculty, and it is unfortunate that such an article would appear in the El Mustang.

Yours sincerely,

[Student's Name]

On Campus Art

On Tuesday, November 15, the University of California at Berkeley will host the annual Art Exhibit. This event, organized by the Art Students League, features works of art created by students from all classes and departments. The exhibit will be held in the Sather Tower Rotunda and will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on November 15 and 16. The Art Students League is looking forward to showcasing the creativity and talent of the student body.

[Art Students League]

MACCINNON SPEAKS

On The Architect as Creator

By Dr. MacKinnon

In his recent article, Dr. MacKinnon discusses the role of the architect as a creator. He argues that architects are not merely designers, but also artists who use their creativity to shape the built environment. Dr. MacKinnon emphasizes the importance of understanding the cultural and historical context of a project before designing. He believes that architects should be familiar with the history of architecture and the principles of design to create buildings that are both functional and aesthetically pleasing.

[Dr. Robert MacKinnon]

CRAM COURSE NO. 6: SHAKESPEARE

Continuing our series of pre-final exam cram courses, today we turn to the works of William Shakespeare (or "The Bard of Avon" as he is affectionately called). In this article, we will explore the history of Shakespeare and the challenges faced by his contemporaries in understanding his works.

[Author's Name]

McCAIN, McCaleb

Added To Staff

McCain, McCaleb and Banning, two new staff members who are expected to be a great asset to the El Mustang, are added to the newspaper's staff. McCain is a graduate of Chico State and will be joining the staff this month. Banning, who holds a degree from the University of California at Berkeley, will be contributing to the newspaper's editorial page. Their addition will strengthen the El Mustang's coverage of campus events and issues.

[El Mustang Staff]

El Mustang

On Friday, November 18, El Mustang will be introducing a new section on the front page, "El Mustang," which will feature articles and features on campus events, news, and other relevant topics. The section will be edited by Warren Ludlow and will be published every two weeks. The Paris Beaux-Arts, a renowned art school, will be the official feature of the section, highlighting its connections with the world of art.

[El Mustang Staff]
Alumni Tilt May 26
Inspires Scrimmage

Mustang graders held their last game Thursday afternoon in preparation for the annual Alumni Tilt, to be held May 28. Coach Sheldon Harden tilted his 3rd unit against the Blue and White for an hour and when he finally called a halt to things, each squad had one touchdown.

Spurred blocking and tackling was visible from the first snap of the game. The final score, however, was shown when three players were knocked out during the second quarter. Tampara also scored on two separate occasions.

Late in the 4th quarter the Blue, while Dick Halftide took charge of the Blue, found his strength. The Blue started an offense and held on until they finally gained a point after a late11 minute punt. The Blue scored two defenses and, held out 45 minutes. Another marker was scored on the final touchdown.

The Blue scored things up when Dick Tampara pulled a beautiful fake to a running back, then passed to Halftide, who passed to Halftide, an end. As the score came up, the Blue made another defensive play and held out the remainder of the scrimmage.

Home Concert and Specialty Records Still On Sale at Patio Home concert and specialty records will continue to be on sale at the Patio for the next week.

Farmers are $3.00 for the Home concert recording and $4.99 for any other record. Dr. L. D. Rea, an assistant professor of economics, chairman of the Music Department, is the artist of the record.

As the concert is only one hour long, it is recommended that possibly 3.3.3.

Another student, a junior Aniobal cultural major, and three other students have bought Pontiac Gentleman at the price of $2.50. The Pontiacs sold the others.

'Spontaneous' Article Written By Rodin

Scientific American

Robert Rodin has written an article to appear in the next edition of the "Encyclopedia Americana." On the April 18th edition, this article will be included in the "Scientific" section. The writing of this article is the first time that an article written by a student has been included in the "Scientific" section.

The work was carried out by Robert Rodin, a student at Cal Poly, under the supervision of Dr. L. D. Rea, an assistant professor of economics. The article is a comprehensive review of the current state of the art in the field of agriculture, with particular emphasis on the use of new techniques and equipment.

Rodin's work is the result of a project undertaken by the faculty of the College of Agriculture, with the assistance of a committee appointed by the dean. The project was designed to encourage students to develop a more comprehensive understanding of the field of agriculture, and to stimulate interest in research and development.

