Committee On Coeds Gives Report; But No Administrative Changes Yet

The first part of a report by a joint student-faculty committee concerning proposed changes of college regulations for women was delivered a week ago to Student Affairs Council.

Carrie Hiner, chairman of the committee, made the report.

The report gave the committee's recommendations for women over 21. At the committee's final meeting at 11 a.m. Thursday in the administration building, the report, if accepted by SAC, will be put into formal resolution form and sent to the administration.

The recommendations for women over 21 would allow women to live in dormitories, to work, and to drink alcohol. The recommendations for women under 21 would not be considered until the administration has had time to study the recommendations for women over 21.

The recommendations for women under 21 would allow women to live in dormitories, to work, and to drink alcohol. The recommendations for women under 21 would not be considered until the administration has had time to study the recommendations for women over 21.
Cal Poly's own version of another "hate group" made its debut at Pomona College in the form of a hanging in effigy. The group is called "Why Don't You Quit." The effigy featured a young man dangling from one of its arms. A basketball was positioned on the other arm. The "hate group" was formed in response to the student who suspended the effigy.

Quite a few handkerchiefs of such groups have grown various variations of this effigy. One large poster which proclaimed "SURFING MUSLIM IN THE LOWER 48" was distributed during a protest against the march. Last week, "SURFERS DOLLY" replaced the poster which had been stolen. It is rumored that the same group which has been painting a red tent over the dome is responsible for the destruction of the sign.

At any rate, most students have taken the posters and hanging in effigy with the same spirit that prompted others to put it up. There was no more indignation from some, laughter from others, general amusement and mingled emotions from the rest.

As long as that spirit remains within the same latitude as it has, there will be no harm done. It might even do some good by starting a sad-sounding school spirit. But this activity, during the middle of a bleak winter, looks as though it won't fly out far away.

Mailbag

Mississippi -

Editor

In response to the letter in the Jan. 14 issue of the Mustang, by John L. Davis, Jr., in which he called for an end to the "surfer" movement and an end to the "surfer" culture, I would like to offer my personal view on the matter.

In my opinion, the "surfer" movement is a necessary part of American life. It is a group of people who have dedicated themselves to a lifestyle that is both healthy and enjoyable. We should be proud of our "surfer" culture and support those who are involved in it.

Hadley

Editor

Thank you for your letter. I agree with you that the "surfer" movement is a valuable part of American life. We should all support those who are involved in it.

How Policy Gets Changed

When three clubs made separate requests in October for attending an uncharted off-campus party, there was a general feeling that the administration was completely out of touch. The students took note of the protest, an expressed awareness concerning policy for women, but didn't acquire and reverse the impression.

From this time on, students have been organizing as well as demonstrating as it became necessary and said that the administration didn't give a shit about their problems.

The administration didn't forget the reactions of an angry majority, but a decision was made to submit to student leaders that same day. A student committee was organized, a student policy resolution committee, and the recommendations presented to the administration. The administration had to agree to some generalizations.

Student Affairs

A committee was allowed to review the administration's recommendations, and the recommendable changes were studied. The study was not entire, but students are now aware of the problem.

Student Affairs

The committee didn't forget the reactions of an angry majority, but a decision was made to submit to student leaders that same day. A student committee was organized, a student policy resolution committee, and the recommendations presented to the administration. The administration had to agree to some generalizations.

Student Affairs

The committee didn't forget the reactions of an angry majority, but a decision was made to submit to student leaders that same day. A student committee was organized, a student policy resolution committee, and the recommendations presented to the administration. The administration had to agree to some generalizations.

Student Affairs

The committee didn't forget the reactions of an angry majority, but a decision was made to submit to student leaders that same day. A student committee was organized, a student policy resolution committee, and the recommendations presented to the administration. The administration had to agree to some generalizations.

Student Affairs

The committee didn't forget the reactions of an angry majority, but a decision was made to submit to student leaders that same day. A student committee was organized, a student policy resolution committee, and the recommendations presented to the administration. The administration had to agree to some generalizations.

Student Affairs

The committee didn't forget the reactions of an angry majority, but a decision was made to submit to student leaders that same day. A student committee was organized, a student policy resolution committee, and the recommendations presented to the administration. The administration had to agree to some generalizations.

Student Affairs

The committee didn't forget the reactions of an angry majority, but a decision was made to submit to student leaders that same day. A student committee was organized, a student policy resolution committee, and the recommendations presented to the administration. The administration had to agree to some generalizations.
Okay. Now what?

While you're busy mapping out your future, you may find it worth your while to help sort out one of our problems. Who's going to run the booming Pacific Telephone company a year from now—and for the next 30 years or so?

If the idea interests you—whether your major lies in the physical sciences, literature, engineering, or business—you can be sure of a prompt opportunity to show your stuff.

In fact, your first assignment will be in management.

(We can afford to bank on your managerial potential, because the company's job offers go to all average students.)

As a member of management, you'll have to solve your own problems. And from your first assignment, right out on middle and top management, your pace will be in direct proportion to your performance. While our representative is on campus, have a talk with him. He's interested in anyone who'd like to run Pacific Telephone.
64 Teams Enter Intramural League

The first Intramural Basketball League of the year was held on Thursday night by the Engineering Intramural Club. All teams were in action and there were teams from eight different departments. The league meets every Tuesday and Thursday nights in the H.C. gym. Teams interested in joining the league can contact George K. Z. or Bill H. B., the Intramural Directors.

Poly Five Will Host Fresno St. Friday

By JOHN PROV

This Friday, Jan. 24, in the M.C. gym, Poly will play their first league game against the Fresno State College Basketball team. Fresno is a well-coached team with three players who are seniors. Fresno and Poly are the top two teams in the league, and the game is expected to be a close one.

Good Scores Made in Putting Contest

The annual Cal Poly intramural putting contest was held Saturday night in the H.C. gym. The contest was sponsored by the Women's Physical Education Department, and over 250 women participated. The first place winner was Cindy Johnson, who scored 96 strokes. The second place winner was Mary Smith, with 98 strokes, and the third place winner was Janice Davis, with 100 strokes.

Jorgensen's Roundballers Look For First League Win

The Mustangs are currently ranked third in the league and are looking for their first win against Fresno. Fresno is currently ranked second and is expected to be a tough opponent. The game is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. and is open to the public.

Other Intramural News

The Women's intramural volleyball team is currently ranked third in the league and is expected to make a strong showing in the tournament. The Men's intramural basketball team is currently ranked fourth in the league and is looking to improve their record.

Poly Students Satisfied Since Turn of the Century

Dr. Ewbank, a highly respected pedagogue and a lifelong member of the Poly community, recently gave a talk on the Poly students' satisfaction with the university. He stated that the students have been satisfied since the turn of the century, and that the university has made significant improvements in the past century.

ATM FOREIGN STUDENTS

Poly students interested in studying abroad can contact the International Affairs Office for more information.

The Mustangs will face Fresno State College this Friday night and are looking to improve their record in the league. The game is expected to be a close one, and the students are excited to see their team perform.

Job Openings

ATTN: FOREIGN STUDENTS

Foreign students interested in working on campus can contact the International Affairs Office for more information.