Mexican university partnership possible

Two officials from the largest private educational system in Mexico were in San Luis Obispo recently to explore a possible partnership with Cal Poly and local businesses.

Antonio Duato Boix, dean of the Business School and director of the Business Consulting Department at Instituto Tecnologico y de Estudios Superiores de Monterrey (ITESM), Campus Queretaro, and Jose Gerardo Rocha Mier, director of the institute's international programs, met with Cal Poly officials and faculty members, as well as local business leaders.

The multidisciplinary partnership would involve departments in the colleges of Agriculture and Business. When finalized, officials see the joint venture as a way to:

- Enhance the business relationship between Cal Poly and the ITESM system and its Queretaro campus.
- Encourage an exchange of students and faculty members and develop joint research projects under the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) framework.
- Establish business connections between ITESM Queretaro's Business Consulting Department and San Luis Obispo businesses and the Chamber of Commerce.
- Promote ITESM's international summer programs and regular semester programs in business, arts and sciences, engineering, agriculture, food processing, and organizational communications.

ITESM is the most highly regarded university in Mexico, according to Agribusiness Department Head LeRoy Davis, who is helping coordinate the effort with agribusiness faculty member Ken Scott. Davis and Scott traveled to Mexico last month to talk with officials about student and faculty exchanges. Approximately 80,000 students are enrolled at the various ITESM campuses. Some of the campuses have established exchange programs with such American universities as Cornell, Texas A&M and Ohio State.

Committee formed to select V.P.

The following individuals have been elected or appointed to serve on the Consultative Committee for the vice president for university advancement:

- Robert Koob, chair and member-at-large from Academic Affairs;
- Steven Shockley, Alumni Relations;
- Ray Macias, Support Services;
- Martin Shibata, Career Services;
- Joanne Freeman, Industrial Engineering;
- Jo Ann Wheatley, Crop Science;
- Kenneth Ozawa, Physics;
- Allen Haile, College of Business;
- Peter Lee, College of Engineering;
- Paul Zingg, College of Liberal Arts;
- Kimberly Seibel, student;
- Anna McDonald, Affirmative Action, ex-officio.

Women's Week set for April 4-7

Jeanne Wakatsuki Houston, co-author of the widely acclaimed book and screenplay "Farewell to Manzanar," will be one of four keynote speakers during Women's Week, Monday through Thursday, April 4-7.

"Meeting Our Challenges, Celebrating Our Differences" is the theme for this year's Women's Week. Speakers and programs will explore such issues as pornography vs. erotica, sexual harassment, women and menopause, body image, non-traditional jobs, women in violent relationships, Clinton's Health Care Plan, women and finances, and women in higher education.

Houston will talk on "Beyond Manzanar: Reflections on the Japanese American Internment" at noon, April 5, in UU 220. Other keynote speakers are:

- Dr. Shirley Hune, associate dean of graduate programs and visiting professor in urban planning at UC Berkeley, ex-officio.

Immediate openings in Cal Poly vanpools

Faculty and staff members are invited to take a free trial ride in one of Cal Poly's vanpools.

Vans with openings include the Arroyo Grande van, 7:30 am to 4 pm; Los Osos, 7:30 am to 4:30 pm; Paso Robles/Templeton, 8 am to 5 pm. Limited seats are available in the Santa Maria and Atascadero vans.

The daily round-trip cost to ride the van ranges from $1.23 to $2.32. Call Commuter Services at ext. 6680 for a free trial pass.

First Dole ag awards to Ferreira, Fenske

Les Ferreira, a professor in Dairy Science, and Barbara Fenske, an administrative operations analyst in the College of Agriculture, have received the first-ever Dole Agriculture Faculty and Staff Awards. Sponsored by the Dole Food Company, the awards were created to recognize outstanding faculty and staff in the College of Agriculture.