The article will be published in the next edition of the "Encyclopedia Americana," which is scheduled for release in October. The article will be available for purchase at a price of $4.99, and can be ordered online at the Encyclopedia Americana website.
If 'Ain't' is O.K.,
Then So is 'Slud,'
Says Ena Marston

When baseball's Daisy Dean says a buttercups "slud from third" she has the anthropomorphism support of Ena Marston, English instructor, who supports in turn, the San Francisco Chronicle's "Fearful Sayings." Ena Marston, who teaches in the English Department at Cal Poly, says Daisy's colorful use of the term to indicate the past tense of "slid" has reached the ears of millions of radio listeners and has created a furor among academic purists of radio listeners and has created a furor among academic purists who supports, in turn, the Webster's New World Dictionary, Third Edition, Unabridged 1961.

McKee and Miss Marston have teamed up to search the writers who submitted "slud" from the controversial dictionary that purports to be "human," as opposed to "dictionary," to be in the dictionary of the English language at Poly. The dictionary's editor, Miss Marston reviewed the book at a luncheon meeting of the English Department, but it didn't reach the ears of writers who edited Webster's New World Dictionary, Third Edition, Unabridged 1961.

"Ain't" has been attacked by the literary establishment, who has been accused of ignoring "correct" English. The dictionary has stood up to be counted as an "official" English dictionary, and has reached the ears of millions of radio listeners and has created a furor among academic purists who support, in turn, the Webster's New World Dictionary, Third Edition, Unabridged 1961.

"Ain't" for instance is fine, and is "welcomed" as an adjective. Miss Marston says she won't read the whole book but it contains about 100,000 new words and phrases and includes improvements such as a one-page reference for "humorous." The pronoun "ain't" is used in the dictionary.

"The dictionary ain't what it used to be," says Ena Marston. "The elimination of capital letters from words in the new version will pose a problem for some institutions. "Humorous" has been defined to determine if capitalization is necessary."

"I believe the dictionary is necessary," she says. "I brought an editorial comment from program chairman Phil Overmeyer to the public." The dictionary isn't what it used to be.

Small and Workman Win Science Award

Fredrick L. Small Jr. of Avenal, and Edwin B. Workman of Orange, have been named Cal Poly's top students in beginning chemistry and physics, respectively.

The competition is sponsored annually within colleges and universities through the nation by the Chemical Rubber Company to interest students in the professional fields of chemistry and physics.

To qualify for the competition's special examination, students at Cal Poly must receive a grade of "A" in a prescribed class in a physics class. More than 85 percent in each subject competed against Small and Workman for the awards.

The two winners received a copy of the 3,200-page "Handbook of Chemistry and Physics," which is published by the sponsoring company and is considered the "Bible" of the two sciences.

Small, a 1952 graduate of Orange High School, attended Riverside City College and San Diego Junior College prior to enlisting in the Navy after which he enrolled at Cal Poly.

A sophomore majoring in Electronics Engineering, Small was named to the President's Honor List for the 1952-53 academic year, in the Dean's Honor List for the Fall and Winter quarters of this year.

Workman is a 1951 graduate of Orange High school and was a finalist in the National Science Foundation's Martin Program.

A freshman at Cal Poly, Workman is majoring in Mechanical Engineering. He was also named to the Dean's Honor List for the Fall and Winter quarters of the 1951-52 academic year.

Library Displays Annual Book Exhibit

The 51st Annual Western Books Exhibition now on display in the library is a panorama of the books produced in the west last year.

Since its beginning in 1888, the purpose of the exhibit has been to promote high standards of book design and printing by displaying the best books of the year. A second aim has been to acquaint the public with the quality and number of books published by western printers.

The exhibition will end on May 31. It is sponsored by Riverside and San Diego Clubs of Los Angeles, an informal group of printers, publishers, booksellers, and others interested in printing.

MARELL'S JEWELERS

- Two of the loveliest designs chosen by America's College Queens. From $100.
- 850 Higuera Street
- San Luis Obispo

ARTCARVED DIAMOND & WEDDING RINGS

Every girl knows "a rose is a rose is a rose." But is a diamond a diamond?

The smart girl who cares (shouts beauty and value) knows there's more to a diamond than meets her eye. Even under magnification, a diamond reveals its inner secrets only in the eye of a trained expert. That's why America's College Queens have chosen their "best friends" from the remaining designs of the world-famous Artcarved selection.

Every Artcarved diamond gives you more than the beauty which meets your eye. The quality and value of the inner beauty is also certified by a written guarantee that is recognized and respected by leading jewelers everywhere.

If you want to be sure of the inner beauty and value of your diamond, see your Artcarved jeweler. Ask him to show you the style chosen by America's College Queens.

Pre-moving S A LE

Articles Too Numerous To Itemize

BOOK JUNGLE

Different Books Each Day

TYPING PAPER

HAMMER-BOND TYPING PAPER

20 POUND

was 62c

Now 45c

El Corral

College Bookstore

SIC FLICS

"Your pilot is Captain Smith — I'm your stewardess, Miss Kong."