Ferreira and Fenske will each receive an all-expense paid trip to a Dole Food Company facility, a cash award, and a trophy.
Noted actors to stage "Poetry in Motion"

Two consummate actors of the American stage and screen will deliver an entertaining rendition of some of this century’s greatest writing in “Poetry in Motion: Beyond the Broken Words” (today) April 1.

Roscoe Lee Browne and Anthony Zerbe will bring to life the works of Auden, Eliot, Millay, Ferlinghetti, Agee, Yeats, Cummings and Giraudoux.

The performance, at 8 pm in the Theatre, is part of Cal Poly Arts’ CenterStage series.

Dressed informally, occasionally strumming a guitar and belting out a song, Browne and Zerbe weave an unbroken commentary on modern life. The performance is characterized by vernacular street rhythms and classic poems. The poetry selections are eclectic in style and subject matter.

Tickets are $9 and $11 for students and senior citizens and $11 and $13 for the public. For reservations, call the Anytime ArtsLine at ext. 1421, or buy tickets at the Cal Poly Theatre Ticket Office from 10 am to 4 pm weekdays.

Japanese dance to be performed April 2

Shizumi Mazale will mix Japanese dance, theater and visual arts to express the six senses of life in her performance “Beyond the Spoken Word” at 8 pm Saturday, April 2, in the Theatre.

The performance is a Cal Poly Arts’ special event to benefit the Foundation for the Performing Arts and Cal Poly Arts’ “Stone Soup” multicultural festival.

In Japan and China, the character of the written word expresses meaning beyond that of the spoken word. Shizumi’s performances are an expression of creative movement beyond the spoken word.

Her controlled, stylized movements have been compared to the strokes of a painter. Blending traditional and Western modern dance, Shizumi is known for using dance to express cultural awareness and promote harmony.

Tickets can be bought at the Cal Poly Theatre Ticket Office from 10 am to 4 pm Monday through Friday. They cost $7 and $9 for students and senior citizens and $9 and $11 for the public. For reservations, call the Anytime ArtsLine at ext. 1421.

'Sustainable' designs topic of symposium

Cal Poly’s Renewable Energy Institute and the College of Architecture and Environmental Design are helping organize a four-day symposium, “Designing for Sustainable Communities: A Vision for the Future of the Built Environment.”

The event, at Santa Barbara City College from April 7-10, is intended for the public as well as environmental design professionals. Workshops to be presented include healthy building materials, energy conservation, indoor air quality, landscape ecology, resource recovery, and transportation planning.

For more information, call architecture professor Margot McDonald at ext. 1298 or symposium coordinator Jerry Sturmer, 966-1813.

Chicana/Latina conference set

Poetry readings and dances, as well as discussions of science, health and HIV, gang awareness, and financial aid and admissions will be included in Cal Poly's Lambda Sigma Gamma sorority's second annual Chicana-Latina Women's Conference Monday through Saturday, April 4-9.

The multicultural sorority is holding the event to bring Latin-oriented activities to the area and enhance cultural awareness.

High school students are particularly welcome to the "Behind Every Successful Woman is Herself" conference from 8 am to 5 pm Saturday.

Other highlights of the week include talks by foreign languages and literatures professor Gloria Velasquez, who will talk about her poetry and new book, "I Used to be a Superwoman," and Maria Singleton of PG&E and the Latino Task Force, who will discuss some of the community studies that the task force has conducted.

"Women Transcending Societal Beliefs," is the theme for activities planned during Thursday’s 11 am University Hour.Imagen y Espiritu Ballet Folklorico will perform, and a variety of women’s, ethnic, and education groups will be on hand with club information.

The cost to attend Saturday's conference is $5 for high school or younger students, $7 for college students with ID, and $10 for the public. Conference fees include lunch.

For more information or a schedule of events, call Melinda Castillo at 543-5807.

Spring Quarter Rec Center classes

Recreational Sports is offering many fitness classes Spring Quarter. New this quarter will be lunch-time aerobics from noon to 1 pm every weekday for 10 weeks. The cost is $25 for Rec Center members.

Other classes will include aqua aerobics, yoga, and massage.

Sign-up at the Rec Center Front Desk. For more information, call ext. 1366.
Building dedication set for April 12

The Computer Science Building will be renamed the Frank E. Pilling Building in a ceremony Tuesday, April 12, in recognition of the 1950 mechanical engineering alumnus who recently donated $1 million to the College of Engineering.

The name will be unveiled on the northwest side of the building at a dedication ceremony set for 11:15 am.

Pilling’s gift established an unrestricted endowment in the College of Engineering that may be used for curriculum development, scholarships, state-of-the-art equipment, support of student projects, and faculty professional development.

For more information on the dedication ceremony, call the College of Engineering at ext. 2131.

Women’s Literature,” at noon, April 6, in UU 220.

Marie Annette Jaimes, an independent researcher, writer and lecturer, will discuss "Native Women: Identity and Survival in the 21st Century," at 11 am April 7, UU Room 220.

Houston’s “Farewell to Manzanar” was based on her family’s experience during and after the World War II internment of Japanese-Americans in California. She received a Humanities Prize and a 1976 Emmy Award nomination for the script.

Hune has taught and served as associate provost at Hunter College of the City University of New York and was a visiting professor at Asian-American studies at Yale. As a past president of the Association for Asian-American Studies, she lectures and consults on multiculturalizing the curriculum.

Hull, a well known black feminist literary critic and poet, co-edited the anthology “All the Women are White, All the Blacks are Men, But Some of us are Brave: Black Women’s Studies.” The book is credited with giving American women of color credibility in society and academia.

Jaimes, a Juaneño and Yaqui Indian, has been a fellow with the Society for the Humanities at Cornell University and has served as a delegate to the United Nations Working Group on Indigenous Populations. She is a member of the Association of American Indian Scholars and serves on the Advisory Board of the American Indian Anti-Defamation Council.

Women’s Week is sponsored by the Center for Women and Ethnic Issues. Some programs are co-sponsored by Affirmative Action and Cal Poly Arts’ WriterSpeak program. A schedule of events is available at the information desks in the UU and Residence Halls, from the Ethnic Studies office, and the Center for Women and Ethnic Issues.

For more information, call the center at ext. 2600.

Teacher effectiveness topic of FIDO panel

The Faculty Instructional Development Opportunity brown-bag lunch series will present a group seminar, “Maintaining Instructor Effectiveness.” at noon Tuesday, April 5, in the Staff Dining Room.

Don Maas from the University Center for Teacher Education will discuss the practical applications of the seminar.

Panelists will include Pat Acord, Physical Education and Kinesiology; Mary Beth Armstrong, Accounting; Del Dingus, Soil Science; Donna Duerr, Architecture; Tim O’Keefe and Doug Piirto, Natural Resources Management; Peggy Rodriguez, Academic Computing Services; Dan Stearns, Computer Science; Richard Young, Construction Management.

Disaster response topic of April 8 talk

Jerrel Sorensen, an anthropologist and the operations director for Direct Relief International, will speak on “Cross-cultural Cooperation in Response to Natural and Other Disasters,” at 7 pm Friday, April 8, in the Business Building Auditorium.

Sorensen will discuss the ways in which Direct Relief International helps people who have suffered losses as a result of disasters.

The presentation is sponsored by Phi Beta Delta, the Social Sciences Department, and the India Club of the Central Coast. Phi Beta Delta is a national organization that promotes faculty and student scholarship in international studies. Anyone interested in joining Cal Poly’s Alpha Gamma chapter should call Barbara Mori, president, ext. 2011; Barbara Andre, vice president, ext. 5837, or Barbara Cook, membership committee chair, ext. 1322.
Award-winners to read work

The winners of the 1994 Cal Poly Creative Writing Contest and those who received honorable mention will read their prize-winning poetry and fiction at 7 pm Saturday, April 23, in the Sandwich Plant.

The event coincides with the end of Liberal Arts Week and Cal Poly’s Open House. During the evening, the six student authors will receive cash prizes for their winning entries in the contest’s two categories.

Wendy Lawton, a senior, won first prize for her poem “Fly Fish for a While.” Her poem is about the way the natural world can reflect the complexities of a relationship.

Graduate student Lucia Casalinuovo took second place for her poem “Morning Fields,” and senior Lynn Lancaster won third prize for her poem “Collecting at the Lake.”

Bonnie Deboers, a senior, was the first-prize winner in the fiction category for her story “Patterns,” a stunningly realistic story of a 57-year-old holocaust survivor who must confront his own bigotry in the new world.

Second-place fiction winner is senior Tony Moreno for his entry, “In the Eye.” The only non-English major in the award-winning group, Casey Fajilan, won third prize for “On Becoming Filipina.” Fajilan is a senior business administration student.

In addition to the prize winners, eight students received honorable mention for poetry and four for fiction.

English professor and contest coordinator Al Landwehr said there were more entries this year than in any of the other 24 years the contest has been held. Approximately 85 poems and about 60 pieces of fiction were entered in the competition.

Selected manuscripts will be published in this year’s “Byzantium,” a campus literary publication. Copies of the booklet can be bought at the reading and at El Corral Bookstore for $3.35. Money for the cash prizes — $100 for first, $75 for second and $50 for third — comes from the English Department and from an anonymous donor.

For more information, call Landwehr at ext. 2394.

Artists can be listed in new directory

Cal Poly artists and craftspeople can be included in the new “People’s Directory — Artists and Craftspeople of SLO County.” The directory is being compiled by Los Osos resident Judy Sullivan and will include artists working in all mediums — photography, computer graphics, oils, watercolor, chalks, pen-and-ink, pencil, iron, leather, wood, and clay.

To be included, send a completed registration form and $5 to Sullivan by June 15. For more information and a registration form, call her at 534-1428.

Pilipino club sets ‘culture night’

Cal Poly’s Pilipino Cultural Exchange is hosting its annual Pilipino Culture Night at 7 pm Saturday, April 23, at Cuesta College Auditorium.

“Panahon Na: Right Here, Right Now” will feature a variety show that includes dramatic acting, choral singing, and cultural and contemporary dance sequences performed and produced by club members.

An open rehearsal, free to the public, will be held at 7 pm Thursday, April 21.

Tickets are on sale in the UU Plaza. Tickets bought before April 4 for the regular performance are $8; $10 after that date.

For more information, call Alex Alegado at ext. 3292.

Student art exhibit on display in Galerie

Cal Poly students are showing their true colors in “Show-Off!,” a universitywide student art exhibit in the UU Galerie through Sunday, May 1.

An award for the “Best of Show” will be announced at an artists’ reception, set from 11 am to 2 pm Thursday, April 7. The award-winning piece will be purchased for ASI’s permanent collection of student art. It and other pieces from the collection will be displayed in the public areas of the UU starting in June.

Visitors to the exhibit will be invited to vote for their favorite piece, and the art work receiving the most votes will be designated “The People’s Choice.” The winning piece will either be purchased for ASI’s collection or the artist will receive a cash award.

The Galerie is open Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 10 am to 5 pm; Thursdays 10 am to 8 pm; Friday 10 am to 4 pm; Saturday and Sunday noon to 4 pm.

For more information call Galerie Director Jeanne LaBarbera at ext. 1182.

Ecology, ethnicity topic of April 11 talk

John Keeble, an English professor at Eastern Washington University, will discuss “Trojan Horses and Boxes: Ethnicity, Capital, and Ecology in the Northwest” at 11 am Monday, April 11, in UU 203.

The creative writing teacher has written several best-selling novels, including “Crab Canyon, Yellowfish, and Broken Ground.” His most recent work of non-fiction is “Out of the Channel: The Exxon Valdez Oil Spill in Prince William Sound.”

The presentation is sponsored by Ethnic Studies. For more information, call ext. 1707.
Contributions invited for Fitton retirement

Norma Fitton, Psychology and Human Development, will be retiring June 30, after more than 25 years of occasionally devoted service to the university. We would like to honor Ms. Fitton not as an individual, but as a representative of all the overworked, underpaid staff member of the university.

To that end, all Cal Poly employees are asked to make a cash donation to enable us to present Ms. Fitton with two (2) tickets for a round-the-world tour. Those donating $25 or more will receive a 2 x 3 color photograph of Ms. Fitton on the beach at Bora Bora. Those giving $5-$25 will receive a hand-written thank-you note suitable for framing. Those kicking in $1-$5 will receive a dittoed thank you.

All donations should be sent to: Norma Fitton, Psychology and Human Development. Thank you.

Ms. Fitton wishes you all a happy April Fool's Day.

-- The Editors

Your letters are invited, too!

HELLOOO. Is anybody there?

In an effort to elicit any kind of response from the campus community, the Cal Poly Report now invites the faculty and staff to submit letters to the editor on any subject. Just pick a topic and write about it.

Wanna moan and complain about something? Moan and complain to us. Wanna praise someone? Praise us.

We just want to know someone's out there. So come on ... sit down, and tell us what's on your mind. It doesn't have to be mind-boggling, baffling, or even interesting.

If you'd like your comments to appear in the next issue, the special deadline is 1 pm Monday.

TQM teams re-named to suit chatter status

Cal Poly's Total Quality Management effort was given new direction this week to help implement the chatter campus status approved last year by CSU Chancellor Barry Munitz.

The TQM teams will now direct their efforts toward Tonal Quality Management in order to improve the tone of conversation around campus.

As reported in the April 1, 1993, Cal Poly Report, Munitz designated Cal Poly as the first chatter campus in the CSU. The action freed Cal Poly from systemwide rules governing conversation, and the resulting babble prompted President Baker to institute the new TQM program.

Women's club sets April 18 meeting

The Cal Poly Women's Club will elect new officers at its next general meeting, set for noon, Monday, April 18. The program will include "Artists With Pen and Brush," featuring poetry by Glenna Luschei and Toni Wynn and paintings by Gladys Brannum, Florence Dietrich and Imelda Gentile.

For more information, call Gentile at 549-9249.
Salaries, benefits to be changed

The Chancellor’s Office has confirmed compensation and benefit changes for represented (except Unit 4 employees) and non-represented non-management employees. Ratification by Academic Professions of California for Unit 4 - Academic Support is pending and information will be distributed after approval has been received. The changes are as follows:

Merit Salary Adjustments (MSAs)
- MSAs will be processed during the March pay period and paid on April 1, 1994, warrants for eligible Physicians (Unit 1) and eligible Faculty Bargaining Unit (Unit 3) employees.
- MSAs will be processed during the April pay period and paid on May 1, 1994, warrants for eligible represented employees units in CSEA (Units 2, 5, 7, 9), Skilled Crafts (Unit 6), and Public Safety (Unit 8).
- Eligible nonrepresented employees, which include employees in designated “Confidential” positions and confidential classifications (C99) plus excluded classifications (E99), will also receive MSAs on the May 1 warrant.

General Salary Increases (GSIs)
- A 3% GSI will be processed during the April pay period and paid on May 1, 1994, warrants for employees in Units 1, 2, 3, 5, 7, & 9.
- A 3.0515% GSI will be paid on the May 1, 1994 warrant for Unit 6 employees.
- Unit 8 employees will not receive GSIs as their union negotiated a reduction in the required employee retirement contribution to PERS. When more details on this are received, information will be distributed.
- Eligible nonrepresented employees, which include employees in designated “Confidential” positions and confidential classifications (C99) plus excluded classifications (E99), will also receive the 3% GSI in the May 1 warrant.

Additional compensation and benefit changes:

- Unit 1 (Physicians)
  - An 11/12 pay plan will be available beginning April 1994.
  - There will be some salary step changes. When more details on this are received, information will be distributed.

- Units 2, 5, 7 and 9 (CSEA Units)
  - Dental coverage will be enhanced from Delta Basic to Delta Enhanced Level I effective April 1, 1994. The CSU will pay the full premium. This change will be automatic for those currently enrolled. There is no change to the level of PMI dental benefits.

- Unit 3 (Faculty)
  - Eligible faculty members may transfer their unused six units per term fee waiver eligibility to an eligible dependent. Information on the administration of this new component of the fee waiver program will be issued shortly. (The dependent fee waiver program does not apply to employees in the Unit 3-AR bargaining unit.)

- Unit 6 (Skilled Crafts)
  - The current CSU-paid life and AD&D coverage is being discontinued effective May 1, 1994. There will be some salary step changes. When more details on this are received, information will be distributed.

- Unit 8 (Public Safety)
  - Instead of a general salary increase, Unit 8 negotiated a reduction in the required employee retirement contribution to PERS. When more details on this are received, information will be distributed.

Confidential Employees
- Confidential employees currently receiving a confidential stipend of $50 per month will receive $75 per month beginning with the April pay period, reflected on May 1, 1994 warrants. The stipend will be prorated for 10/12 and 11/12 pay plans. The confidential stipend for the Executive Secretary classification will not change.

Questions on the above information can be directed to Human Resources at ext. 2237.

Health Services reaccredited

Cal Poly’s Health Center has been reaccredited for three years by the Accreditation Association for Ambulatory Health Care, indicating a commitment to high-quality care and compliance to the standards of ambulatory health care organizations.

Nominations for 3 scholarships sought

Faculty and staff members are being asked to nominate students for three scholarships to be awarded Spring Quarter by the Status of Women Committee in consultation with the Women’s Studies Program.

The scholarships are intended to honor the scholarships’ namesakes and to recognize students who have demonstrated commitment to the rights of women. The scholarships are:

- The L. Diane Ryan Scholarship: $400 awarded to a student identified by faculty or staff members as having the potential to provide moral leadership to the workforce of the future.

- The James M. Duenow Scholarship: $300 awarded to a liberal arts major considering a career as a feminist attorney.

- The Robert S. Harmon Scholarship: $300 awarded to a journalism major considering a career as an investigative reporter, with preference given to students with experience reporting for the Mustang Daily on corruption, cover-up, or crimes against women.

These scholarships are awarded only to students nominated by Cal Poly faculty and staff members.

Nominations should be sent to the Status of Women Committee in care of the Academic Senate Office by April 18.

Awards deadline

Nominations for 1993-94 Outstanding Staff Employees must be received by April 8. Nominees must be permanent, full-time employees of the university, or regular full-time employees of the foundation or Associated Students Inc. who are in at least their third year of employment at Cal Poly and who have achieved permanent or regular status by Sept. 1, 1994. Send completed nomination forms to: Joseph Risser, Chair, Outstanding Staff Employees Award Selection Committee, Public Safety Services.

Report accidents to VP's office

Faculty and staff members are reminded that a Student/Visitor Accident Report should be filed when a student or visitor is injured on campus, or when a student is injured while participating in an approved off-campus activity.

This includes injuries to students during classroom or laboratory activities, field trips, and all accidents involving visitors on campus.

The completed accident report should be sent to the Vice President for Administration and Finance's office. For more information or to get copies of the report, call Nancy Vilkitis at ext. 2171.

The Student/Visitor Accident Report should not be confused with the State of California Employer's Report of Occupational Injury or Illness (Worker's Compensation) or the Foundation Accident Report, which are completed when student assistants or faculty or staff members are injured on the job.

For a copy of those reports, call State Human Resources at ext. 2231 or Foundation Human Resources, ext. 1121.
